U.S. Seizes Initiative In U.N. Assembly

Marshall Asks Veto Curb, New Security Group

Soviet Delegation Is Caught Off-Base

NEW YORK, Sept. 17 (AP)—Secretary of State Marshall, making a slashing attack on Russia, seized the initiative today in the United Nations Assembly with a bold new plan to rebuild the deadlocked United Nations peace machinery.

To the obvious surprise and confusion of the entire Russian delegation, Marshall proposed a curb on the big power veto and creation of a "Little Assembly" commission to maintain everlasting vigilance over world peace.

Russia lost little time, however, in banging back at Marshall on the Greek question. Marshall asked the Assembly to send a commission to Greece to investigate the Balkan situation. Russia then demanded in a hot afternoon meeting of the Steering Committee that the Assembly refuse to discuss the whole Greek case.

Russia contended that leaving the Greek case before the delegates might lead to "further aggravation" in the Balkans.

The committee voted 12 to 2, with Russia and Poland dissenting to recommend that the Assembly consider the Greek question. Cuba and Britain spoke in support of the United States' demand that the case be heard.

The second Marshall plan—for the world—hit the Assembly with tremendous impact.

It was the first crack in the firm stand of the five great powers — Russia, the United States, China, France and Britain—against repeated outcries of the small and medium nations for revision of the United Nations Charter.

Molotov May Change Plans

Andrei Y. Vishinsky, Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister and chief Russian delegate in the absence of Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov, was obviously caught off-base by the tough pronouncement from Marshall. Vishinsky had a copy of the Marshall text before the speech was delivered—and just before the Assembly began word got around that Vishinsky had cancelled his policy statement set for this afternoon.

Speculation arose immediately among the delegates as to whether the blistering Marshall speech would cause Molotov to change his plans and fly immediately to the Assembly to answer in person.

Before the United States-Russian tangle in the Steering Committee on the Greek question—another airing of what is getting to be an old but persistently serious story in the United Nations—the Steering Committee decided unanimously to recommend to the Assembly the creation of a temporary special committee of 55 nations to deal only with the Palestine case.

Forrestal Is Sworn In As Defense Secretary

Directed To Take Oath By President

WASHINGTON, Sept. 17 (AP) — James V. Forrestal took the oath today as the nation's first Secretary of Defense without awaiting President Truman's return to Washington—and Mr. Truman explained that he had directed Forrestal to do so because of the international situation.

The President, en route home from South America on the battleship Missouri, did not elaborate on this remark but aides quickly explained that he did not have anything particular in mind, just the general international situation.

By taking the oath, Forrestal assumed direction of the Army, Navy and a separate Air Force, as provided in a law passed at the last session of Congress.

Might Help Marshall's Hand

Whether the decision to take the oath now is intended to strengthen the hand of Secretary of State Marshall in the United Nations Assembly was not stated. Marshall, in a speech studded with criticism of Russia, today urged the United Nations to make a "supreme effort" to solve the world's "deepening political and economic crisis" and save Greece from the "attacks" of its Balkan Communist neighbors.

It had been expected that Forrestal would be sworn in after Mr. Truman's return Saturday from the Inter-American Defense Conference at Rio de Janeiro.

Some of the presidential aides aboard the Missouri said they thought it would be a good psychological effect to get the new unified armed forces system functioning at once rather than to delay.

Fred M. Vinson, Chief Justice of the United States, administered the oath to Forrestal in a ceremony at the Navy Department. Afterwards Forrestal held a meeting with high Army and Navy officers and civilian officials, including Clark Clifford, the President's counsel.

Unification Takes Effect

The armed forces unification formally takes effect at midnight tonight because the new law provided that it should go into operation the day after the Secretary of Defense was sworn in.

Among most striking provisions of the law is creation of an independent Air Force, equal to the Army and Navy. Each will have its chief, but Forrestal will represent all three in the Cabinet.

W. Stuart Symington, Assistant Secretary of War will be sworn in tomorrow as the nation's first Secretary of the Air Force and John L. Sullivan, Undersecretary of the Navy, will become Secretary of the Navy succeeding Forrestal.

Yugoslavia Will Protest Trieste "Looting" By GIs

Americans Charged With "Brutal Acts"

LONDON, Sept. 17 (INS)—Yugoslavia tonight accused American troops of widespread "looting and brutality" in the Trieste area and said she is protesting to Washington and demanding compensation.

The Belgrade broadcast said the alleged acts were committed in the Istrian and Gorizia sectors formerly manned by American troops and taken over by the Yugoslavs this week under the peace treaty.

It quoted a Yugoslav Foreign Office representative as declaring in a news conference at Abassia on the Istrian Peninsula below Trieste, that United States troops "looted everything from places which should have remained intact under the peace treaty terms."

The Americans also were charged with committing "numerous brutal acts against the population" last Monday night, and of having looted and demolished a hospital at Sesana, 10 miles northeast of Trieste.

The Belgrade radio said the Yugoslav Foreign Office ordered its Washington representative to lodge "the strongest protest."

Istria is the peninsula below Trieste and Gorizia is the town northwest of Trieste. Under the peace treaty Yugoslavia obtained most of the peninsula and a part of Gorizia.

Clash Is Averted

TRIESTE, Sept. 17 (AP) — Italians and Yugoslavs pointed tanks at each other at one contested point on the new frontier at Gorizia today but a possible clash was averted when it was agreed to refer the matter to a joint Italo-Yugoslav commission.

A spokesman for the United Nations Boundary Commission declared Yugoslavs had asked for changes in their favor of from 20 to 300 yards at every outpost except one on the boundary between the Free Territory of Trieste and Yugoslavia guarded by British-American troops.

Soviet Answer To Marshall's Blast Awaited

Vishinsky May Give USSR Reply Today

NEW YORK, Sept. 17—(AP)—Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei Y. Vishinsky said today he would soon answer Secretary of State Marshall's slashing attack on Russia in the United Nations Assembly.

He apparently is waiting for direct instructions from Generalissimo Stalin.

Informed observers believed the Kremlin line would produce charges that the United States was violating the United Nations Charter with an attempt to usurp the powers of the veto-bound Security Council.

These sources expected Vishinsky to hurl back at Marshall a sweeping accusation that the Washington government was trying to create "a second Security Council" without the veto and thus force Russia to accept majority decisions without recourse.

The Rusians were said to feel that Marshall was putting forth the "Baby Assembly" plan as a test and should that fail the United States then would be prepared to pump full force for strict limits on the veto.

After Marshall's speech Vishinsky told newsmen merely: "I hope to give my comment in my future speech, tomorrow or after tomorrow."

The answer of course will come directly from the Kremlin and the bustling in the Soviet delegation here after the speech make it highly probably that Stalin and Foreign Minister Molotov were scanning the Marshall texts a few hours after delivery.

Dmitri Z. Manuilsky, Foreign Minister of the Soviet Ukraine, who usually has sharp comment to deal out to reporters, said "I must study this very intently." He wouldn't agree with one of his aides that Marshall was a good speaker, saying: "That's just his (the aide's) opinion."

Andrei A. Gromyko, the man who has invoked 19 of the 20 Soviet vetoes in the Security Council, said tersely: "No comment."

Moscow Radio Aroused

LONDON, Sept. 17—(INS)— The first Moscow comment on Secretary of State Marshall's speech calling for revision of the veto power interpreted it as a "declaration of war against the United Nations."

A Moscow radio commentator said of the Secretary's speech to the United Nations General Assembly: "The trend towards undermining and eventual abolition of the principles of four-power unanimity, commonly called the right of veto, which is felt so strongly in American and certain other circles aims at the very foundations of the United Nations Charter. . .

"Encuoraged by this trend some nations openly have declared they will not stand by the Security Council's decisions applying to themselves.

"In some circles Marshall's speech is described as a declaration of war against the United Nations as it is today."

Even before Marshall spoke the Soviet official news agency Tass charged that United States policy leads to "unconditional subjugation of the United Nations to the White House or outright liquidation of the organization."

The blunt attack on the United States aims in the world organization was contained in a Tass dispatch from New York to newspapers and radio stations in the Soviet Union.

Long-Range Farm Program Sought

WASHINGTON, Sept. 17—(AP)—Seven senators set out today to find a "long-range farm program" that will "get crops on consumers' tables without having price increases of 300 or 400 per cent."

This is one of the goals fixed by Chairman Aiken (R-Vt) for a special Agriculture Committee investigation ordered by the Senate and financed with a $15,000 fund.

Amid world-wide food shortages and soaring domestic living costs Aiken said the Senate group must plan ahead for expected surplus production "when the world gets back on its feet."

"We want adequate production without penalizing the producers," he said. "In the past a farm surplus brought a collapse in the market and left the farmer holding the bag."

Aiken announced that the group will begin its study with public hearings here October 6, 7, and 8 at which Secretary of Agriculture Anderson and spokesmen for major farm organizations will testify.

"Then we will move out into the field to hear people who can't get to Washington to testify," he said. "We want to get as near to actual farm people as possible."

Another committee member pointed out that a number of government programs aiding the farmer, such as price support legislation, expire at the end of next year.

Girl For Earles

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 17—(AP)—Mrs. Jacqueline Sacre Earle, second wife of George H. Earle, former governor of Pennsylvania, became the mother of a seven-pound, 10-ounce girl at Bryn Mawr Hospital.

AUTO-TRUCK CRASH—Barbara Buckley, 18, is lifted from the wreckage of an auto driven by Leland O. Hanson, Jr. (body on ground), just after Hanson was killed and Miss Buckley fatally injured in a head-on collision of auto and truck at Sacramento, Calif. Chief Deputy District Attorney A. H. Mundt said Jack Rugaard, 22, driver of the truck, told him that he (Rugaard) and Hanson were playing a game which consisted of swinging from lane to lane as they came toward each other. The truck was laden with tomatoes.

American Troops Save Thousands Of Japs In Flood

Casualty Estimates Surpass 3,000 Mark

TOKYO, Thursday, Sept. 18 (AP)—United States troops in assault boats were rescuing thousands of Japanese from the flooded Kanto Plain east of Tokyo today as landslides to the north reportedly pushed casualty estimates in the typhoon disaster past the 3,000 mark.

Flood waters from the north, bearing bodies of victims on their crests, burst through levees and bore down on Tokyo's suburbs and the plain to the east, where refugees were trapped on housetops and dikes.

The First Cavalry Division sent the First and Second Brigades and the First Division Artillery to locate stranded families and villagers while the Eighth Engineer Squadron and the 302nd Reconnaissance Troop (armored) left for two big gaps in the shattered levees.

Landslides Take Heavy Toll

The newspaper Yomiuri reported, meanwhile, that landslides from Mount Akeegi, in Gumma prefecture north of Tokyo, all but buried a town and two villages, killing 182 and injuring 185.

Hardest hit was the town of Tako, where 82 perished and 113 were injured, Yomiuri said.

Kyodo News Agency said its casualty total, including the latest report of the landslide deaths, was 2,949—774 dead, 158 injured and 2,017 missing. Two of the dead were United States soldiers.

Damage from floods that followed the typhoon also was reported in five additional prefectures, bringing to 20 the number of prefectures on Honshu which were struck by the storm.

The Tone River, which was bursting out on the Kanto Plain, also was threatening Tokyo's eastern suburbs, but no further casualties were expected there.

173,820 Houses Inundated

Kyodo said 173,820 houses were inundated and 500,000 acres of rice and other farm lands were flooded.

Food stocks were reported ample in most areas, although 10,000 persons were reported already on relief. However, Japan's already short food supply was seriously menaced with thousands of acres of crops washed out and many thousands of acres of ripening rice expected to be a total loss unless waters receded quickly.

The threatened Tokyo suburban area largely is a factory district, interspersed with small farms. Extensive inundation would damage badly needed industry.

United States Will Cut Grain Exports

Presidential Action In Price Issue Urged

WASHINGTON, Sept. 17—(AP)—Obviously concerned over rising food prices at home, the government today slashed the amount of grain destined for shipment abroad during November.

The amount of grain allocated for shipment in that month was cut 35 per cent below the October allocation and 43 per cent below the monthly average for the July-October period.

This action, it was indicated, was taken to give officials time to review domestic supply prospects and to determine future export policies.

Meantime President Truman, homeward bound from South America, was called upon by two prominent Republicans to lead the nation in voluntary action to combat high living costs.

Harold E. Stassen, candidate for the 1948 GOP presidential nomination, said in a speech in New York that "a nationwide, co-ordinated voluntary food conservation program" is needed at once for which only the President and the government can provide the leadership.

Bridges Calls For Action

Sen. Bridges (R-NH), in an address at Franconia, N. H., urged Mr. Truman to call together leaders of every phase of the economy for a "frank discussion" to find an approach to the problem and forestall any demand for government controls.

Commenting on Bridges' demand, Sen. O'Mahoney (D-Wyo) told reporters that Bridges "apparently is unaware that there is a joint Congressional Committee on Economics headed by Sen. Taft which has the specific authority of law to deal with this problem x x x Evidently Sen. Bridges is passing the buck."

The grain export slash, announced by the Agriculture Department, came at a time when grain prices are soaring and when wide-spread complaints are being made by consumers against advancing meat and other food prices.

It also came ahead of a conference scheduled Monday by the Cabinet Food Committee—composed of Secretary of State Marshall, Secretary of Agriculture Anderson and Secretary of Commerce Harriman—to review the food outlook and this country's ability to share with the hungry abroad.

HIT-AND-RUN HORSE IS CAPTURED IN L.A.

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 17—(AP) —First case of a hit-and-run horse in this overcrowded community of motor vehicles was reported to police today.

Cabbie Burl Grey said that while he was stopped at an intersection for a traffic signal, he felt two severe jolts and, upon investigating, found a big bay mare standing at the rear of the vehicle, kicking in the back end.

The horse fled, but was captured shortly afterward.

Gen. Reckord Hits Guard Fund Slash

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 17—(AP)—Sidetracking—upon the recommendation of the War Department—of the major portion of a $60,000,000 appropriation for the National Guard seriously retarded the post-war realignment of that branch of the armed services, an official of the National Guard Association told the group's 69th general conference today.

The speaker was Maj. Gen. Milton A. Reckord, of Maryland, chairman of the association's Committee on Legislation.

The Budget Bureau, Gen. Reckord said, recommended $110,000,000 for the National Guard for the 1948 fiscal year, matching the amount earmarked during 1947.

"However," said Gen. Reckord, "you will recall that the orderly progress of the National Guard was interrupted in the middle of the year when the War Department took from us $60,000,000 on the erroneous theory that we could not efficiently spend the money by June 30."

Practically every state was affected by the fund slash, Gen. Reckord said, adding:

"Readjustments had to be made within the bureau, all because of the fact that certain War Department officials gave to the Secretary of War incorrect information on our ability to efficiently use the moneys that had been appropriated. x x x The army had a deficit and our money was taken, $60,000,000 of it, to help plug that hole."

One Will Hang And Two Get Prison In Rape Case

TOWSON, Md., Sept. 17 (AP) — James B. LaGuardia, 26, Youngstown, O., was sentenced to be hanged today for the rape of a Baltimore woman and two Atlanta, Ga., youths were sentenced to life imprisonment and 21 years.

Delmar Foster, 19, drew the life term, and Gilmer McArthur, 15, was sentenced to 21 years after the jury recommended mercy.

They were convicted last week by the first mixed jury ever to sit on a capital case in Maryland. Women began serving on juries in Baltimore and 11 Maryland counties this month.

The 27-year-old victim testified a car drew up alongside her as she was walking along a Northeast Baltimore street June 3, two men jumped out and forced her into the car, and a third occupant joined them in raping her after they had driven to a lonely spot on the outskirts.

The defendants denied they had ever seen the woman before she identified them in a police lineup.

Citrus Groves, Truck Farms Take Beating

Casualties Are Few; "Looter" Is Killed

MIAMI, Sept. 17—(AP)—Florida millionaires and farmers alike with their holdings were left badly buffeted and shaken today by a vicious week-old hurricane that lashed 150 miles across the lower peninsula and into the Gulf of Mexico.

The howling storm struck the rich east coast resort area between Miami and Palm Beach about noon yesterday. It raced through the productive citrus and vegetable growing interior to the west coast with winds up to 120 miles an hour.

It left at least two deaths and millions of dollars in property damage. Devastation, however, apparently was less than had been feared.

Communications generally were shattered by the great winds and full reports of its effect were lacking.

One man was shot to death in Miami and six others were arrested in what police termed "widespread looting" of storm-battered stores.

At 7:30 p. m. (E.S.T.)—eight hours after it slammed inland from the Atlantic Ocean — the hurricane howled over Fort Myers and out into the Gulf of Mexico. State police reports from Wauchula, 80 miles to the north, said 100-mile winds whipped Fort Myers and were continuing at 8:30 p. m.

Two vessels were believed in distress off the Florida Gulf Coast. Seven crewmen of the 40-foot schooner Pilar were bailing by hand after all pumps and engines failed, and the little vessel was shipping water in heavy seas. An unidentified vessel was rushing to her aid.

Course Of Storm Uncertain

A 106-ton banana boat, Rita, was limping toward Cuba on one engine, but radioed she hoped to be clear of the storm's violent center.

The course of the storm, after emerging in the Gulf, was uncertain.

Citrus growers in Southern Florida estimated their probable loss in millions of dollars, but said it was likely that the greater portion of the $100,000,000 crop would be spared.

Tomatoes and other truck crops in the mucklands region around Lake Okeechobee were badly beaten by terrific winds and scythe-like rain. There was optimism, however, when Army engineers announced that the costly dike-system was proving its worth, and would hold despite tremendous pressure and 95-mile winds.

Earlier, more than 10,000 persons evacuated the Okeechobee region by car and by train, seeking higher ground near Sebring. Two refugee trains, their box cars and baggage cars jammed with men, women and children, reached their destination after severe buffeting. Occupants told of mud being whipped from the swamps and driven into their faces by the gale.

Hundreds of thousands sought refuge in hotels and public shelters throughout the storm area.

Two out of three radio towers owned by stations WGBE of Miami, and located at Fort Lauderdale, were sent crashing to the ground

New Labor Law May Be Issue In URW Election

BOSTON, Sept. 17 (AP)—The CIO United Rubber Workers prepared tonight for their annual election, which observers said may develop contests over candidates' stands on the Taft-Hartley law.

The 220,000-member union has not yet reached a declaration of policy on the law, reported to have divided delegates between outright denouncing or a compromise use of the statute's bargaining machinery.

Some delegates reported that their choice of officers on Thursday will be influenced by whether a candidate holds to the general executive board's announced intension of ignoring the new National Labor Relations Board or this week's suggestion by President L. S. Buckmaster to take test cases before the new board.

AFL Electric Union Files Labor Law "Test Case"

WASHINGTON, Sept. 17 (AP) — The AFL Brotherhood of Electrical Workers disclosed today it had filed with the National Labor Relations Board a formal "test case" on the non-Communist affidavit issue.

The case, brought to the NLRB on appeal from an NLRB regional director's ruling, is the first known formal proceedings to reach the board challenging the ruling of the board's general counsel, Robert N. Denham.

Denham ruled that unless all top national officers of the AFL and the CIO sign affidavits saying they are not Communists, unions affiliated with these organizations will be ineligible to take grievances or union representation cases before the NLRB.

Unions in both the AFL and CIO have protested the ruling. They contend they can take advantage of NLRB's facilities if their own union officers sign the non-Communists affidavits.

Use Of Penicillin To Help Combat Death From Blood Clots Forecast

NEW YORK, Sept. 17 (AP)—A new use for penicillin as a partner drug to help prevent deaths when blood clots block the arteries was forecast today by Dr. David I. Macht, pharmacologist of Mt. Sinai Hospital, Baltimore.

Penicillin by itself is useless against blood clots, one of the great killers of humans, and even would make them worse since it tends to make blood clot faster, he told the American Chemical Society.

Its new value, as shown in animal tests, is in partnership with dicoumarol, a powerful drug that dissolves the clots, Macht said. But dicoumarol is so effective that it may go further and produce internal hemorrhages, he added.

The animal tests showed that suitable amounts of penicillin can counteract this tendency to hemorrhage from dicoumarol, he reported.

Macht said "there is every reason to believe that these results obtained in the laboratory on lower animals will be confirmed and found to hold good in clinical patients."

The same partnership of the two drugs also can make penicillin safer to use against other diseases, he continued. Since penicillin speeds up the clotting or coagulation of blood, there is more danger that the person may develop clots in the arteries, he said. Careful use of dicoumarol can eliminate this risk, he declared.

The discovery makes possible "a new procedure for minimizing the dangers and controlling the occurrence of coronary thrombosis," Macht said.

Plane Crash Blamed On Locked Controls

WASHINGTON, Sept. 17 (INS) — The Civil Aeronautics Board reported today that a United Airlines crash last May 29 at New York's LaGuardia Field, which killed 43, occurred because the pilot tried to take off with the plane's controls locked.

The board explained that the tragedy came about because the "gust lock" on the DC-4 Mainliner had not been unlocked before the takeoff.

There were 48 occupants of the Cleveland-bound plane. Forty-three were killed, four were injured seriously and the pilot, Capt. Benton Baldwin, escaped with minor injuries.

AFL Union Officials Are Advised To Sign Non-Communist Affidavits

CHICAGO Sept. 17 (AP)—An AFL attorney today advised the 500 union officials he represents to sign non-Communist affidavits as requested by the Taft-Hartley law despite recent failure of the AFL Executive Council, by dissent of John L. Lewis, to do so.

Daniel D. Carmell said he had interpreted the rights of AFL local and international officials in the light of the council's action at the request of William L. McFetridge, president of the AFL Building Service Employes International.

Carmell represents McFetridge's union, eight other AFL internationals, 295 Chicago area local AFL unions, the Chicago Federation of Labor and the Illinois State Federation of Labor.

"We cannot be deprived of the services of the NLRB," Carmell said, "because the AFL council, over which neither a local or international union has control, declines to sign.

"Only AFL international unions have control over local unions under their jurisdiction. The AFL council has extremely limited powers."

Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers, last Friday singlehandedly blocked council compliance with the non-Communist provision. Since the council, comprising 15 officers of the AFL, had to act unanimously in order to comply with the ruling of General Counsel Robert N. Denham, of the NLRB. Lewis' opposition was enough to stymie council compliance for the time being. At one time, all the other members of the council were prepared to sign the affidavits, council members said.

Forrestal Is Sworn In As Defense Secretary

Directed To Take Oath By President

WASHINGTON, Sept. 17 (AP) — James V. Forrestal took the oath today as the nation's first Secretary of Defense without awaiting President Truman's return to Washington—and Mr. Truman explained that he had directed Forrestal to do so because of the international situation

The President, en route home from South America on the battleship Missouri, did not elaborate on this remark but aides quickly explained that he did not have anything particular in mind, just the general international situation.

Whether the decision to take the oath now is intended to strengthen the hand of Secretary of State Marshall in the United Nations Assembly was not stated. Marshall, in a speech studded with criticism of Russia, today urged the United Nations to make a "supreme effort" to solve the world's "deepening political and economic crisis" and save Greece from the "attacks" of its Balkan Communist neighbors.

It had been expected that Forrestal would be sworn in after Mr. Truman's return Saturday from the Inter-American Defense Conference at Rio de Janeiro.

Yugoslavia Will Protest Trieste "Looting" By GIs

Americans Charged With "Brutal Acts"

LONDON, Sept. 17 (INS)—Yugoslavia tonight accused American troops of widespread "looting and brutality" in the Trieste area and said she is protesting to Washington and demanding compensation.

The Belgrade broadcast said the alleged acts were committed in the Istrian and Gorizia sectors formerly manned by American troops and taken over by the Yugoslavs this week under the peace treaty.

It quoted a Yugoslav Foreign Office representative as declaring in a news conference at Abassia on the Istrian Peninsula below Trieste, that United States troops "looted everything from places which should have remained intact under the peace treaty terms."

The Americans also were charged with committing "numerous brutal acts against the population" last Monday night, and of having looted and demolished a hospital at Sesana, 10 miles northeast of Trieste.

The Belgrade radio said the Yugoslav Foreign Office ordered its Washington representative to lodge "the strongest protest."

Istria is the peninsula below Trieste and Gorizia is the town northwest of Trieste. Under the peace treaty Yugoslavia obtained most of the peninsula and a part of Gorizia.

Clash Is Averted

TRIESTE, Sept. 17 (AP) — Italians and Yugoslavs pointed tanks at each other at one contested point on the new frontier at Gorizia today but a possible clash was averted when it was agreed to refer the matter to a joint Italo-Yugoslav commission.

A spokesman for the United Nations Boundary Commission declared Yugoslavs had asked for changes in their favor of from 20 to 300 yards at every outpost except one on the boundary between the Free Territory of Trieste and Yugoslavia guarded by British-American troops.

Long-Range Farm Program Sought

WASHINGTON, Sept. 17—(AP)—Seven senators set out today to find a "long-range farm program" that will "get crops on consumers' tables without having price increases of 300 or 400 per cent."

This is one of the goals fixed by Chairman Aiken (R-Vt) for a special Agriculture Committee investigation ordered by the Senate and financed with a $15,000 fund.

Amid world-wide food shortages and soaring domestic living costs Aiken said the Senate group must plan ahead for expected surplus production "when the world gets back on its feet."

"We want adequate production without penalizing the producers," he said. "In the past a farm surplus brought a collapse in the market and left the farmer holding the bag."

Aiken announced that the group will begin its study with public hearings here October 6, 7, and 8 at which Secretary of Agriculture Anderson and spokesmen for major farm organizations will testify.

"Then we will move out into the field to hear people who can't get to Washington to testify," he said. "We want to get as near to actual farm people as possible."

Another committee member pointed out that a number of government programs aiding the farmer, such as price support legislation, expire at the end of next year.

Plane Crash Blamed On Locked Controls

WASHINGTON, Sept. 17 (INS) — The Civil Aeronautics Board reported today that a United Airlines crash last May 29 at New York's LaGuardia Field, which killed 43, occurred because the pilot tried to take off with the plane's controls locked.

The board explained that the tragedy came about because the "gust lock" on the DC-4 Mainliner had not been unlocked before the takeoff.

There were 48 occupants of the Cleveland-bound plane. Forty-three were killed, four were injured seriously and the pilot, Capt. Benton Baldwin, escaped with minor injuries.

Use Of Penicillin To Help Combat Death From Blood Clots Forecast

NEW YORK, Sept. 17 (AP)—A new use for penicillin as a partner drug to help prevent deaths when blood clots block the arteries was forecast today by Dr. David I. Macht, pharmacologist of Mt. Sinai Hospital, Baltimore.

Penicillin by itself is useless against blood clots, one of the great killers of humans, and even would make them worse since it tends to make blood clot faster, he told the American Chemical Society.

Its new value, as shown in animal tests, is in partnership with dicoumarol, a powerful drug that dissolves the clots, Macht said. But dicoumarol is so effective that it may go further and produce internal hemorrhages, he added.

The animal tests showed that suitable amounts of penicillin can counteract this tendency to hemorrhage from dicoumarol, he reported.

Macht said "there is every reason to believe that these results obtained in the laboratory on lower animals will be confirmed and found to hold good in clinical patients."

The same partnership of the two drugs also can make penicillin safer to use against other diseases, he continued. Since penicillin speeds up the clotting or coagulation of blood, there is more danger that the person may develop clots in the arteries, he said. Careful use of dicoumarol can eliminate this risk, he declared.

The discovery makes possible "a new procedure for minimizing the dangers and controlling the occurrence of coronary thrombosis," Macht said.

Soviet Answer To Marshall's Blast Awaited

Vishinsky May Give USSR Reply Today

NEW YORK, Sept. 17—(AP)—Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei Y. Vishinsky said today he would soon answer Secretary of State Marshall's slashing attack on Russia in the United Nations Assembly.

He apparently is waiting for direct instructions from Generalissimo Stalin.

Informed observers believed the Kremlin line would produce charges that the United States was violating the United Nations Charter with an attempt to usurp the powers of the veto-bound Security Council.

These sources expected Vishinsky to hurl back at Marshall a sweeping accusation that the Washington government was trying to create "a second Security Council" without the veto and thus force Russia to accept majority decisions without recourse.

The Russians were said to feel that Marshall was putting forth the "Baby Assembly" plan as a test and should that fail the United States then would be prepared to pump full force for strict limits on the veto.

After Marshall's speech Vishinsky told newsmen merely: "I hope to give my comment in my future speech, tomorrow or after tomorrow."

The answer of course will come directly from the Kremlin and the bustling in the Soviet delegation here after the speech make it highly probably that Stalin and Foreign Minister Molotov were scanning the Marshall texts a few hours after delivery.

Dmitri Z. Manuilsky, Foreign Minister of the Soviet Ukraine, who usually has sharp comment to deal out to reporters, said "I must study this very intently." He wouldn't agree with one of his aides that Marshall was a good speaker, saying: "That's just his (the aide's) opinion."

Andrei A. Gromyko, the man who has invoked 19 of the 20 Soviet vetoes in the Security Council, said tersely: "No comment."

Moscow Radio Aroused

LONDON, Sept. 17—(INS)— The first Moscow comment on Secretary of State Marshall's speech calling for revision of the veto power interpreted it as a "declaration of war against the United Nations."

A Moscow radio commentator said of the Secretary's speech to the United Nations General Assembly: "The trend towards undermining and eventual abolition of the principles of four-power unanimity, commonly called the right of veto, which is felt so strongly in American and certain other circles aims at the very foundations of the United Nations Charter. . .

"Encuoraged by this trend some nations openly have declared they will not stand by the Security Council's decisions applying to themselves.

"In some circles Marshall's speech is described as a declaration of war against the United Nations as it is today."

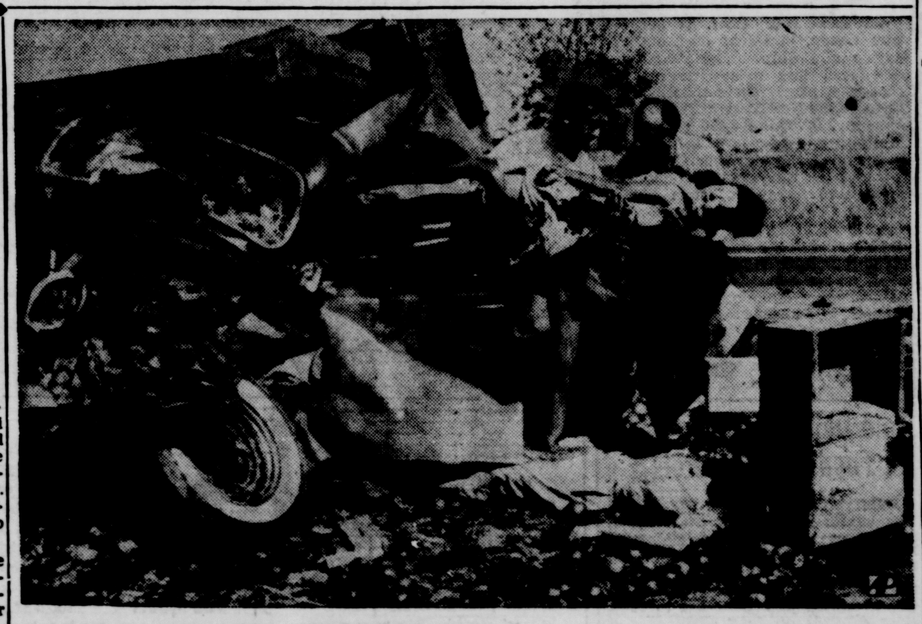

Even before Marshall spoke the Soviet official news agency Tass charged that United States policy leads to "unconditional subjugation of the United Nations to the White House or outright liquidation of the organization."

The blunt attack on the United States aims in the world organization was contained in a Tass dispatch from New York to newspapers and radio stations in the Soviet Union.

Hanson, Jr. (body on ground), just after Hanson was killed and Miss Buckley fatally injured in a head-on collision of auto and truck at Sacramento, Calif. Chief Deputy District Attorney A. H. Mundt said Jack Rugaard, 22, driver of the truck, told him that he (Rugaard) and Hanson were playing a game which consisted of swinging from lane to lane as they came toward each other. The truck was laden with tomatoes.

American Troops Save Thousands Of Japs In Flood

Casualty Estimates Surpass 3,000 Mark

TOKYO, Thursday, Sept. 18 (AP)—United States troops in assault boats were rescuing thousands of Japanese from the flooded Kanto Plain east of Tokyo today as landslides to the north reportedly pushed casualty estimates in the typhoon disaster past the 3,000 mark.

Flood waters from the north, bearing bodies of victims on their crests, burst through levees and bore down on Tokyo's suburbs and the plain to the east, where refugees were trapped on housetops and dikes.

The First Cavalry Division sent the First and Second Brigades and the First Division Artillery to locate stranded families and villagers while the Eighth Engineer Squadron and the 302nd Reconnaissance Troop (armored) left for two big gaps in the shattered levees.

Landslides Take Heavy Toll

The newspaper Yomiuri reported, meanwhile, that landslides from Mount Akeegi, in Gumma prefecture north of Tokyo, all but buried a town and two villages, killing 182 and injuring 185.

Hardest hit was the town of Tako, where 82 perished and 113 were injured, Yomiuri said.

Kyodo News Agency said its casualty total, including the latest report of the landslide deaths, was 2,949—774 dead, 158 injured and 2,017 missing. Two of the dead were United States soldiers.

Damage from floods that followed the typhoon also was reported in five additional prefectures, bringing to 20 the number of prefectures on Honshu which were struck by the storm.

The Tone River, which was bursting out on the Kanto Plain, also was threatening Tokyo's eastern suburbs, but no further casualties were expected there.

173,820 Houses Inundated

Kyodo said 173,820 houses were inundated and 500,000 acres of rice and other farm lands were flooded.

Food stocks were reported ample in most areas, although 10,000 persons were reported already on relief. However, Japan's already short food supply was seriously menaced with thousands of acres of crops washed out and many thousands of acres of ripening rice expected to be a total loss unless waters receded quickly.

The threatened Tokyo suburban area largely is a factory district, interspersed with small farms. Extensive inundation would damage badly needed industry.

United States Will Cut Grain Exports

Presidential Action In Price Issue Urged

WASHINGTON, Sept. 17—(AP)—Obviously concerned over rising food prices at home, the government today slashed the amount of grain destined for shipment abroad during November.

The amount of grain allocated for shipment in that month was cut 35 per cent below the October allocation and 43 per cent below the monthly average for the July-October period.

This action, it was indicated, was taken to give officials time to review domestic supply prospects and to determine future export policies.

Meantime President Truman, homeward bound from South America, was called upon by two prominent Republicans to lead the nation in voluntary action to combat high living costs.

Harold E. Stassen, candidate for the 1948 GOP presidential nomination, said in a speech in New York that "a nationwide, co-ordinated voluntary food conservation program" is needed at once for which only the President and the government can provide the leadership.

Bridges Calls For Action

Sen. Bridges (R-NH), in an address at Franconia, N. H., urged Mr. Truman to call together leaders of every phase of the economy for a "frank discussion" to find an approach to the problem and forestall any demand for government controls.

Commenting on Bridges' demand, Sen. O'Mahoney (D-Wyo) told reporters that Bridges "apparently is unaware that there is a joint Congressional Committee on Economics headed by Sen. Taft which has the specific authority of law to deal with this problem x x x Evidently Sen. Bridges is passing the buck."

The grain export slash, announced by the Agriculture Department, came at a time when grain prices are soaring and when wide-spread complaints are being made by consumers against advancing meat and other food prices.

It also came ahead of a conference scheduled Monday by the Cabinet Food Committee—composed of Secretary of State Marshall, Secretary of Agriculture Anderson and Secretary of Commerce Harriman—to review the food outlook and this country's ability to share with the hungry abroad.

HIT-AND-RUN HORSE IS CAPTURED IN L.A.

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 17—(AP) —First case of a hit-and-run horse in this overcrowded community of motor vehicles was reported to police today.

Cabbie Burl Grey said that while he was stopped at an intersection for a traffic signal, he felt two severe jolts and, upon investigating, found a big bay mare standing at the rear of the vehicle, kicking in the back end.

The horse fled, but was captured shortly afterward.

Gen. Reckord Hits Guard Fund Slash

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 17—(AP)—Sidetracking—upon the recommendation of the War Department—of the major portion of a $60,000,000 appropriation for the National Guard seriously retarded the post-war realignment of that branch of the armed services, an official of the National Guard Association told the group's 69th general conference today.

The speaker was Maj. Gen. Milton A. Reckord, of Maryland, chairman of the association's Committee on Legislation.

The Budget Bureau, Gen. Reckord said, recommended $110,000,000 for the National Guard for the 1948 fiscal year, matching the amount earmarked during 1947.

"However," said Gen. Reckord, "you will recall that the orderly progress of the National Guard was interrupted in the middle of the year when the War Department took from us $60,000,000 on the erroneous theory that we could not efficiently spend the money by June 30."

Practically every state was affected by the fund slash, Gen. Reckord said, adding:

"Readjustments had to be made within the bureau, all because of the fact that certain War Department officials gave to the Secretary of War incorrect information on our ability to efficiently use the moneys that had been appropriated. x x x The army had a deficit and our money was taken, $60,000,000 of it, to help plug that hole."

One Will Hang And Two Get Prison In Rape Case

TOWSON, Md., Sept. 17 (AP) — James B. LaGuardia, 26, Youngstown, O., was sentenced to be hanged today for the rape of a Baltimore woman and two Atlanta, Ga., youths were sentenced to life imprisonment and 21 years.

Delmar Foster, 19, drew the life term, and Gilmer McArthur, 15, was sentenced to 21 years after the jury recommended mercy.

They were convicted last week by the first mixed jury ever to sit on a capital case in Maryland. Women began serving on juries in Baltimore and 11 Maryland counties this month.

The 27-year-old victim testified a car drew up alongside her as she was walking along a Northeast Baltimore street June 3, two men jumped out and forced her into the car, and a third occupant joined them in raping her after they had driven to a lonely spot on the outskirts.

The defendants denied they had ever seen the woman before she identified them in a police lineup.

Citrus Groves, Truck Farms Take Beating

Casualties Are Few; "Looter" Is Killed

MIAMI, Sept. 17—(AP)—Florida millionaires and farmers alike with their holdings were left badly buffeted and shaken today by a vicious week-old hurricane that lashed 150 miles across the lower peninsula and into the Gulf of Mexico.

The howling storm struck the rich east coast resort area between Miami and Palm Beach about noon yesterday. It raced through the productive citrus and vegetable growing interior to the west coast with winds up to 120 miles an hour.

It left at least two deaths and millions of dollars in property damage. Devastation, however, apparently was less than had been feared.

Communications generally were shattered by the great winds and full reports of its effect were lacking.

One man was shot to death in Miami and six others were arrested in what police termed "widespread looting" of storm-battered stores.

At 7:30 p. m. (E.S.T.)—eight hours after it slammed inland from the Atlantic Ocean — the hurricane howled over Fort Myers and out into the Gulf of Mexico. State police reports from Wauchula, 80 miles to the north, said 100-mile winds whipped Fort Myers and were continuing at 8:30 p. m.

Two vessels were believed in distress off the Florida Gulf Coast. Seven crewmen of the 40-foot schooner Pilar were bailing by hand after all pumps and engines failed, and the little vessel was shipping water in heavy seas. An unidentified vessel was rushing to her aid.

Course Of Storm Uncertain

A 106-ton banana boat, Rita, was limping toward Cuba on one engine, but radioed she hoped to be clear of the storm's violent center.

The course of the storm, after emerging in the Gulf, was uncertain.

Citrus growers in Southern Florida estimated their probable loss in millions of dollars, but said it was likely that the greater portion of the $100,000,000 crop would be spared.

Tomatoes and other truck crops in the mucklands region around Lake Okeechobee were badly beaten by terrific winds and scythe-like rain. There was optimism, however, when Army engineers announced that the costly dike-system was proving its worth, and would hold despite tremendous pressure and 95-mile winds.

Earlier, more than 10,000 persons evacuated the Okeechobee region by car and by train, seeking higher ground near Sebring. Two refugee trains, their box cars and baggage cars jammed with men, women and children, reached their destination after severe buffeting. Occupants told of mud being whipped from the swamps and driven into their faces by the gale.

Hundreds of thousands sought refuge in hotels and public shelters throughout the storm area.

Two out of three radio towers owned by stations WGBE of Miami, and located at Fort Lauderdale, were sent crashing to the ground

New Labor Law May Be Issue In URW Election

BOSTON, Sept. 17 (AP)—The CIO United Rubber Workers prepared tonight for their annual election, which observers said may develop contests over candidates' stands on the Taft-Hartley law.

The 220,000-member union has not yet reached a declaration of policy on the law, reported to have divided delegates between outright denouncing or a compromise use of the statute's bargaining machinery.

Some delegates reported that their choice of officers on Thursday will be influenced by whether a candidate holds to the general executive board's announced intension of ignoring the new National Labor Relations Board or this week's suggestion by President L. S. Buckmaster to take test cases before the new board.

AFL Union Officials Are Advised To Sign Non-Communist Affidavits

CHICAGO Sept. 17 (AP)—An AFL attorney today advised the 500 union officials he represents to sign non-Communist affidavits as requested by the Taft-Hartley law despite recent failure of the AFL Executive Council, by dissent of John L. Lewis, to do so.

Daniel D. Carmell said he had interpreted the rights of AFL local and international officials in the light of the council's action at the request of William L. McFetridge, president of the AFL Building Service Employes International.

Carmell represents McFetridge's union, eight other AFL internationals, 295 Chicago area local AFL unions, the Chicago Federation of Labor and the Illinois State Federation of Labor.

"We cannot be deprived of the services of the NLRB," Carmell said, "because the AFL council, over which neither a local or international union has control, declines to sign.

"Only AFL international unions have control over local unions under their jurisdiction. The AFL council has extremely limited powers."

Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers, last Friday singlehandedly blocked council compliance with the non-Communist provision. Since the council, comprising 15 officers of the AFL, had to act unanimously in order to comply with the ruling of General Counsel Robert N. Denham, of the NLRB. Lewis' opposition was enough to stymie council compliance for the time being. At one time, all the other members of the council were prepared to sign the affidavits, council members said.

End Of Overell Trial Is In Sight

SANTA ANA, Calif., Sept. 17 (AP) —The end of the long Overell murder trial came in sight tonight, as George Gollum, husky defendant, denied flatly any part in the slaying of his girl friend's parents and — in a surprising move — was permitted to leave the witness stand after only 10 minutes of cross-examination.

The end of Gollum's testimony came with a suddenness which took even Gollum's own counsel by surprise. During the 10 minutes after his denial, the big, blond pre-medical student was pounded with questions by Assistant Attorney General Eugene D. Williams. To each he gave firm, unwavering answers.

Gollum and his college sweetheart, Louise Overell, are charged with murdering her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter E. Overell, aboard the latter's yacht, Mary E. in Newport harbor last March 15, then shattering it with a dynamite blast to cover the crime.

Williams quizzed Gollum closely about the stanchions on the Mary E, with which the prosecution says the Overells could have been clubbed to death.

"Did you remove either of the stanchions before the small boat was brought aboard?"

Gollum responded that he did not remember who had removed them.

Gollum's denial of all knowledge of the wealthy couple's death came on direct examination.

"Did you alone or with anyone take any part in bringing about the deaths of Mr. and Mrs. Overell?" asked his counsel, William E. Beirne.

"No," Golum replied, firmly.

"Did you or anyone else aid in bringing about their deaths?"

"I did not," more loudly.

Man Is Found Guilty Of Raping Girl, 11

TOWSON, Md., Sept. 17 (AP) — A tall, powerfully-built former employe at Spring Grove State Hospital near Catonsville was convicted today of raping an 11-year-old girl near there July 15.

The girl was the chief state's witness against Robert Lee Lathco, 38, originally from Raleigh, N. C. She told of being approached by him on a street in Catonsville and induced to take a ride in a cab to a lonely spot on the Baltimore outskirts.

Judge J. Howard Murray and Frederick B. Cobourne found him guilty after deliberating 15 minutes. They deferred sentence until defense motions for a new trial have been ruled on.

Birds Sing During Lull

Birds sang at Fort Lauderdale during the deceitful lull marking passage of the huricane's center—then fled before 119-mile pounding which buried 20 yachts beneath a collapsed storage shed.

There was considerable damage at Delray Beach, and a collapsing house buried its occupants at Deerfield. "Millionaire's Row" at Palm Beach was a tangle of uprooted palms and fallen wires.

Fashionable stores at Miami Beach, improperly protected for the summer, were badly beaten by the storm, and suffered water damage. Hotels were isolated when causeways to the mainland were closed and when power and water failed.

Three persons were missing on a private yacht, which radioed for help during the height of the east coast blow. However, it appeared possible that they reached safety at Caesar's Creek, where the Coast Guard said three persons were aboard a boat. Six others were said to be marooned in a private home at Cape Florida, 23 miles north of Miami.

Prompt federal aid to assauge "damage, hardship and suffering" from the mighty storm was ordered by President Truman. En route from Brazil to Washington aboard the U. S. S. Missouri, the President radioed the Federal Works Agency to turn available and needed surplus property over to state and local governments for hurricane relief.

The Red Cross and Salvation Army workers were active throughout the area, and Army personnel stood by for medical service. The Coast Guard planned extensive air reconnaissance tomorrow, and Army rescue planes now in Cuba were ordered to proceed to Nassau.

All Army and Navy planes on the west coast of Florida were evacuated hurriedly and sent to inland fields.

Young Blames Banking Interests For Shortages

WASHINGTON, Sept. 17 (INS)—Railroad Executive Robert R. Young charged today that New York banking interests are creating shortages in order to maintain control over the national economy.

Young, chairman of the board of the Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad, told the Interstate Commerce Commission that the banking interests control the 135 class one railroads in the country.

He asserted that "the same crowd" controls the steel corporations.

He named the Morgan interests as controlling the New York Central Railroad, the Mellon interests as controlling the Pennsylvania system and the Harriman interests as dominating the Union Pacific.

New York Shipbuilding Company Strike Settled

WASHINGTON, Sept. 17 (AP) — John Green, president of the CIO Marine and Shipbuilding Workers, announced late today the settlement of a nearly three months old strike at the New York Shipbuilding Company, involving 3,800 employes.

Green also told a news conference he is urging the Maritime Commission and the Navy to use combined pressure to force Bethlehem Shipbuilding Company owned by Bethlehem Steel Company, to arbitrate a dispute affecting 30,000 workers.

The New York shipbuilding settlement, which must be ratified at a mass meeting of union members in Camden, N. J., tomorrow night, calls for a 12-cent hourly wage increase across the board and an 8½ percent boost for piece workers, Green said.

State Delegates Call For Food Price Controls

BALTIMORE, Sept. 17 (AP)—Two Democratic members of the Maryland House of Delegates, blaming "uncontrolled spiraling prices" on the Republican Party, today urged the Legislative Council to petition the President and Congress to restore controls on food.

Delegates Jerome Robinson and Irvin A. Alder, of Baltimore's Fourth District, called upon the council to ask for a special session of Congress to deal with the problem of rising prices.

Six others were said to be marooned in a private home at Cape Florida, 23 miles north of Miami.

Prompt federal aid to assauge "damage, hardship and suffering" from the mighty storm was ordered by President Truman. En route from Brazil to Washington aboard the U. S. S. Missouri, the President radioed the Federal Works Agency to turn available and needed surplus property over to state and local governments for hurricane relief.

The Red Cross and Salvation Army workers were active throughout the area, and Army personnel stood by for medical service. The Coast Guard planned extensive air reconnaissance tomorrow, and Army rescue planes now in Cuba were ordered to proceed to Nassau.

All Army and Navy planes on the west coast of Florida were evacuated hurriedly and sent to inland fields.

Young Blames Banking Interests For Shortages

WASHINGTON, Sept. 17 (INS)—Railroad Executive Robert R. Young charged today that New York banking interests are creating shortages in order to maintain control over the national economy.

Young, chairman of the board of the Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad, told the Interstate Commerce Commission that the banking interests control the 135 class one railroads in the country.

He asserted that "the same crowd" controls the steel corporations.

He named the Morgan interests as controlling the New York Central Railroad, the Mellon interests as controlling the Pennsylvania system and the Harriman interests as dominating the Union Pacific.

New York Shipbuilding Company Strike Settled

WASHINGTON, Sept. 17 (AP) — John Green, president of the CIO Marine and Shipbuilding Workers, announced late today the settlement of a nearly three months old strike at the New York Shipbuilding Company, involving 3,800 employes.

Green also told a news conference he is urging the Maritime Commission and the Navy to use combined pressure to force Bethlehem Shipbuilding Company owned by Bethlehem Steel Company, to arbitrate a dispute affecting 30,000 workers.

The New York shipbuilding settlement, which must be ratified at a mass meeting of union members in Camden, N. J., tomorrow night, calls for a 12-cent hourly wage increase across the board and an 8½ percent boost for piece workers, Green said.

State Delegates Call For Food Price Controls

BALTIMORE, Sept. 17 (AP)—Two Democratic members of the Maryland House of Delegates, blaming "uncontrolled spiraling prices" on the Republican Party, today urged the Legislative Council to petition the President and Congress to restore controls on food.

Delegates Jerome Robinson and Irvin A. Alder, of Baltimore's Fourth District, called upon the council to ask for a special session of Congress to deal with the problem of rising prices.

Jukebox Flirtation And Baking Soda Takes Most Of Money

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

Famous Authority on Problems of Love and Marriage

Dear Miss Fairgax:

There is a girl who comes into a public place I frequent. I never went there much until she began coming, but now I am in there as much as the owner.

I know from the way I feel about her and the way she looks at me, if we did get together I know things would click, but I am bashful and don't know how to go about making conversation with her. The only way she could have the slightest idea that I am interested is that when I play the jukebox I drop my nickel in, give her a glance and play songs that would reveal I'd like to meet her or know her better and how sweet she is.

With all the things to eat and drink in this place, most of my money is spent on baking soda and the jukebox, so you see I am undermining my health and wasting my money while my heart awaits a solution. Is this real love? If I don't date her, I will always think it was.

"R. C. R."

Dear "R. C. R.":

"Real love" consists of a good deal more knowledge of a person than eating and drinking and playing the jukebox. I think I can safely say, and you can rest assured, that you are not irrevocably in love.

Personally, I don't think much of boys picking up girls, or vice-versa, in public places. However, if you have been flirting with her via the jukebox for as long as you indicate, I shouldn't think it would be hard to introduce yourself in some way by this time. You can hardly be a stranger to her. Why don't you just walk over some time and ask what she would like you to play on the jukebox, or if you couldn't buy her a dish of ice cream? If you wait too long, it will be indigestion rather than love that will conquer you.

Don't Be Hasty

Dear Miss Fairfax:

I am a girl almost 18 years old and am working and paying board at home. I want to be married some time next year but my mother objects and says she will not give her consent.

How old does a girl have to be in this state to be married without the consent of her parents?

"E. A. M."

Dear "E. A. M.":

In your state, a girl can be married without her parents' consent at 18.

Let me suggest, however, that before you decide to take any such step you give careful consideration to whatever objections your mother may have expressed to make sure there may not be a sound basis for them. Just because you become 18 you don't want to make it the occasion for doing something foolish that you would soon regret.

Collective Bargaining Again Gets Fine Results

The Kelly Springfield Tire Company and Local 26, United Rubber, Cork, Linoleum and Plastic Workers of America, CIO, have come to an agreement on working conditions after nearly three months of negotiations. It has been accomplished without the semblance of a strike threat or of any type of interruption of production.

It would appear from the terms of the settlement, as announced in a joint statement by the company and representatives of the workers, that the union secured many of the requests made of the employer, although it is reasonable to believe that it was a give and take formula which was followed and which resulted in an agreement with such an amicable relationship.

Although a wage increase was not among the demands made, the workers, nevertheless, made some gains in a monetary way by the inclusion in the contract of a provision calling for pay on six holidays, severance pay, improvement in the minimum guaranteed rate, call-in pay and a revision of furlough procedure.

The clause covering holidays provides that employes not scheduled to work on a holiday falling in a regular work day will be paid straight time, provided they work the scheduled shift prior to and after the holiday. In that the worker will find his pay envelope unshrunken by holidays and the company will enjoy the assurance that production will not be hampered before or following such holidays. Severance pay will be given to employes with the proper service requirements who wish to retire after reaching the age of 65, or who can no longer meet the requirements of their job, and cannot qualify for a transfer to another job.

Of course, such benefits to employes can accrue only from a high level of productivity and continued improvement in production and equipment. That places responsibility on both the worker and the management.

The agreement becomes effective in fifteen days. The manner in which it was reached represents not only a long step toward furthering harmonious relations between the union and the company, but is a fine illustration of the good feeling which can be maintained in such undertakings through the mechanics of collective bargaining.

The controversy over the length of skirts will finally be compromised, with each woman choosing a style in keeping with her understanding.

Future Of FM, Greatest Of Radio Reception Improvements

Every radio technician and a growing body of the listening public will agree that frequency modulation has been the greatest improvement in radio reception in years. Yet, as an economic adjunct to a great American industry, FM is still in its adolescence. This is not due to any technical shortcoming. FM has overcome static and made possible musical reception with the fidelity that you find only in the concert hall —and a good hall, at that. But it may be threatened by forces in the radio industry to which it offers strong competition.

All FM stations in a given metropolitan area have the same capabilities. Reception from all of them comes through with equal clarity. The only difference between FM stations is in programing. This is, of course, not at all the case with standard broadcasting. Many stations play a commanding part on the air not because of the excellence of their programs but because of their power and their position on the dial.

In a recent column, Jack Gould, radio editor of the New York Times, aired his well-informed suspicions that certain networks, powerful stations and even radio manufacturers have tended to play down FM for competitive reasons. They have been aided by the obstructive genius of James Petrillo, president of the American Federation of Musicians, who has decreed that there shall be no duplication of musical programs on standard and FM stations at the same time. Ironically, the czar of the organized musicians appears to be teaming up with powers which he has been fighting for years.

In the long run, any commercial opposition to the growth of FM is bound to fail. Sooner or later, the American who makes a better mousetrap will have the consuming public beating a path to his door. That is one of the virtues of the free enterprise system. But it is not unknown in the United States for a new invention to be held back for years because it might endanger large vested interests.

The danger to FM is not that it will be suppressed but that the spread of its great technical advantages will be delayed, to the loss of the radio listening public.

That reported gold strike north of Dawson, with pay dirt yielding $100 per pan, couldn't be a publicity stunt to popularize the Alcan highway, could it?

"Harmless" Souvenirs

In Newton, Kans., the other day a bazooka rocket exploded, killed three children and injured five others, all in the same family. The father said it was a "dud" rocket he brought home from the Army installation where he worked. In Hot Springs, Ark., another "harmless" shell exploded and injured six children.

Considering man's propensity for collecting souvenirs, it is probable that there will be more such incidents. Even during the war military authorities were unable to stop combat veterans from taking chances with captured explosives—often with fatal results. Anyone having souvenirs which might by any chance cause injury should make sure they really are completely harmless. The Internal Revenue Bureau's alcohol tax unit is the governmental agency to which to direct inquiries about this.

Fatalities of this sort are the result of inexcusable carelessness. Ex-GIs owe it to themselves, their relatives and the public to make certain that their souvenirs are harmless.

Dirt yielding more than $100 in gold per pan has been discovered north of Dawson. Here gold comes in nuggets labeled "butter."

BEE STING REACTION

RECENTLY, while fishing in a small lake with my friend, Hess, the quietness of the north woods was disrupted by a buzzing bee. The intruder soon became material for conversation and I related the experience of one of my colleagues while in service.

A 22 year old soldier was found in a state of coma and rushed to the hospital. The boy's skin was cold and clammy and covered with a rash, the lips were blue, and wheezing interfered with breathing. Treatment was given for shock and the obvious asthmatic condition. By the next day, consciousness had returned and he was well on the road to recovery.

He stated that, while in field duty, either a bee or wasp had stung him in the region of the right temple. Five minutes later he felt weak and dizzy and had the feeling of "popping out all over the skin." Then came a choking sensation, after which everything went blank.

This reaction is rather rare, as the majority of us merely develop swelling at the site of the nip. Some persons have been attacked by an entire hive, receiving anywhere from 100 to 1,000 bites without becoming unconscious or going into shock. The same can be said of others who are subjected to a sting or two day in and day out.

But with the soldier in question, the mishap had a different effect. He was either allergic to the venom or the insect injected some pollen that had adhered to its stinger. The latter was the best possibility, inasmuch as he was known to be sensitive to several weeds and had encountered asthmatic seizures since the age of 7. Furthermore, only a small amount of pollen is required to produce shock in an extremely allergic individual.

The discussion continued and the experience of a Los Angeles physician was cited. He was strolling along the beach at Santa Monica, without shoes. He happened to step on one of the many half-dead bees lying in the sand near the water line. Immediately a sharp pain was felt near the base of his left great toe. Ten minutes later, his palms began to tingle and stiffen and the lips became numb and swollen. Within a half-hour he became weak and suffered abdominal cramps.

Meanwhile, swelling of the eyelids and other parts of the body and tightness of the chest with hives and intense itching appeared. Medical aid was sought and, twenty minutes later, an injection of adrenalin gave complete relief.

It is fortunate that reactions of this type are few and far between. On the other hand, the outcome is good if adrenalin is available, especially when allergy is the basic cause. Some degree of immunity may be produced by desensitization. People who are suceptible to bees may react in a similar manner to the bites of hornets, yellow jackets, and other wasps, and even to ants.

CORPORATION

A. B. writes: How can I lose my stomach without losing weight elsewhere?

REPLY

I don't think you mean what you say as this would be impossible. On the other hand, if you refer to your bay-window, exercising the abdominal muscles will help, if you are ambitious. Otherwise buy an elastic support.

CHEST DISCOMFORT

A. R. writes: Could a case of neuralgia be mistaken for heart trouble?

REPLY

Yes, some layman believe that any severe pain in the chest is due to heart disease. The physician is not likely to misdiagnose such symptoms.

VARIED DISORDERS

Mrs. S. writes: My 5 year old son has a bad case of sinus and tonsillitis. To complicate matters, three months ago he fell and fractured his nose. Would the removal of his adenoids in any way affect the fracture?

REPLY

No, as the bones of the nose are some distance from the adenoids, I assume that the fracture has had attention and is healed by this time.

It Says Here

By BOB HOPE

King Neptune just shook hands with the President.

Yes, the tradition of the sea that "pollywogs," or new sailors who cross the equator, must be paddled, dunked into the ship pool, and have their heads shaved, was upheld even to the commander-in-chief. President Truman, on his return trip from Rio, was partly given the naval business.

The President said he wanted to be treated just like the rest of the gobs, but it was a little embarrassing for the sailors to comply, that's like biting the hand that could sign your court-martial.

But they went through with it. Of course, the President wasn't paddled in the usual way. The secretary of the navy just tapped him on the shoulder with a new appropriation bill.

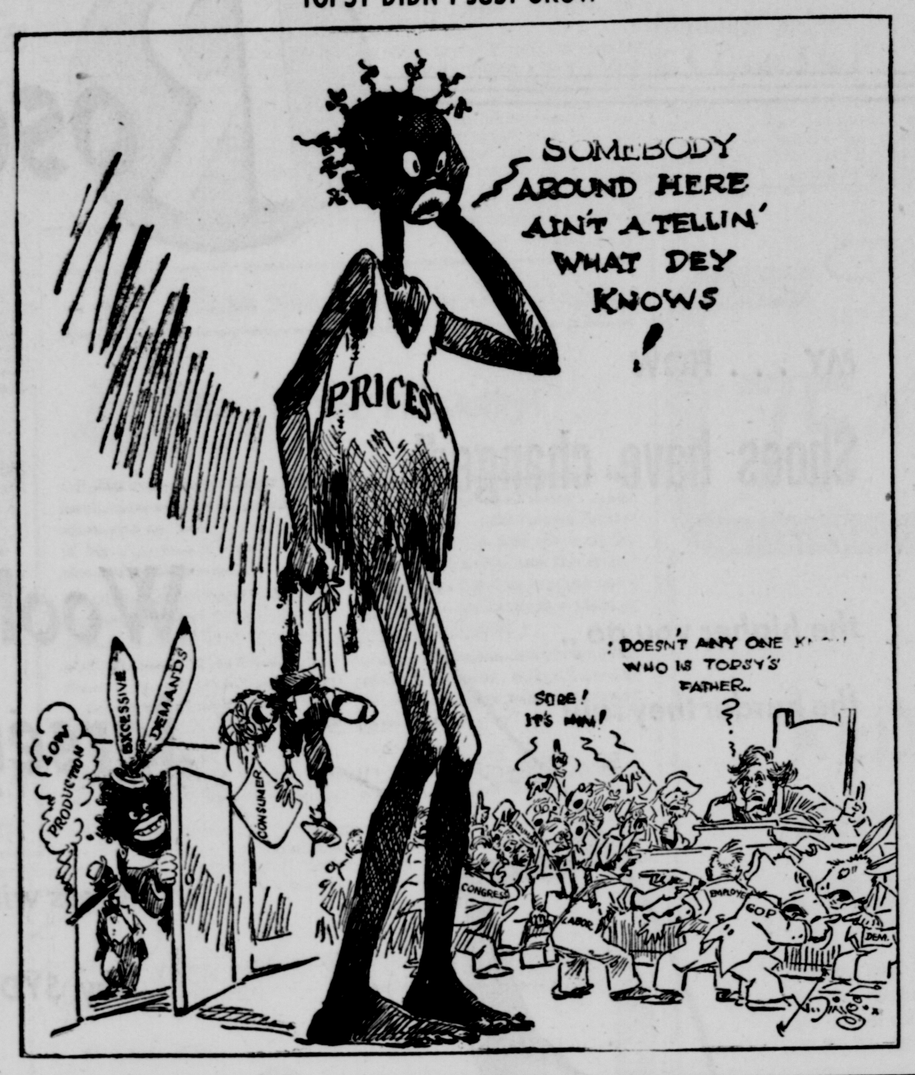

And as for the head shaving, well, the sailors thought he had had enough cut when Congress got through working over his budget.

Miss Truman was aboard, too. She was all set to sing with the ship's orchestra when they found out one of the sailors was a Republican saboteur. He didn't have any valves on his clarinet. In fact, he had the only clarinet in the world built in Dewey buttons.

But I think the President deserves a lot of credit for proving himself a real sailor. Of course, when the 35th division finds out, they'll probably all turn Republicans.

Harry Truman, Without His Cronies, Does Good Job; Looking For New Radio Adviser After FCC Change; Rats Responsible For Grain Waste

Says DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON, Sept. 17.—When Harry Truman gets away from "government by cronies" and acts on his own, he usually rings the bell. When he acts hastily "on the advice of cronies," he frequently gets his feet wet—and the nation's, too. That is one deduction drawn from the present woes of White House radio adviser J. Leonard Reinsch.

Last spring, Reinsch, an applicant for a radio station in Cincinnati, Ohio, was turned down by the Federal Communications Commission. Shortly thereafter, FCCommissioner Ray Wakefield, Republican, who voted against Reinsch and his Cincinnati station, found himself out of a job. The White House had withdrawn Wakefield's name for reappointment.

In his place was appointed Congressman Robert Jones, not merely a Republican, but a strongly isolationist Republican, with a record of having voted against Roosevelt-Truman foreign policies both before and after Pearl Harbor.

Others besides Reinsch—notably ex-Speaker Sam Rayburn — had something to do with Jones' appointment. But Truman himself apparently realized little of what was going on, until able FCChairman Charley Denny called at the White House sometime later.

Truman Wakes Up

In his hand, Denny carried Broadcasting Magazine, mouthpiece of the big radio networks, announcing that he, Denny, was resigning as FCChairman with White House radio adviser Reinsch taking his place.

"I'm not planning to resign, Mr. President," explained the puzzled FCChairman, "but I will if you want me to."

Truman protested that it was all news to him, told Denny he needed him on the FCC, had no intention of letting him resign. Never slow to catch a point, Truman figured that Reinsch had planted the resignation story, was pulling wires to get Denny out and himself into the FCC.

Result No. 1: J. Leonard Reinsch is very much in the Presidential doghouse. Originally slated to accompany Truman to Rio de Janeiro, Reinsch's name was suddenly scratched from the list. The White House is now reported looking for a new radio adviser.

Result No. 2:—Truman realizes he did an injustice to FCCommissioner Ray Wakefield by replacing him with Congressman Jones. Wakefield, a Republican who has made a conscientious career out of government, was yanked off the FCC one day after Truman urged Princeton grads to make a career of government. Conscience-stricken, Truman now plans to make Wakefield either a Federal judge in California or a member of the Federal Power Commission — probably the latter.

Our No. 1 Enemy

It may sound hard to believe, but the huge shortage of this year's corn crop could be largely offset if the American people were able to eliminate one factor in their economy—rats.

Most people don't realize it, but one healthy rat eats or spoils around 100 pounds of grain per year. And while it's impossible to count the rat population, Interior Department experts estimate that rats are almost double the human population—probably totaling 250,000,000 in the U. S.

Entirely aside from the disease which rats spread from privy to pantry, and the havoc they wreak upon the waterfronts of American seaports, their effect upon the food supply of the United States is almost beyond realization. Between the time a farmer stores his corn in the fall and cleans out his corncrib in the summer, rats may have eaten the difference between profit and loss for the year. In addition, they spoil as much corn as they eat.

If the food destroyed by rats could be shipped overseas, this alone would about save Europe from its current danger of starvation.

At present one Government agency, the Fish and Wildlife Service of the Interior Department, is working on rat eradication. Handicapped by lack of funds, Government rat eradicators are able to do little beyond circulating anti-rat propaganda.

During the war, the U. S. Army, working with Interior Department experts, developed a new rat poison —"1080"—so deadly it will wipe out the rat population of a farm overnight. However, it is also deadly to other animals, and for that reason has not been put into general use.

Government experts recommend red squill as the best rat poison; also gas pumped into rats' underground burrows. Rat traps are too slow for the prolific rodent, which reproduces about as fast as he can be trapped.

Note—The Library of Congress has now been purged of rats after a lady was frightened by one in the reading room last year. Officials feared that ravenous rodents might make a diet of historical documents and paintings. Search of other Government buildings found no rats in the White House, though a few infested the White House lawn. There were plenty in the halls of Congress.

Shipping Costs Of European Aid Matter Of Concern In Capitol

By MARK SULLIVAN

Our aid to European countries, past and proposed, gives rise to much concern, leading to some contention whether we should go on with it on the scale proposed. Some of the concern and a considerable portion of the cost could be ended by a change in the process of our giving. The change would amount to saying to the European countries, in the words of a familiar American invitation to food, "Come and get it!"

Realization of this has come to important government officials and members of Congress and action about it is being planned. To understand the proposed action, it is necessary to grasp the whole process of our giving. The intricacy of the process, and some paradoxes that now exist in it, are one cause of concern on the part of our people.

The first step in the process is a grant of money to European countries by Congress. With this money agencies of our government acting for the European governments, buy wheat and other commodities These purchases cause increases in prices, they are a large part of the high cost of living about which there is justified disquiet.

Ship Operation Costs Up

The wheat or other commodity is then put on ships. The ships are American owned, many of them owned by the government and chartered to private American firms. Operation of the ships is by American crews and these belong to powerful unions. Their pay is very high. The wage rate is nearly double what it was before the war. With extra pay for overtime, and practices recently introduced, some of them called with some justification, "feather-bedding", the labor cost of operating an American ship is now between three and four times pre-war. Added to this are other factors including high profits, which make the rates charged for shipping inordinately high. This is not modified by the fact, that up to 90 per cent of the profits are paid back to the government, as an incident of the contracts by which government owned ships are chartered to private firms.

As a result, an incredible proportion of the total cost of the food and other commodities we send to Europe is absorbed by the high cost of shipping it. It is estimated that out of a recent grant we made to Italy, for the purchase of goods, a third was consumed by the cost of shipping the goods.

This goes to the heart of the question now under intent discussion, and later to be answered by Congress, to what extent we should go on with the program of aid to European countries. A recent estimate of the amount we would be called for under the Marshall plan is some 15 billion dollars. And it is estimated that out of the 15 billion, between 2 and 3 billion would be consumed by cost of shipping.

Meanwhile, maritime workers in European countries are idle and—this is one of the paradoxes—their idleness is a cause of the need of Europe for money from us. Meanwhile also our government owns some 2 thousand Liberty ships lying idle. Out of this arises a suggestion, made earlier by ex-President Hoover in his February report on his Economic Mission to Germany: "If we could effect some temporary operation by German crews of say 75 Liberty ships now laid up . . ."

Would Charter U.S. Ships

The suggestion is now made concrete in a bill proposed by Congressman Weichel, Chairman of the Merchant Marine Committee of the House, which would permit our government to charter ships to foreigners at nominal rates. This would be done under carefully guarded conditions. One would confine the use of the ships to carrying goods reecived as aid from us. Another restriction would limit the time foreigners may keep the ships to 1951.

The existing condition which this proposal aims to correct contains many paradoxes. The amounts we grant to European countries are made larger to us by the cost of shipping, but by the same cause the amounts actually received by Europe are reduced. This affects all the commodities we send. About one commodity there is a special paradox. We send some steel to Europe and the steel consumes shipping space at high cost. At the same time European countries are using steel to build new ships in the face of some 2 thousand idle ships in America. An illustration of the fundamental paradox is the justified complaint by our army in Europe that too much of the appropriations we make for occupying Germany is consumed by the cost of shipping.

Got to straighten Mr. Bevin out on the adage that gold is where you find it. Bevvie, that means the first time and not the second.

There's no harm trying though. There's many an oldtimer who asked Lillian Russell for a kiss and didn't get it. And Lil didn't have an enemy in the world.

Bevvie went ahead on the theory that with busted brakes and going downhill there is no other direction to go. We admire his nerve and give him an extra five for neatness.

The root of all evil stays under Fort Knox. If we are going to do any book-keeping there it will not be with shovels.

Europe Hasn't Waked Up To The Real Situation In U. S. Congress

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Sept. 17.—When President Truman returns in a few days, the pressure will be begun to persuade him to call an extra session of Congress. It may be a fortnight before a decision is reached and, if a session is called, there is usually 30 days' notice in advance of the date of convening the two houses.

This means that Congress might reassemble by November 1st, but December 1st is the more plausible date.

By December most of the traveling members of Congress will be back in the United States. To wait for the regular session in January might mean considerable delay before the Marshall plan program is acted upon.

The real difficulty about a decision in favor of a special session for the immediate weeks ahead is that no comprehensive plan or formula has been worked out as yet. Members of Congress would be marking time while they waited for further information on European conditions.

It must be noted that while Congress can be called into session to consider a special program, there is no rule to prevent either or both Houses from taking up other subjects. If the Marshall program isn't ready, the way would be opened for lengthy debate and legislative tangles on many other controversial subjects.

Truman To Be On Spot

President Truman nevertheless will be on the spot when he gets back from his trip to Brazil. If he doesn't do anything about the special session, he will appear to Europeans as indifferent to their plight. If he sets the date too soon, he will antagonize many member of Congress who have made other plans for the ensuing few weeks, especially those who are abroad gathering first-hand information for the debate. Certainly, nothing will be gained by selecting an early date and much the same benefit can be obtained by an announcement that there will be a special session on December 1st. This will give everybody here in Washington at least ten weeks to prepare and it will be notice to the Europeans that they must have their plan for self-help ready by then, along with their list of items and formula for handling the help America is to give.

One thing is not clearly understood in Europe. If the Congress is asked to act on a plan that is not carefully worked out, the whole scheme may be indefinitely delayed while the Senators and Representatives wait for further action by the European countries or for more information.

Unfortunately, the knowledge abroad that America is sympathetic to the cause of European rehabilitation has led to mistaken beliefs that sums running up to a total of $20,000,000,000 or more may be forthcoming over a period of years.

Only Yearly Commitments

The truth is that no commitments are going to be made for longer than a year at a time. No Congress can commit its successor. The length of time of appropriation bills is two years and this is fixed by the Constitution.

As for the first year's appropriation, it is safe to assume that $3,000,000,000 is high and that a sum nearer $2,000,000,000 may be the initial appropriation. It will be surprising indeed if $2,000,000,000 a year is actually appropriated for as long as three years.

This is based on the talk among members of Congress and among some officials who know the sentiment in Congress. Aid is to be forthcoming for essential parts of an over-all program but there will be no indefinite commitments or blank checks given. Unless the plan offered is backed by leaders of both parties, it will not be approved. Unless the plan appeals to American public opinion as a sound program that will really help Europe to rehabilitate herself, the chances are that heavy opposition will appear in both parties.

The signs are that Europe hasn't waked up to the real situation in Congress.

THESE DAYS

By George E. Sokolsky

REDISTRIBUTION OF WEALTH

JAMES Roosevelt, Democratic Chairman of California, got himself into one of those arguments on the radio which are called "Meet the Press." The newspapermen on that show are usually fast on their feet, and Larry Spivak of "The American Mercury" is a gadfly. So they got James Roosevelt on the subject of Communism, which is important in California where it acts as a substitute for marijuana for some of the Hollywood contingent. The redoubtable Jimmy, who had tried politics in New York, Massachusetts and Washington and who has now settled for California, was put on the spot when he was asked whether he believed "American Communists are loyal to the American way of life."

He answered:

"That is a rather difficult question to answer, because what you are trying to ask me to answer is whether or not I know what is in the minds of all the Communists, and of course I don't individually. I can't help but feel that those Communists who are open and frank enough to come out and say that they would like to see in the United States the kind of a government which is now operating in Russia, are not loyal to the American way of life.

"On the other hand, I must frankly say to you that I feel there are some Communists and some principle that they believe in which, if adopted in this country, would not be particularly bad for our American way of life: but it is the totalitarian part of it that I think we all disagree with, who are devoted to the American way of life."

Now that answer was wrong for the following reasons:

1. Anybody who wants to can know what is in the minds of Communists, American or otherwise. A wide literature consisting of books for all degrees of intelligence has been published by the Communists, their fellow-travellers and their opponents, setting forth their conceptions from the canonical writings of Marx, Engels, Bukharin, Lenin, Stalin, Trotzky, and a host of others in Europe, America and everywhere. There is also a periodical press of monthlies, weeklies and dailies. Only a lazy man can say that he does not know what is in the Communist mind because if he wants to know, it is all laid out for him to see.

2. Roosevelt makes a distinction between some and other Communists. This is nonsense. The Communist Party is a disciplined organization, the members of which must abide by party decisions or get out. There are constant expulsions and purges for what they call "deviations." Some of the most prominent persons in the party have been purged for "deviations," as for example, Trotzky from the Russian party or Earl Browder from the American party.

So after that answer, they had James Roosevelt by asking him which part of Communism he likes and it turned out that ". . . there is not sufficient distribution of wealth in the United States is something that I, for one, would agree with them about."

Wrong again. Communists do not believe in the redistribution of wealth. They believe in the nationalization of wealth. They do not believe that if Mr. Rockefeller's money were divided up among 145,000,000 Americans, it would do anybody any good. They do believe that all the means of production and distribution shall be owned and operated by the government.

In a word, they believe in the establishment of a state monopoly of the wealth of a people, that is, the natural resources, the tools, the means of communication and distribution and even the manpower. None of this has anything to do with the redistribution of wealth.

The remainder of the argument about the redistribution of wealth was too juvenile to bother with because James Roosevelt confused wealth with money, whereas national wealth consists principally in resources and tools. For instance, if a man owns $8,000,000, he does not have that in money, if he has any brains, but in receipts for the owenrship or partial ownership of tools, resources, etc. In a word, he holds stocks, bonds, debentures, mortgages, and such devices which acknowledge investment in production or distribution.

Jimmy's heart may be all right but he needs a refresher course in elementary economics.

Soul Attention

The body, the mind, and the soul, all need vacations! Each needs a sweeping out, a renewal, and new color. People give vacations to their bodies, and sometimes to their minds, but how rarely do they ever give their soul a vacation!

I would say that Nature is the greatest of all chefs to the soul, for she feeds it from every root, branch, and inch of ground that is hers—and it is all hers! Why is it, since the soul of man in his most precious possession, that he favors his body and mind above it? There is spiritual and eternal quality to the soul, and William James has said that "where quality is the thing sought after, the thing of supreme quality is cheap, whatever be the price one has to pay for it."

But when you purchase soul quality you do not do so with money, but with the rarest and priceless elements of your God-nature. You purchase it with white hyacinths, and with love. So deeply was W. H. Hudson's soul wrapped in Nature that he once wrote: "When I was compelled to exist shut ou from Nature in London for long periods, sick and poor nd friendless, I could yet always feel that it was infinitely better to be than not t be."

I believe it was Emerson, who upon walking away from the burial of Thoreau, remarked: "What a beautiful soul!" I can easily understand Sun worshipers and Nature lovers. In my very amateurish way I am both a Sun and Nature worshiper and lover. And I believe that my inner natur is dail enriched by the fact. My body and m mind this past Summer were separate entities from my soul. I gave this soul of mine its own vacation. It danced upon Sunbeams. Its earliest prayers were from the face of a dewdrop. And before it said its evening prayer it slipped silently behind its favorite star.

The body and mind go out together, but the soul travels alone. It is invisible and yet it is as familiar to the intelligent as is electricity and something that is just as plainly recognized as in existence. The language of life—continual life—is the only language that the soul knows anything about.

Soul attention takes on great importance in the face of that famous sentence in the Bible where it asks: "What does it profit a man if he gain the whole world and lose his own soul?"

Collective Bargaining Again Gets Fine Results

The Kelly Springfield Tire Company and Local 26, United Rubber, Cork, Linoleum and Plastic Workers of America, CIO, have come to an agreement on working conditions after nearly three months of negotiations. It has been accomplished without the semblance of a strike threat or of any type of interruption of production.

It would appear from the terms of the settlement, as announced in a joint statement by the company and representatives of the workers, that the union secured many of the requests made of the employer, although it is reasonable to believe that it was a give and take formula which was followed and which resulted in an agreement with such an amicable relationship.

Although a wage increase was not among the demands made, the workers, nevertheless, made some gains in a monetary way by the inclusion in the contract of a provision calling for pay on six holidays, severance pay, improvement in the minimum guaranteed rate, call-in pay and a revision of furlough procedure.

The clause covering holidays provides that employes not scheduled to work on a holiday falling in a regular work day will be paid straight time, provided they work the scheduled shift prior to and after the holiday. In that the worker will find his pay envelope unshrunken by holidays and the company will enjoy the assurance that production will not be hampered before or following such holidays. Severance pay will be given to employes with the proper service requirements who wish to retire after reaching the age of 65, or who can no longer meet the requirements of their job, and cannot qualify for a transfer to another job.

Of course, such benefits to employes can accrue only from a high level of productivity and continued improvement in production and equipment. That places responsibility on both the worker and the management.

The agreement becomes effective in fifteen days. The manner in which it was reached represents not only a long step toward furthering harmonious relations between the union and the company, but is a fine illustration of the good feeling which can be maintained in such undertakings through the mechanics of collective bargaining.

The controversy over the length of skirts will finally be compromised, with each woman choosing a style in keeping with her understanding.

Future Of FM, Greatest Of Radio Reception Improvements

Every radio technician and a growing body of the listening public will agree that frequency modulation has been the greatest improvement in radio reception in years. Yet, as an economic adjunct to a great American industry, FM is still in its adolescence. This is not due to any technical shortcoming. FM has overcome static and made possible musical reception with the fidelity that you find only in the concert hall —and a good hall, at that. But it may be threatened by forces in the radio industry to which it offers strong competition.

All FM stations in a given metropolitan area have the same capabilities. Reception from all of them comes through with equal clarity. The only difference between FM stations is in programing. This is, of course, not at all the case with standard broadcasting. Many stations play a commanding part on the air not because of the excellence of their programs but because of their power and their position on the dial.

In a recent column, Jack Gould, radio editor of the New York Times, aired his well-informed suspicions that certain networks, powerful stations and even radio manufacturers have tended to play down FM for competitive reasons. They have been aided by the obstructive genius of James Petrillo, president of the American Federation of Musicians, who has decreed that there shall be no duplication of musical programs on standard and FM stations at the same time. Ironically, the czar of the organized musicians appears to be teaming up with powers which he has been fighting for years.

In the long run, any commercial opposition to the growth of FM is bound to fail. Sooner or later, the American who makes a better mousetrap will have the consuming public beating a path to his door. That is one of the virtues of the free enterprise system. But it is not unknown in the United States for a new invention to be held back for years because it might endanger large vested interests.

The danger to FM is not that it will be suppressed but that the spread of its great technical advantages will be delayed, to the loss of the radio listening public.

That reported gold strike north of Dawson, with pay dirt yielding $100 per pan, couldn't be a publicity stunt to popularize the Alcan highway, could it?

"Harmless" Souvenirs

In Newton, Kans., the other day a bazooka rocket exploded, killed three children and injured five others, all in the same family. The father said it was a "dud" rocket he brought home from the Army installation where he worked. In Hot Springs, Ark., another "harmless" shell exploded and injured six children.

Considering man's propensity for collecting souvenirs, it is probable that there will be more such incidents. Even during the war military authorities were unable to stop combat veterans from taking chances with captured explosives—often with fatal results. Anyone having souvenirs which might by any chance cause injury should make sure they really are completely harmless. The Internal Revenue Bureau's alcohol tax unit is the governmental agency to which to direct inquiries about this.

Fatalities of this sort are the result of inexcusable carelessness. Ex-GIs owe it to themselves, their relatives and the public to make certain that their souvenirs are harmless.

Dirt yielding more than $100 in gold per pan has been discovered north of Dawson. Here gold comes in nuggets labeled "butter."

BEE STING REACTION

RECENTLY, while fishing in a small lake with my friend, Hess, the quietness of the north woods was disrupted by a buzzing bee. The intruder soon became material for conversation and I related the experience of one of my colleagues while in service.

A 22 year old soldier was found in a state of coma and rushed to the hospital. The boy's skin was cold and clammy and covered with a rash, the lips were blue, and wheezing interfered with breathing. Treatment was given for shock and the obvious asthmatic condition. By the next day, consciousness had returned and he was well on the road to recovery.

He stated that, while in field duty, either a bee or wasp had stung him in the region of the right temple. Five minutes later he felt weak and dizzy and had the feeling of "popping out all over the skin." Then came a choking sensation, after which everything went blank.

This reaction is rather rare, as the majority of us merely develop swelling at the site of the nip. Some persons have been attacked by an entire hive, receiving anywhere from 100 to 1,000 bites without becoming unconscious or going into shock. The same can be said of others who are subjected to a sting or two day in and day out.

But with the soldier in question, the mishap had a different effect. He was either allergic to the venom or the insect injected some pollen that had adhered to its stinger. The latter was the best possibility, inasmuch as he was known to be sensitive to several weeds and had encountered asthmatic seizures since the age of 7. Furthermore, only a small amount of pollen is required to produce shock in an extremely allergic individual.

The discussion continued and the experience of a Los Angeles physician was cited. He was strolling along the beach at Santa Monica, without shoes. He happened to step on one of the many half-dead bees lying in the sand near the water line. Immediately a sharp pain was felt near the base of his left great toe. Ten minutes later, his palms began to tingle and stiffen and the lips became numb and swollen. Within a half-hour he became weak and suffered abdominal cramps.

Meanwhile, swelling of the eyelids and other parts of the body and tightness of the chest with hives and intense itching appeared. Medical aid was sought and, twenty minutes later, an injection of adrenalin gave complete relief.

It is fortunate that reactions of this type are few and far between. On the other hand, the outcome is good if adrenalin is available, especially when allergy is the basic cause. Some degree of immunity may be produced by desensitization. People who are suceptible to bees may react in a similar manner to the bites of hornets, yellow jackets, and other wasps, and even to ants.

I don't think you mean what you say as this would be impossible. On the other hand, if you refer to your bay-window, exercising the abdominal muscles will help, if you are ambitious. Otherwise buy an elastic support.

CHEST DISCOMFORT

Yes, some layman believe that any severe pain in the chest is due to heart disease. The physician is not likely to misdiagnose such symptoms.

VARIED DISORDERS

No, as the bones of the nose are some distance from the adenoids. I assume that the fracture has had attention and is healed by this time.

It Says Here

By BOB HOPE

King Neptune just shook hands with the President.

Yes, the tradition of the sea that "pollywogs," or new sailors who cross the equator, must be paddled, dunked into the ship pool, and have their heads shaved, was upheld even to the commander-in-chief. President Truman, on his return trip from Rio, was partly given the naval business.

The President said he wanted to be treated just like the rest of the gobs, but it was a little embarrassing for the sailors to comply, that's like biting the hand that could sign your court-martial.

But they went through with it. Of course, the President wasn't paddled in the usual way. The secretary of the navy just tapped him on the shoulder with a new appropriation bill.

And as for the head shaving, well, the sailors thought he had had enough cut when Congress got through working over his budget.

Miss Truman was aboard, too. She was all set to sing with the ship's orchestra when they found out one of the sailors was a Republican saboteur. He didn't have any valves on his clarinet. In fact, he had the only clarinet in the world built in Dewey buttons.

But I think the President deserves a lot of credit for proving himself a real sailor. Of course, when the 35th division finds out, they'll probably all turn Republicans.

Harry Truman, Without His Cronies, Does Good Job; Looking For New Radio Adviser After FCC Change; Rats Responsible For Grain Waste

Says DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON, Sept. 17.—When Harry Truman gets away from "government by cronies" and acts on his own, he usually rings the bell. When he acts hastily "on the advice of cronies," he frequently gets his feet wet—and the nation's, too. That is one deduction drawn from the present woes of White House radio adviser J. Leonard Reinsch.

Last spring, Reinsch, an applicant for a radio station in Cincinnati, Ohio, was turned down by the Federal Communications Commission. Shortly thereafter, FCCommissioner Ray Wakefield, Republican, who voted against Reinsch and his Cincinnati station, found himself out of a job. The White House had withdrawn Wakefield's name for reappointment.

In his place was appointed Congressman Robert Jones, not merely a Republican, but a strongly isolationist Republican, with a record of having voted against Roosevelt-Truman foreign policies both before and after Pearl Harbor.

Others besides Reinsch—notably ex-Speaker Sam Rayburn — had something to do with Jones' appointment. But Truman himself apparently realized little of what was going on, until able FCChairman Charley Denny called at the White House sometime later.

Truman Wakes Up

In his hand, Denny carried Broadcasting Magazine, mouthpiece of the big radio networks, announcing that he, Denny, was resigning as FCChairman with White House radio adviser Reinsch taking his place.

"I'm not planning to resign, Mr. President," explained the puzzled FCChairman, "but I will if you want me to."

Truman protested that it was all news to him, told Denny he needed him on the FCC, had no intention of letting him resign. Never slow to catch a point, Truman figured that Reinsch had planted the resignation story, was pulling wires to get Denny out and himself into the FCC.

Result No. 1: J. Leonard Reinsch is very much in the Presidential doghouse. Originally slated to accompany Truman to Rio de Janeiro, Reinsch's name was suddenly scratched from the list. The White House is now reported looking for a new radio adviser.

Result No. 2:—Truman realizes he did an injustice to FCCommissioner Ray Wakefield by replacing him with Congressman Jones. Wakefield, a Republican who has made a conscientious career out of government, was yanked off the FCC one day after Truman urged Princeton grads to make a career of government. Conscience-stricken, Truman now plans to make Wakefield either a Federal judge in California or a member of the Federal Power Commission — probably the latter.

Our No. 1 Enemy

It may sound hard to believe, but the huge shortage of this year's corn crop could be largely offset if the American people were able to eliminate one factor in their economy—rats.

Most people don't realize it, but one healthy rat eats or spoils around 100 pounds of grain per year. And while it's impossible to count the rat population, Interior Department experts estimate that rats are almost double the human population—probably totaling 250,000,000 in the U. S.

Entirely aside from the disease which rats spread from privy to pantry, and the havoc they wreak upon the waterfronts of American seaports, their effect upon the food supply of the United States is almost beyond realization. Between the time a farmer stores his corn in the fall and cleans out his corncrib in the summer, rats may have eaten the difference between profit and loss for the year. In addition, they spoil as much corn as they eat.

If the food destroyed by rats could be shipped overseas, this alone would about save Europe from its current danger of starvation.

At present one Government agency, the Fish and Wildlife Service of the Interior Department, is working on rat eradication. Handicapped by lack of funds, Government rat eradicators are able to do little beyond circulating anti-rat propaganda.

During the war, the U. S. Army, working with Interior Department experts, developed a new rat poison —"1080"—so deadly it will wipe out the rat population of a farm overnight. However, it is also deadly to other animals, and for that reason has not been put into general use.

Government experts recommend red squill as the best rat poison; also gas pumped into rats' underground burrows. Rat traps are too slow for the prolific rodent, which reproduces about as fast as he can be trapped.

Note—The Library of Congress has now been purged of rats after a lady was frightened by one in the reading room last year. Officials feared that ravenous rodents might make a diet of historical documents and paintings. Search of other Government buildings found no rats in the White House, though a few infested the White House lawn. There were plenty in the halls of Congress.

Shipping Costs Of European Aid Matter Of Concern In Capitol

By MARK SULLIVAN

Our aid to European countries, past and proposed, gives rise to much concern, leading to some contention whether we should go on with it on the scale proposed. Some of the concern and a considerable portion of the cost could be ended by a change in the process of our giving. The change would amount to saying to the European countries, in the words of a familiar American invitation to food, "Come and get it!"

Realization of this has come to important government officials and members of Congress and action about it is being planned. To understand the proposed action, it is necessary to grasp the whole process of our giving. The intricacy of the process, and some paradoxes that now exist in it, are one cause of concern on the part of our people.

The first step in the process is a grant of money to European countries by Congress. With this money agencies of our government acting for the European governments, buy wheat and other commodities. These purchases cause increases in prices, they are a large part of the high cost of living about which there is justified disquiet.

Ship Operation Costs Up

The wheat or other commodity is then put on ships. The ships are American owned, many of them owned by the government and chartered to private American firms. Operation of the ships is by American crews and these belong to powerful unions. Their pay is very high. The wage rate is nearly double what it was before the war. With extra pay for overtime, and practices recently introduced, some of them called with some justification, "feather-bedding", the labor cost of operating an American ship is now between three and four times pre-war. Added to this are other factors including high profits, which make the rates charged for shipping inordinately high. This is not modified by the fact, that up to 90 per cent of the profits are paid back to the government, as an incident of the contracts by which government owned ships are chartered to private firms.

As a result, an incredible proportion of the total cost of the food and other commodities we send to Europe is absorbed by the high cost of shipping it. It is estimated that out of a recent grant we made to Italy, for the purchase of goods, a third was consumed by the cost of shipping the goods.

This goes to the heart of the question now under intent discussion, and later to be answered by Congress, to what extent we should go on with the program of aid to European countries. A recent estimate of the amount we would be called for under the Marshall plan is some 15 billion dollars. And it is estimated that out of the 15 billion, between 2 and 3 billion would be consumed by cost of shipping.

Meanwhile, maritime workers in European countries are idle and—this is one of the paradoxes—their idleness is a cause of the need of Europe for money from us. Meanwhile also our government owns some 2 thousand Liberty ships lying idle. Out of this arises a suggestion, made earlier by ex-President Hoover in his February report on his Economic Mission to Germany: "If we could effect some temporary operation by German crews of say 75 Liberty ships now laid up . . ."

Would Charter U.S. Ships

The suggestion is now made concrete in a bill proposed by Congressman Weichel, Chairman of the Merchant Marine Committee of the House, which would permit our government to charter ships to foreigners at nominal rates. This would be done under carefully guarded conditions. One would confine the use of the ships to carrying goods reecived as aid from us. Another restriction would limit the time foreigners may keep the ships to 1951.

The existing condition which this proposal aims to correct contains many paradoxes. The amounts we grant to European countries are made larger to us by the cost of shipping, but by the same cause the amounts actually received by Europe are reduced. This affects all the commodities we send. About one commodity there is a special paradox. We send some steel to Europe and the steel consumes shipping space at high cost. At the same time European countries are using steel to build new ships in the face of some 2 thousand idle ships in America. An illustration of the fundamental paradox is the justified complaint by our army in Europe that too much of the appropriations we make for occupying Germany is consumed by the cost of shipping.

Baering Down On The News

By ARTHUR "BUGS" BAER

Got to straighten Mr. Bevin out on the adage that gold is where you find it. Bevvie, that means the first time and not the second.

There's no harm trying though. There's many an oldtimer who asked Lillian Russell for a kiss and didn't get it. And Lil didn't have an enemy in the world.

Bevvie went ahead on the theory that with busted brakes and going downhill there is no other direction to go. We admire his nerve and give him an extra five for neatness.

The root of all evil stays under Fort Knox. If we are going to do any book-keeping there it will not be with shovels.

Europe Hasn't Waked Up To The Real Situation In U. S. Congress

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Sept. 17.—When President Truman returns in a few days, the pressure will be begun to persuade him to call an extra session of Congress. It may be a fortnight before a decision is reached and, if a session is called, there is usually 30 days' notice in advance of the date of convening the two houses.

This means that Congress might reassemble by November 1st, but December 1st is the more plausible date.

By December most of the traveling members of Congress will be back in the United States. To wait for the regular session in January might mean considerable delay before the Marshall plan program is acted upon.

The real difficulty about a decision in favor of a special session for the immediate weeks ahead is that no comprehensive plan or formula has been worked out as yet. Members of Congress would be marking time while they waited for further information on European conditions.

It must be noted that while Congress can be called into session to consider a special program, there is no rule to prevent either or both Houses from taking up other subjects. If the Marshall program isn't ready, the way would be opened for lengthy debate and legislative tangles on many other controversial subjects.

Truman To Be On Spot

President Truman nevertheless will be on the spot when he gets back from his trip to Brazil. If he doesn't do anything about the special session, he will appear to Europeans as indifferent to their plight. If he sets the date too soon, he will antagonize many member of Congress who have made other plans for the ensuing few weeks, especially those who are abroad gathering first-hand information for the debate. Certainly, nothing will be gained by selecting an early date and much the same benefit can be obtained by an announcement that there will be a special session on December 1st. This will give everybody here in Washington at least ten weeks to prepare and it will be notice to the Europeans that they must have their plan for self-help ready by then, along with their list of items and formula for handling the help America is to give.

One thing is not clearly understood in Europe. If the Congress is asked to act on a plan that is not carefully worked out, the whole scheme may be indefinitely delayed while the Senators and Representatives wait for further action by the European countries or for more information.

Unfortunately, the knowledge abroad that America is sympathetic to the cause of European rehabilitation has led to mistaken beliefs that sums running up to a total of $20,000,000,000 or more may be forthcoming over a period of years.

Only Yearly Commitments

The truth is that no commitments are going to be made for longer than a year at a time. No Congress can commit its successor. The length of time of appropriation bills is two years and this is fixed by the Constitution.

As for the first year's appropriation, it is safe to assume that $3,000,000,000 is high and that a sum nearer $2,000,000,000 may be the initial appropriation. It will be surprising indeed if $2,000,000,000 a year is actually appropriated for as long as three years.

This is based on the talk among members of Congress and among some officials who know the sentiment in Congress. Aid is to be forthcoming for essential parts of an over-all program but there will be no indefinite commitments or blank checks given. Unless the plan offered is backed by leaders of both parties, it will not be approved. Unless the plan appeals to American public opinion as a sound program that will really help Europe to rehabilitate herself, the chances are that heavy opposition will appear in both parties.

The signs are that Europe hasn't waked up to the real situation in Congress.

THESE DAYS

REDISTRIBUTION OF WEALTH

JAMES Roosevelt, Democratic Chairman of California, got himself into one of those arguments on the radio which are called "Meet the Press." The newspapermen on that show are usually fast on their feet, and Larry Spivak of "The American Mercury" is a gadfly. So they got James Roosevelt on the subject of Communism, which is important in California where it acts as a substitute for marijuana for some of the Hollywood contingent. The redoubtable Jimmy, who had tried politics in New York, Massachusetts and Washington and who has now settled for California, was put on the spot when he was asked whether he believed "American Communists are loyal to the American way of life."

He answered:

"That is a rather difficult question to answer, because what you are trying to ask me to answer is whether or not I know what is in the minds of all the Communists, and of course I don't individually. I can't help but feel that those Communists who are open and frank enough to come out and say that they would like to see in the United States the kind of a government which is now operating in Russia, are not loyal to the American way of life.

"On the other hand, I must frankly say to you that I feel there are some Communists and some principle that they believe in which, if adopted in this country, would not be particularly bad for our American way of life; but it is the totalitarian part of it that I think we all disagree with, who are devoted to the American way of life."

Now that answer was wrong for the following reasons:

1. Anybody who wants to can know what is in the minds of Communists, American or otherwise. A wide literature consisting of books for all degrees of intelligence has been published by the Communists, their fellow-travellers and their opponents, setting forth their conceptions from the canonical writings of Marx, Engels, Bukharin, Lenin, Stalin, Trotzky, and a host of others in Europe, America and everywhere. There is also a periodical press of monthlies, weeklies and dailies. Only a lazy man can say that he does not know what is in the Communist mind because if he wants to know, it is all laid out for him to see.

2. Roosevelt makes a distinction between some and other Communists. This is nonsense. The Communist Party is a disciplined organization, the members of which must abide by party decisions or get out. There are constant expulsions and purges for what they call "deviations." Some of the most prominent persons in the party have been purged for "deviations," as for example, Trotzky from the Russian party or Earl Browder from the American party.

So after that answer, they had James Roosevelt by asking him which part of Communism he likes and it turned out that ". . . there is not sufficient distribution of wealth in the United States is something that I, for one, would agree with them about."

Wrong again. Communists do not believe in the redistribution of wealth. They believe in the nationalization of wealth. They do not believe that if Mr. Rockefeller's money were divided up among 145,000,000 Americans, it would do anybody any good. They do believe that all the means of production and distribution shall be owned and operated by the government.

In a word, they believe in the establishment of a state monopoly of the wealth of a people, that is, the natural resources, the tools, the means of communication and distribution and even the manpower. None of this has anything to do with the redistribution of wealth.

The remainder of the argument about the redistribution of wealth was too juvenile to bother with because James Roosevelt confused wealth with money, whereas national wealth consists principally in resources and tools. For instance, if a man owns $8,000,000, he does not have that in money, if he has any brains, but in receipts for the ownership or partial ownership of tools, resources, etc. In a word, he holds stocks, bonds, debentures, mortgages, and such devices which acknowledge investment in production or distribution.

Jimmy's heart may be all right but he needs a refresher course in elementary economics.

Today's Talk

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

Soul Attention

The body, the mind, and the soul, all need vacations! Each needs a sweeping out, a renewal, and new color. People give vacations to their bodies, and sometimes to their minds, but how rarely do they ever give their soul a vacation!

I would say that Nature is the greatest of all chefs to the soul, for she feeds it from every root, branch, and inch of ground that is hers—and it is all hers! Why is it, since the soul of man in his most precious possession, that he favors his body and mind above it? There is spiritual and eternal quality to the soul, and William James has said that "where quality is the thing sought after, the thing of supreme quality is cheap, whatever be the price one has to pay for it."

But when you purchase soul quality you do not do so with money, but with the rarest and priceless elements of your Goo-nature. You purchase it with white hyacinths, and with love. So deeply was W. H. Hudson's soul wrapped in Nature that he once wrote: "When I was compelled to exist shut ou from Nature in London for long periods, sick and poor id friendless, I could yet always feel that it was infinitely better to be than not t be."

I believe it was Emerson, who upon walking away from the burial of Thoreau, remarked: "What a beautiful soul!" I can easily understand Sun worshipers and Nature lovers. In my very amateurish way I am both a Sun and Nature worshiper and lover. And I believe that my inner natur is dail enriched by the fact. My body and m mind this past Summer were separate entities from my soul. I gave this soul of mine its own vacation. It danced upon Sunbeams. Its earliest prayers were from the face of a dewdrop. And before it said its evening prayer it slipped silently behind its favorite star.

The body and mind go out together, but the soul travels alone. It is invisible and yet it is as familiar to the intelligent as is electricity and something that is just as plainly recognized as in existence. The language of life—continual life—is the only language that the soul knows anything about.

Soul attention takes on great importance in the face of that famous sentence in the Bible where it asks: "What does it profit a man if he gain the whole world and lose his own soul?"

PITCHING HORSESHOES by Billy Rose

I give everybody fair warning I'm going on the radio next month.

Billy Rose

When it was announced the other day, I got a telegram of congratulation from the Radio Repairman's Association.

I'll be on five times a week—Monday through Friday. I'm planning something unique. No guest stars. No comedians. No listeners.

I've told my sponsors I expect to wind up owing Hooper ten points. This isn't modesty. I know enough about acting to know I can't act.

When I try to convince my missus I've been sitting up late with a sick friend, she tells me to shake the poker chips out of my hair.

A few days ago the network people invited me to attend a conference on publicity plans for my program. I was impressed. Around my office, a publicity conference consists of "Hey, Charlie, let's see if we can't get something in the papers."

The publicity conference was attended by twenty-two executives. They represented the network, my sponsors, and the advertising agency. "Anybody bring the football?" I flipped, to cover my nervousness.

My rough guess is that there was about two hundred dollars worth of barbering in the room.

I sat back and listened, wondering when one of the advertising fellows was going to spit on the table. They discussed various ways of stealing space in the papers. The idea I particularly liked was running a series of beauty contests which would be won by editors' wives.

Down near the end of the conference, the man at the head of the table asked if I had any ideas about building listener acceptance for my program. "Call it the Bing Crosby Show," I suggested. After some discussion, this was voted down.

After listening to some dandy ideas on how to get a mention in the Druggists' Gazette and the Beekeepers' Guide, I finally piped up, "How about some newspaper ads? That's a pretty good way to get your stuff in the papers."

This threw everybody into a tizzy. But the point was settled to everybody's satisfaction. It was decided to hold another conference.

The next night I cut some test records to see if I could get the bullfrog out of my throat and coax Nelson Eddy in. The technical man who was assigned to coach me is a real radio bug. The sound engineer told me this technician fixed up his gold inlays to bring in WOR, and that his little daughter finishes her "now-I-lay-me's" with "Listen in tomorrow night at the same time for another prayer."

It was a little frightening at first to hear my voice coming at me from outside my head. The first few seconds I felt like saying, "Arrest that man! He's an imposter!"

After two hours of fooling with sound mixers, microphones and filters, they got my voice to sound like my voice. But Lowell Thomas has nothing to worry about.

I've been playing with the idea of going on the radio for several years now. Eleanor made up my mind for me a few weeks back. "If you're going to do it," she said, "my advice is to do it before television catches on."

Chocolate Sodas U. S. Choice 8 To 1

NEW YORK, N. Y., (AP)—At American soda fountains, where most of the world's ice cream is sold, the favorite dish is chocolate sodas, 8 to 1, according to the Ice Cream Merchandising Institute, and they are served in paper cups, 5 to 1. Sundaes featuring chocolate lead the other flavors in that field, with pineapple, strawberry and cherry following in that order.

In one place chocolate takes a back seat. The Department of Commerce announces that Americans are now consuming 3 billion quarts of ice cream a year, about 21 quarts per capita, a new record. Half of it is vanilla, chocolate accounts for about 15 percent and 27 other flavors make up the remaining 35 percent, with strawberry in third place.

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

Yes, I'm Guilty!

Folks sometimes criticize us small-town editors for the way we often play up "little things" ahead of big . . . human, local news in place of world events.

I can't deny it. Read the Clarion and you'll learn about the Martins' golden wedding anniversary . . . about the community sing down by the river . . . the husking bee at Sober Hoskins', where neighbors helped husk the corn, and later drank sparkling beer together.

"Little things?" Maybe. But from where I sit, they add up to the bigger things we call America: The friendliness of small towns . . . the helping hand . . . the respect for one another's rights. And above all the love of fellowship and freedom—whether it's freedom to speak one's mind or choose between a glass of beer or buttermilk.

I figure that if everybody looks after the "little things," maybe the bigger things will take care of themselves.

Does Stomach Gas and Bloat Make You Feel Miserable?

If so, here is how you may get blessed relief in freeing your stomach from this nervous distress. It works this way:

Everytime food enters the stomach a vital gastric juice must flow normally to break-up certain food particles; else the food may ferment. Sour food, acid indigestion and gas frequently cause a morbid, touchy, fretful, peevish, nervous condition, loss of appetite, underweight, restless sleep, weakness.

To get real relief you must increase the flow of this vital gastric juice. Medical authorities, in independent laboratory tests on human stomachs, have by positive proof shown that SSS Tonic is amazingly effective in increasing this flow when it is too little or scanty due to a non-organic stomach disturbance. This is due to the SSS Tonic formula which contains special and potent activating ingredients.

Also, SSS Tonic helps build-up non-organic, weak, watery blood in nutritional anemia—so with a good flow of this gastric digestive juice, plus rich red-blood you should eat better, sleep better, feel better, work better, play better.

Avoid punishing yourself with overdoses of soda and other alkalizers to counteract gas and bloating when what you so dearly need is SSS Tonic to help you digest food for body strength and repair. Don't wait! Join the host of happy people SSS Tonic has helped. Millions of bottles sold. Get a bottle of SSS Tonic from your drug store today. SSS Tonic helps Build Sturdy Health.

Red Cross Handles Hurricane Inquiry

One inquiry was received at the local office of Allegany County Chapter, American Red Cross, yesterday regarding communication with the hurricane-stricken area of West Palm Beach, Fla., according to Mrs. Louise Dean, home service secretary.

A LaVale woman whose son, a veteran, is employed with a firm of civil engineers in that city, contacted the local Red Cross office for information concerning her son's safety.

Mrs. Dean said she was informed by Leo Wilhelm, Alexandria, Va., eastern area director of the Red Cross, that all communication lines are down and that no direct reports have been received from the stricken area.

Wilhelm said he was informed earlier that 60 mass shelters have been set up in West Palm Beach in addition to special shelters for hospital patients and children.

The area director added that Red Cross workers were unable to register all persons evacuated from the city, but that those taking refuge in the shelters are being registered. He said reports on hurricane victims will not be available until after communications are restored.

Mrs. Dean said that all inquiries regarding persons in the hurricane area will be referred to Alexandria.

Father Kelly Improves In Allegany Hospital

Rev. William E. Kelly, D. D., pastor of St. Martin's Catholic Church, Washington, D. C., who was admitted to Allegany Hospital after he was stricken on a B. and O. train while enroute to Cumberland from the Mayo Clinic, Rochester, N. Y., was reported in a good condition here yesterday.

Father Kelly, a native of Allegany county and former resident of Cumberland, has been in failing health since early last winter when he became ill in Florida. He made the trip from Rochester to Pittsburgh Tuesday by plane in an attempt to reach here in time for the graduation exercises of the Allegany Hospital School of Nursing, but missed a train connection in Pittsburgh and became ill while a passenger on a later train.

Thousands of tons of badly-needed food are laid waste by fire. Fires occur annually in 2,000 flour mills and elevators, 200 packing plants, 900 bakeries, 10,500 restaurants, 20,000 barns, 500 creameries and dairies and in thousands of groceries, warehouses and farms.

PINT-SIZE GLAMOR... This sub-sub-deb wears a bell-bottom bloomer play suit in sturdy cotton shirting trimmed with red or blue rickrack braid.

An army of more than 800,000 municipal fire fighters is maintained throughout the United States on a full-paid, 24-hour basis to guard against fire. This is 150,000 men larger than the entire United States Army in 1940.

Class Holds Election

Mrs. Lossie Flanagan was elected president of the W. W. White Memorial Bible Class of Calvary Methodist Church, Tuesday night. Others serving with her are Mrs. Jerry Baker, vice-president; Mrs. Josephine Biggs, recording secretary; Mrs. Edna Nelson, assistant secretary; and Mrs. Eleanor Perry, treasurer.

Melvin Heiskell was named teacher of the class, with Mrs. Biggs, assistant. Committees appointed include Mrs. Minnie Frantz, Mrs. Perry, Mrs. Elsie Graynolds, Sick Mrs. Alice Brooks, Mrs. Edna Nelson and Mrs. Alda Arrington, Ways and Means; and Mrs. Perry, Program.

In the five-year period from 1942- the number of fires increased 30 er cent, while the population increased less than five percent. This year there will occur approximately 830,000 fires, or nearly 2,300 per day.

To get real relief you must increase the flow of this vital gastric juice. Medical authorities, in independent laboratory tests on human stomachs, have by positive proof shown that SSS Tonic is amazingly effective in increasing this flow when it is too little or scanty due to a non-organic stomach disturbance. This is due to the S.S.S Tonic formula which contains special and potent activating ingredients.

Also, SSS Tonic helps build-up non-organic, weak, watery blood in nutritional anemia—so with a good flow of this gastric digestive juice, plus rich red-blood you should eat better, sleep better, feel better, work better, play better.

Avoid punishing yourself with overdoses of soda and other alkalizers to counteract gas and bloating when what you so dearly need is SSS Tonic to help you digest food for body strength and repair. Don't wait! Join the host of happy people SSS Tonic has helped. Millions of bottles sold. Get a bottle of SSS Tonic from your drug store today. SSS Tonic helps Build Sturdy Health.

Red Cross Handles Hurricane Inquiry

One inquiry was received at the local office of Allegany County Chapter, American Red Cross, yesterday regarding communication with the hurricane-stricken area of West Palm Beach, Fla., according to Mrs. Louise Dean, home service secretary.

A LaVale woman whose son, a veteran, is employed with a firm of civil engineers in that city, contacted the local Red Cross office for information concerning her son's safety.

Mrs. Dean said she was informed by Leo Wilhelm, Alexandria, Va., eastern area director of the Red Cross, that all communication lines are down and that no direct reports have been received from the stricken area.

Wilhelm said he was informed earlier that 60 mass shelters have been set up in West Palm Beach in addition to special shelters for hospital patients and children.

The area director added that Red Cross workers were unable to register all persons evacuated from the city, but that those taking refuge in the shelters are being registered. He said reports on hurricane victims will not be available until after communications are restored.

Mrs. Dean said that all inquiries regarding persons in the hurricane area will be referred to Alexandria.

Father Kelly Improves In Allegany Hospital

Rev. William E. Kelly, D. D., pastor of St. Martin's Catholic Church, Washington, D. C., who was admitted to Allegany Hospital after he was stricken on a B. and O. train while enroute to Cumberland from the Mayo Clinic, Rochester, N. Y., was reported in a good condition here yesterday.

Father Kelly, a native of Allegany county and former resident of Cumberland, has been in failing health since early last winter when he became ill in Florida. He made the trip from Rochester to Pittsburgh Tuesday by plane in an attempt to reach here in time for the graduation exercises of the Allegany Hospital School of Nursing, but missed a train connection in Pittsburgh and became ill while a passenger on a later train.

Thousands of tons of badly-needed food are laid waste by fire. Fires occur annually in 2,000 flour mills and elevators, 200 packing plants, 900 bakeries, 10,500 restaurants, 20,000 barns, 500 creameries and dairies and in thousands of groceries, warehouses and farms.

PINT-SIZE GLAMOR... This sub-sub-deb wears a bell-bottom bloomer play suit in sturdy cotton shirting trimmed with red or blue rickrack braid.

An army of more than 800,000 municipal fire fighters is maintained throughout the United States on a full-paid, 24-hour basis to guard against fire. This is 150,000 men larger than the entire United States Army in 1940.

Class Holds Election

Others serving with her are Mrs. Jerry Baker, vice-president; Mrs. Josephine Biggs, recording secretary; Mrs. Edna Nelson, assistant secretary; and Mrs. Eleanor Perry, treasurer.

Melvin Heiskell was named teacher of the class, with Mrs. Biggs, assistant. Committees appointed include Mrs. Minnie Frantz, Mrs Perry, Mrs. Elsie Graynolds, Sick Mrs. Alice Brooks, Mrs. Edna Nelson and Mrs. Alda Arrington, Ways and Means; and Mrs. Perry, Program.

In the five-year period from 1942- the number of fires increased 30 er cent, while the population increased less than five percent. This year there will occur approximately 830,000 fires, or nearly 2,300 per day.

Gold Strike Rumors Turn Out To Be False

Rumors of a gold strike five days ago on the Hammond Elliott farm about five miles from Centerville, Pa., have turned out to be false with rocks taken from a 12-foot deep hole proving to be flint and limestone.

Elliott was plowing a field and when the horses crossed the ground they broke through. Examination of the hole, about four feet in diameter showed that it is drained at the bottom by a narrow fissure which leads off in two directions and plunges deeper, possibly leading to an underground stream.

Elliott said he had lived on the farm and plowed the field since he was a boy, and that this was the first indication the underground "cavern" existed.

Will Pay Back Wages

One hundred and one employers in Maryland have agreed to make restitution of $77,235 in back wages to 2,138 employes because of violations of federal wages and hours laws discovered during the fiscal year ended June 30, according to an announcement made yesterday by Frank J. G. Dorsey, regional director of the Wage and Hour and Public Contracts Divisions, of the U. S. Department of Labor.

Marylanders Fined In Bedford County

BEDFORD, Pa. — Three out-of-state men paid fines of $50 each and costs when brought into Bedford by state game wardens who charged them with hunting in Bedford county without non-resident licenses.

Charles Crawford, Cumberland, Md., and Henry Franklin Rowlan and Henry L Fletcher, both of Flintstone, Md., were arrested near a small lake in South Hampton Township. According to the game wardens, each of the men possessed a gun at the lake where deer frequently go for water.

Game wardens were watching the lake where it was alleged deer had been killed illegally in the past, but the three men were not charged with killing deer.

Valley Road Man Hurt In Fall From Building

William Weaver, 28, Valley Road, was treated in Memorial Hospital yesterday for chest injuries suffered in a fall from a building.

Floyd Bohrer, Jr., 7, Hyndman, Pa., was treated in the same hospital yesterday for a mashed toe after a concrete block fell on his right foot, and Lorraine Dittmer, 19, Ridgeley, W. Va., for a lacerated left index finger after she cut herself with a knife.

Arnold Lee French, 7-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. E. W. French, 623 Laing Avenue, who suffered possible head injuries when he was hit by a car Tuesday night, was reported improved yesterday.

KARL MAUKERT RITES

A high requiem mass will be celebrated in the Church of the Assumption, Bellevue, Pittsburgh, Pa., tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock for Karl M. Maukert, 51, principal and vice president of the Duff Business College, Pittsburgh, who died Tuesday in a Pittsburgh hospital following a heart attack suffered in his office Monday.

Burial will be in North Side Cemetery, Westview. The body is at the O'Shea Funeral Home, 460 Lincoln Street, Bellevue.

Mr. Maukert, who had been associated with Duff's Business College for 28 years, was a former resident of this city and was a graduate and former instructor at Catherman's Business School here.

Two Persons Fined

Frederick Hershberger, Perry Street, Ridgeley, W. Va., was fined $5 and costs last night when he was charged with drunkeness at a hearing before Justice of the Peace C. A. Jewell. He was arrested Tuesday by Officer Alva L. Diehl.

Mrs. Charles Cassel, Ridgeley, was fined $25 and costs last night by Justice Jewell on a charge of interfering with an officer. Chief Jesse Elkins, who preferred the charge, said the woman interfered when he arrested her husband following a disturbance Saturday.

Marshall Asks

But the standout performance today was Marshall's speech, his first before a United Nations organization.

The Russians refrained from joining the burst of applause which greeted Marshall at the end of his 25-minute talk.

With soldierly directness and in simple words Marshall demanded, on behalf of the United States, that:

1. The Assembly create an interim committee on peace and security, composed of every member state, which would be, in effect, a year-around sitting of the Assembly.

Would Restrict Veto

2. The 55 member nations should restrict the veto to matters concerning threats of war, lifting it from such questions as peaceful settlement of disputes among nations and from applications for membership in the United Nations.

3. The Assembly fix responsibility in the Balkans situation, call upon Yugoslavia, Bulgaria and Albania to stop helping guerrillas in Greese, and set up a commission to see that these measures are carried out.

4. The Assembly find a satisfactory solution for the Palestine case, with the United States inclined to approve the partition plan favored by the majority of the special United Nations Committee on Palestine.

5. The Assembly take steps to insure the promised independence of Korea, now deferred by continuing disagreements between the United States and Russia.

6. If the Russian-Polish minority persists in disagreement with the majority in the United Nations Atomic Energy Commission, the Assembly might have to conclude that the commission has failed to carry out its task of finding a control for atomic energy.

7. As soon as conditions of international harmony make it possible a system of regulating conventional armaments must be formulated.

ed to make recommendations to President Truman on future food export programs.

Some Agriculture Department officials expect this country to announce formally that, in view of its indicated short corn crop, it will be unable to export during this crop year the 500,000,000 bushels or more of grain and grain products which officials earlier had indicated possible.

Should grain exports for the remainder of the crop year ending next June 30 be reduced to the November level, total shipments would be only about 425,000,000 bushels, compared with 575,000,000 last year. Undersecretary of Agriculture Norris E. Dodd said on his return from Europe this week that foreign needs are greater this year than last.

Moorefield would like to schedule a game for November 7.

Mummers Parade Scheduled Tonight

Tomorrow night over 30 organization will participate in the Firemen's Night parade which will be led by Mayor Alex Burt and the Town Council. John Gunter will be the parade marshal.

The line of march will start at White Way Inn on State and will take the following course: State Street to Main Street to Union Street to Jackson Street to the VFW post home to Allegany Street to Front Street where the marchers will disband.

Nine Men Enlist In Regular Army

Capt. Laurence M. Bairstow announced yesterday that nine men were sent from the local Army Recruiting station to Baltimore for processing into the Army.

A veteran of four years in the Merchant Marine, Williams Elsworth Michaels, Bayard, W. Va., signed for three years with the Air Force.

James Thurman Whitacre and Darrell Belmont Male, both of Paw Paw, W. Va., enlisted in the Air Force for three years and James Frank Shanholtz and Paul Donald Goetz, Valley Road, this city, signed for duty with the Regular Army, unassigned, for three years.

George William Timmerman, Deer Park, Md., enlisted for three years in the Armored Force, and Charles Perry Patsy, also of Deer Park, requested duty with the Regular Army in the European theater for three years.

William Daniel Robert Lease, Valley Road, enlisted with the 25th Infantry Division on occupation duty in Japan.

tainable last week. Mail order houses are shipping 30 days behind orders.

Plaster lathe has been scarce from time to time. Nails have been a local problem since before the war, and some contractors are buying them out of the city. Mail order houses have been shipping nails on order.

While the shortage of materials which existed here a year ago has eased considerably, and while some builders admit they are buying some items out of the city because of price and scarcity, the general picture on building materials is believed improved over last year.

Need More Apprentices

As the demand for homes increases, and materials become more plentiful, it becomes more and more evident there is a wide open field in the building trades for skilled labor.

Union officials said last night there are only two plaster apprentices here, and more should be taken on to learn the trade. There are a number of carpenter apprentices, but more could be placed. Bricklayers, stone masons and plumbers are also too few to handle the business that has developed here.

Real estate men believe the demand for new construction, and inability of building trades and building industry to meet the demand will lead to an increased interest in the purchase of older homes in the city and area.

James B. Reinhart, president of the Cumberland Real Estate Board said the number of prospective buyers of old properties slackened off last spring, as new building opened up with more materials available, and warmer weather.

Reinhart said many prospective home builders have given up the idea of building in the next couple of years, and have concluded they should buy now, and build later. Prices for existing properties remain about the same as they did last spring, Reinhart said.

Buyer resistence also developed in recent months because of financing difficulties. A number of the lending institutions will no longer finance a veteran who desires to purchase a home unless he is willing to put 10 per cent of his own money into the structure.

Minimum Speculation

Both Reinhart and D. Clifford Goodfellow, former board president, agree there has been no great change in selling prices for the past few years. They do not believe prices will go higher and maintain they would drop if there was sufficient building:

Speculative buying has been at a minimum, Reinhart claims, with price being a factor. For the most part he said people are buying homes because they need them and not for investments.

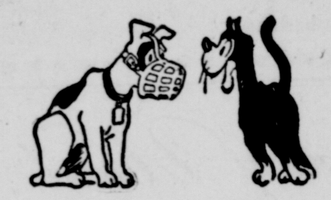

Reinhart sees no immediate prospect for anything like major relief in the housing situation here.

Prices Too High

Goodfellow commented that prices are too high even though they are holding and that he believes the trend will be downward rather than upward.

The dealers said just as many places are being offered for sale as previously, but that there has been no disposition on the part of large holders of real estate to sell although rental income is down.

There has been considerable building of certain type in the area and this has eased somewhat the situation, but dealers say the demand for homes to rent and apartments is just as great as ever.

Delinquency Fight Needs Parents' Aid

Juvenile delinquency is not only a police problem but a community problem, said Chief of Police R. Emmett Flynn and Detective Edwin R. Lilya yesterday in stating that more co-operation and support on the part of parents would greatly aid police in curbing what juvenile delinquency does exist in Cumberland.

Lilya said the National Probation Association defines a delinquent child as: 1. One who has violated any laws of the state or regulation of a sub-division of the state. 2. One who by reason of being wayward or habitually disobedient is uncontrolled by his parents, guardian or custodians. 3. One who is habitually truant from from school or home. 4. One who habitually so deports himself as to injure or endanger the morals or health of himself or others.

"Accelerators toward delinquency," Lilya said, include loss of parents at an early age, low economic income, poor housing conditions, broken homes, unfavorable home conditions and sub-normal intelligence among others.

In Cumberland the majority of juveniles arrested range from 14 years old downward. Looting of automobiles, breaking and entering cases and vandalism are the main offenses, but no serious offenses have been reported recently.

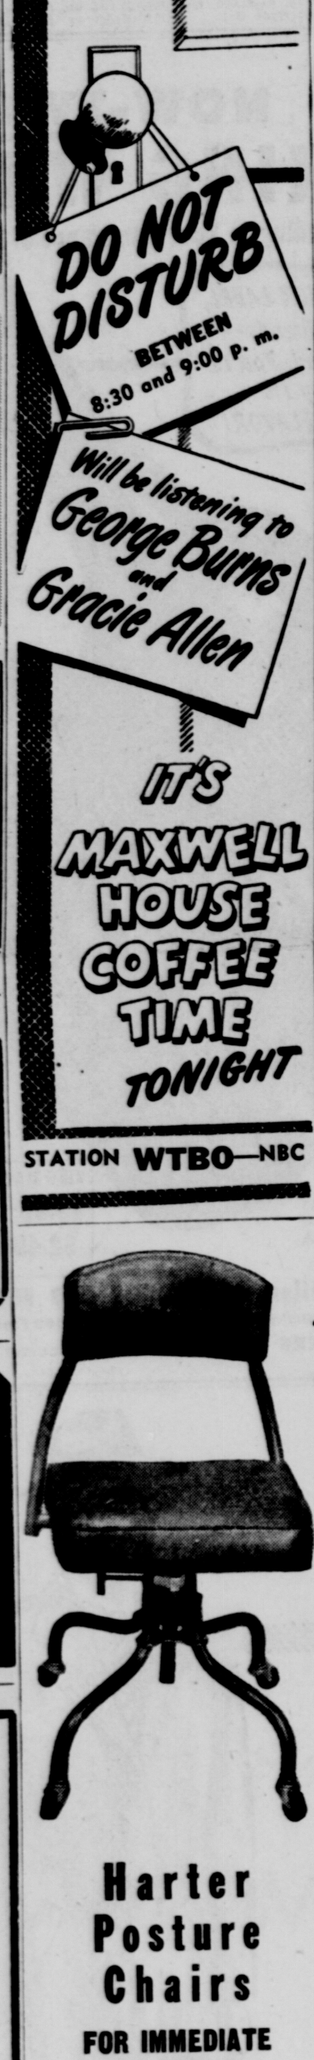

Drivers Forfeit Bond

Arrested on a careless driving charge on Maryland Avenue early yesterday morning, Glenn E. Brooks, 39 Race Street, forfeited $10 bond yesterday in Police Court.

J. E. Johnston, Route 2, forfeited $5 in Police Court on a charge of failing to observe a stop sign on Baltimore Street early yesterday morning.

Frank Wilson, Moorefield, W. Va., was arrested early yesterday in the Queen City Station washroom on a charge of vagrancy. Lt. James E. Van said Wilson had been sleeping at the station on recent nights.

The name "Jemmy" found on engravings of the 18th century means James Worsdale, who died in 1767.

Delinquency Fight Needs Parents' Aid

Juvenile delinquency is not only a police problem but a community problem, said Chief of Police R. Emmett Flynn and Detective Edwin R. Lilya yesterday in stating that more co-operation and support on the part of parents would greatly aid police in curbing what juvenile delinquency does exist in Cumberland.

Lilya said the National Probation Association defines a delinquent child as: 1. One who has violated any laws of the state or regulation of a sub-division of the state. 2. One who by reason of being wayward or habitually disobedient is uncontrolled by his parents, guardian or custodians. 3. One who is habitually truant from from school or home. 4. One who habitually so deports himself as to injure or endanger the morals or health of himself or others.

"Accelerators toward delinquency," Lilya said, include loss of parents at an early age, low economic income, poor housing conditions, broken homes, unfavorable home conditions and sub-normal intelligence among others.

In Cumberland the majority of juveniles arrested range from 14 years old downward. Looting of automobiles, breaking and entering cases and vandalism are the main offenses, but no serious offenses have been reported recently.

Drivers Forfeit Bond

Arrested on a careless driving charge on Maryland Avenue early yesterday morning, Glenn E. Brooks, 39 Race Street, forfeited $10 bond yesterday in Police Court.

J. E. Johnston, Route 2, forfeited $5 in Police Court on a charge of failing to observe a stop sign on Baltimore Street early yesterday morning.

Frank Wilson, Moorefield, W. Va., was arrested early yesterday in the Queen City Station washroom on a charge of vagrancy. Lt. James E. Van said Wilson had been sleeping at the station on recent nights.

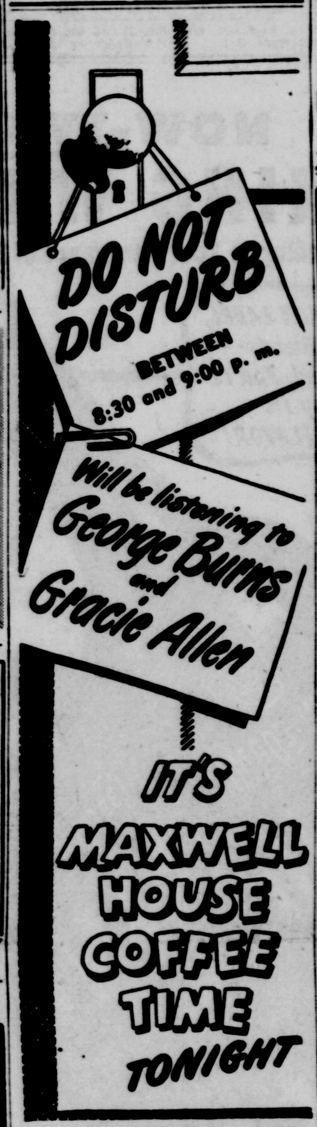

The name "Jemmy" found on engravings of the 18th century means James Worsdale, who died in 1767.

A frequent observation around a race track is that, "horses come in all shapes and sizes," to which the late John E. Madden was wont to append: "Yes, but some run faster than others."

The fox is not a controlling factor in the pheasant population, studies recently completed in Wisconsin, North Dakota and Ohio indicate.

Boxing Commission Suspends Hubert

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 17 (AP)—Pennsylvania Boxing Commissioner John Montgomery announced tonight he has suspended middleweight Tee Hubert of Washington, D. C., for failing to put forth his best effort in a fight against Tommy Yarosz, Monaca, Pa., in Zivic Arena last night.

If the ruling is upheld by the full commission, Hubert will be unable to fight in any state which operates under regulations of the National Boxing Association. The commission will meet Oct. 1 in Philadelphia.

Referee Buck McTierman stopped the Hubert-Yarosz bout in the fifth round last night after, he said, he had "repeatedly warned Hubert to fight." The bout was awarded to Yarosz and Hubert's share of the purse was held up.

A frequent observation around a race track is that, "horses come in all shapes and sizes," to which the late John E. Madden was wont to append: "Yes, but some run faster than others."

The fox is not a controlling factor in the pheasant population, studies recently completed in Wisconsin, North Dakota and Ohio indicate.

Boxing Commission Suspends Hubert

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 17 (AP)—Pennsylvania Boxing Commissioner John Montgomery announced tonight he has suspended middleweight Tee Hubert of Washington, D. C., for failing to put forth his best effort in a fight against Tommy Yarosz, Monaca, Pa., in Zivic Arena last night.

If the ruling is upheld by the full commission, Hubert will be unable to fight in any state which operates under regulations of the National Boxing Association. The commission will meet Oct. 1 in Philadelphia.

Referee Buck McTierman stopped the Hubert-Yarosz bout in the fifth round last night after, he said, he had "repeatedly warned Hubert to fight." The bout was awarded to Yarosz and Hubert's share of the purse was held up.

NEW YORK, Sept. 17 —(INS)— American athletes eat too much.

That's Dan Ferris' answer to pre-Olympic game alibis from foreign sources that if we win it will be because we are well fed and if they lose it will be only because they are undernourished.

Daniel J. Ferris

"That," says the veteran boss of the AAU, "is pure unadulterated tripe.

"If we win the Olympics, and I'm sure we will, it will be because we have the best athletes and not because our boys have had more to eat than the foreigners."

Dan thinks our boys would do even better if they ate less.

"I came to that conclusion after watching how little the Finns and Swedes ate even when plenty of food was available for them.

"I was surprised to note how little such wonderful milers like Strand and Hagg put away at the dinner table and nobody can say they were short of either stamina or speed."

Dan says the Argentine has offered to feed all the athletes at the Olympic Games but he doesn't think a few steaks at the last minute would help them any.

"If you paid any attention to some of this propaganda from foreign sources," Dan added, "you'd suppose that the athletes in Europe were virtually ready to drop dead from undernourishment.

"But I didn't notice any of the athletes collapsing when rowing against young Jack Kelley when he won the diamond sculls and I can't think of anything requiring more stamina than rowing.

"And recently we had 10 foreigners who finished ahead of all Americans in the Boston marathon and I think you'll admit those foreigners must have been getting plenty of vitamins to be able to run and beat our best over the 36-mile route. You don't run 36 miles if you're undernourished."

Dan says the only athletes who really are short of food are the Finns from whom the Russians took everything.

And speaking of the Russians, he noted with some amusement that the athletic powers of other nations are not as eager to knowtow to them as the political leaders.

"They wanted to join the Olympic federation only on their own terms but their terms were rejected," Dan said.

"First they said they would come in only if they could have a place on the executive committee. That was refused.

"Then they demanded that Russia be one of the three officials languages of the Olympic Games.

"German, English and French used to be the three official languages. Now German has been dropped. But again the Russian demand was rejected.

"Next they wanted their paid athletes to start all over again as amateurs. This would be the same as if Joe DiMaggio were to ask that he be considered an amateur ballplayer provided he wasn't paid in future. That, too, was rejected."

Dan said he didn't know whether the Russians would send a male team to the games. They surely will send a female team because they expect their strapping amazons to win.

But I gathered the impression that neither Dan himself nor the powers that be in other countries care whether Russia stays aloof or comes in.

If they come, they'll be welcome, provided they go by the rules already in force and not by any rules they may want. If they don't come in, nobody is going to cry about it.

Forbes Chief Wins Rich Harness Race

Wins $19,100 Purse, 28,500 Witness Event

DELAWARE, O., Sept. 17—(AP)—Forbes Chief, brown colt from the Newport Stock Farm of South Plainfield, N. J., won the second $38,200 "little brown jug" for three year old pacers in straight heats today, each in 2:05 to take down a purse of $19,100.

The event, feature of the Delaware County Fair Grand Circuit meeting, attracted 28,500 spectators.

Goose Bay, bad mannered brown colt from the Saunders Mills Stables of Toledo, took second money of $9,550 as Jakey Mahoney piloted the three-year-old to second and fifth positions.

P. M. (Doc) Parshall, veteran reinsman from Urbana, O., who returned this week to the "roaring grand," was pocketed in the first heat and finished ninth with Marcellus, owned by O. L. Mears of Toledo. He found racing room in the second and a driving finish gave him the place spot and $5,730 for third in the race.

Shamrock Joe, from the Shamrock Farms of Frankford, Del., finished third in each heat for fourth place and $1,910, while Poplar Byrd of Poplar Hill Farm of Lexington, Ky., was fourth each time and his fifth place purse was also $1,910.

City League All-Stars Win In Leith Benefit Tilt, 4-0

Hospitalized Umpire Will Receive $291

All-Stars of the Rocking Chair Softball League were able to fathom City League pitching for only three singles yesterday as the All-Stars of the latter circuit scored a 4 to 0 triumph in a benefit game staged yesterday at Community Park.

The game netted the generous sum of $291 for George Leith, umpire of both circuits, who is recuperating from a recent brain operation performed at Johns Hopkins Hospital, Baltimore. Approximately 1,200 witnessed the well played contest. A total of $184 worth of tickets was sold at the gate. The remanider was obtained through the advance sale of pasteboards.

Thomas E. Gilchrist, Jr., of the Wilson Hardware Company donated two softballs for the game. The park was turned over to the teams free of charge by the American Legion and umpires gave their services gratis.

The purse was accepted by William "Bill" Stevenson, well known baseball player, who is a brother-in-law of George Leith.

Threaten In First

Eddie Decker, starting pitcher for the City Leaguers, got into a bad jam in the first inning but he pulled out of it O. K., yielding two hits in three frames, Allan Sheetz gave up one hit in three heats and Jim Roby pitched hitless ball in the last two stanzas.

Mike Mulvey's walk, Crabtree's sacrifice and Penner's single netted the City League's first run of the game in the opening stanza. In the 6th Jimmie Smith walked, went to second on "Pooch" Orndorff's sacrifice and scampered home on "Sonny" Wilson's base wallop.

Penner Clouts Triple

Two runs were marked up in the 7th. Mulvey singled and was forced at second by Ray Cleggett. Penner tripled to right, scoring Cleggett, and came home later on Tommy Smith's safety.

The Rocking Chair team threatened in the first when Whiteman walked, Gerdeman singled, DeLuca sacrificed and Cavanaugh walked to fill the bases. Jim Rice then flied out and Pete Burkey went out on a grounder, ending the threat. After one away in the third, DeLuca singled, pilfered second, and Cavanaugh walked. But Decker turned on the heat by whiffing Rice and Burkey flied out.

Norman Gerdeman's catch of Irvin Johnson's foul tip was the game's best fielding play.

Dizzy Dean Signs Browns' Contract

Duration Will Depend On The Other Teams

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 17 (AP)—Trying to brighten the waning days of the American League season for their cash customers, the St. Louis Browns today signed Jerome Herman (Dizzy) Dean to a player contract, the duration of which the former pitching great of the St. Louis Cardinals wise-cracked "depends on the other team.'

Regardless of his success, "Old Diz," out of baseball uniform since 1941 and now a radio sports announcer here, declared he was signed to pitch only one game.

The big righthander, who won 30 games in one season at the height of his career with the Cardinals during the Gas House Gang era, said the "comeback" resulted from a number of requests by fans and his own desire to test his "high hard one" against the hitters of today.

Terms of the contract, a formality to make it legal in a baseball way, were not disclosed, but Dean declared "it's the best contract I ever got, since it's the first one I haven't sent back for more money."

BOSTON, Sept. 17 (AP) — Only a broken bat single, looped into right field by Wally Judnich in the seventh inning, kept Red Sox pitcher Joe Dobson from hurling a no hitter today as he blanked the Browns 4-0 in the second game of a doubleheader before 7,064 fans who saw the cellar dwelling St. Louis club win the opener 9-4.

Dobson, the most dependable hurler in this not so happy Red Sox season, struck out four of the Brownies and walked six as he won his 17th victory of the season. He has lost seven. Box:

Card Fan Refuses To Concede Flag

Prine Seeks Bleacher Seat At Yankee Park

NEW YORK, Sept. 17 (AP) — A St. Louis Cardinal fan who refuses to concede the National League pennant to the Brooklyn Dodgers today became the first person in line for the opening game of the world series—at least 13 days ahead of time.

Joseph H. Prine, 57-year-old retired army sergeant from St. Louis, arrived by bus last night and at 10 a. m., today he took up his position at the bleacher entrance to Yankee stadium, home park of New York's American League Champions.

Neatly attired in a dark blue suit with a St. Louis Cardinal souvenir button in his lapel, Prine had his suitcase beside him and carried a ball and bat, each marked with the word "Cards."

He said he had been first in line for several World Series openers since 1906 and wanted to "do it again." Asked what he would do if the Cardinals, trailing by 8½ games, failed to win the pennant, Prine said:

"Well, in that case, I'll be the first at the world series anyway. But the Cards aren't beaten yet."

Buffalo Bisons Even Series With Chiefs

SYRACUSE, Sept. 17 (INS) — Stocky Clem Hausmann swept his righthanded "hooks" past Syracuse batters tonight to lead the Buffalo Bisons to a 3 to 1 triumph over the Chiefs.

The Buffalo victory in this second game of the International League Governors Cup playoff finals knotted the best of seven series at one game apiece.

Howie Fox, a tall right-hander, who won 19 games during the season, matched Hausmann for seven innings. But in the eighth, the Bisons clipped Fox for a tie-breaking

INTERNATIONAL NEWS SERVICE SPORTS WRITER

NEW YORK, Sept. 17 —(INS)— American athletes eat too much.

That's Dan Ferris' answer to pre-Olympic game alibis from foreign sources that if we win it will be because we are well fed and if they lose it will be only because they are undernourished.

Daniel J. Ferris

"That," says the veteran boss of the AAU, "is pure unadulterated tripe.

"If we win the Olympics, and I'm sure we will, it will be because we have the best athletes and not because our boys have had more to eat than the foreigners."

Dan thinks our boys would do even better if they ate less.

"I came to that conclusion after watching how little the Finns and Swedes ate even when plenty of food was available for them.

"I was surprised to note how little such wonderful milers like Strand and Hagg put away at the dinner table and nobody can say they were short of either stamina or speed."

Dan says the Argentine has offered to feed all the athletes at the Olympic Games but he doesn't think a few steaks at the last minute would help them any.

"If you paid any attention to some of this propaganda from foreign sources," Dan added, "you'd suppose that the athletes in Europe were virtually ready to drop dead from undernourishment.

"But I didn't notice any of the athletes collapsing when rowing against young Jack Kelley when he won the diamond sculls and I can't think of anything requiring more stamina than rowing.

"And recently we had 10 foreigners who finished ahead of all Americans in the Boston marathon and I think you'll admit those foreigners must have been getting plenty of vitamins to be able to run and beat our best over the 36-mile route. You don't run 36 miles if you're undernourished."

Dan says the only athletes who really are short of food are the Finns from whom the Russians took everything.

And speaking of the Russians, he noted with some amusement that the athletic powers of other nations are not as eager to knowtow to them as the political leaders.

"They wanted to join the Olympic federation only on their own terms but their terms were rejected," Dan said.

"First they said they would come in only if they could have a place on the executive committee. That was refused.

"Then they demanded that Russia be one of the three officials languages of the Olympic Games.

"German, English and French used to be the three official languages. Now German has been dropped. But again the Russian demand was rejected.

"Next they wanted their paid athletes to start all over again as amateurs. This would be the same as if Joe DiMaggio were to ask that he be considered an amateur ballplayer provided he wasn't paid in future. That, too, was rejected."

Dan said he didn't know whether the Russians would send a male team to the games. They surely will send a female team because they expect their strapping amazons to win.

But I gathered the impression that neither Dan himself nor the powers that be in other countries care whether Russia stays aloof or comes in.

If they come, they'll be welcome, provided they go by the rules already in force and not by any rules they may want. If they don't come in, nobody is going to cry about it.

Forbes Chief Wins Rich Harness Race

Wins $19,100 Purse, 28,500 Witness Event

DELAWARE, O., Sept. 17—(AP)—Forbes Chief, brown colt from the Newport Stock Farm of South Plainfield, N. J., won the second $38,200 "little brown jug" for three year old pacers in straight heats today, each in 2:05 to take down a purse of $19,100.

The event, feature of the Delaware County Fair Grand Circuit meeting, attracted 28,500 spectators.

Forbes Chief, owned by Octave Blake, president of the grand circuit, was driven by 27-year-old Del Cameron of Boston, who brought the highly favored winner to the front in stretch drives each time.

Mears of Toledo. He found racing room in the second and a driving finish gave him the place spot and $5,730 for third in the race.

Hospitalized Umpire Will Receive $291

All-Stars of the Rocking Chair Softball League were able to fathom City League pitching for only three singles yesterday as the All-Stars of the latter circuit scored a 4 to 0 triumph in a benefit game staged yesterday at Community Park.

The game netted the generous sum of $291 for George Leith, umpire of both circuits, who is recuperating from a recent brain operation performed at Johns Hopkins Hospital, Baltimore. Approximately 1,200 witnessed the well played contest. A total of $184 worth of tickets was sold at the gate. The remanider was obtained through the advance sale of pasteboards.

Thomas E. Gilchrist, Jr., of the Wilson Hardware Company donated two softballs for the game. The park was turned over to the teams free of charge by the American Legion and umpires gave their services gratis.

The purse was accepted by William "Bill" Stevenson, well known baseball player, who is a brother-in-law of George Leith.

Threaten In First

Eddie Decker, starting pitcher for the City Leaguers, got into a bad jam in the first inning but he pulled out of it O. K., yielding two hits in three frames, Allan Sheetz gave up one hit in three heats and Jim Roby pitched hitless ball in the last two stanzas.

Mike Mulvey's walk, Crabtree's sacrifice and Penner's single netted the City League's first run of the game in the opening stanza. In the 6th Jimmie Smith walked, went to second on "Pooch" Orndorff's sacrifice and scampered home on "Sonny" Wilson's base wallop.

Penner Clouts Triple

Two runs were marked up in the 7th. Mulvey singled and was forced at second by Ray Cleggett. Penner tripled to right, scoring Cleggett, and came home later on Tommy Smith's safety.

The Rocking Chair team threatened in the first when Whiteman walked, Gerdeman singled, DeLuca sacrificed and Cavanaugh walked to fill the bases. Jim Rice then flied out and Pete Burkey went out on a grounder, ending the threat. After one away in the third, DeLuca singled, pilfered second, and Cavanaugh walked. But Decker turned on the heat by whiffing Rice and Burkey flied out.

Norman Gerdeman's catch of Irvin Johnson's foul tip was the game's best fielding play.

Dizzy Dean Signs Browns' Contract

Duration Will Depend On The Other Teams

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 17 (AP)—Trying to brighten the waning days of the American League season for their cash customers, the St. Louis Browns today signed Jerome Herman (Dizzy) Dean to a player contract, the duration of which the former pitching great of the St. Louis Cardinals wise-cracked "depends on the other team.'

Regardless of his success, "Old Diz," out of baseball uniform since 1941 and now a radio sports announcer here, declared he was signed to pitch only one game.

The big righthander, who won 30 games in one season at the height of his career with the Cardinals during the Gas House Gang era, said the "comeback" resulted from a number of requests by fans and his own desire to test his "high hard one" against the hitters of today.

Terms of the contract, a formality to make it legal in a baseball way, were not disclosed, but Dean declared "it's the best contract I ever got, since it's the first one I haven't sent back for more money."

Card Fan Refuses To Concede Flag

Prine Seeks Bleacher Seat At Yankee Park

NEW YORK, Sept. 17 (AP) — A St. Louis Cardinal fan who refuses to concede the National League pennant to the Brooklyn Dodgers today became the first person in line for the opening game of the world series—at least 13 days ahead of time.

Joseph H. Prine, 57-year-old retired army sergeant from St. Louis, arrived by bus last night and at 10 a. m., today he took up his position at the bleacher entrance to Yankee stadium, home park of New York's American League Champions.

Neatly attired in a dark blue suit with a St. Louis Cardinal souvenir button in his lapel, Prine had his suitcase beside him and carried a ball and bat, each marked with the word "Cards."

He said he had been first in line for several World Series openers since 1906 and wanted to "do it again." Asked what he would do if the Cardinals, trailing by 8½ games, failed to win the pennant, Prine said:

"Well, in that case, I'll be the first at the world series anyway. But the Cards aren't beaten yet."

Buffalo Bisons Even Series With Chiefs

Howie Fox, a tall right-hander, who won 19 games during the season, matched Hausmann for seven innings. But in the eighth, the Bisons clipped Fox for a tie-breaking 2 to 1 lead, and added the final tally in the ninth.

er Cooper added his 34th in the opener and Willard Marshall hit his 36th in the second game to bring the Giants' record total for the season up to 210. Box:

ALL WORLD SERIES TICKETS ARE SOLD

NEW YORK, Sept. 17 (AP) — If you haven't ordered your ticket for the 1947 world series, don't bother. There aren't any left.

The bad news came late today from General Manager John Collins of the Brooklyn Dodgers, who announced that his overworked staff would not accept any more applications after midnight onight.

"We already are oversubscribed," he said wearily. "We have so much more than we can handle right now, I can't even hazard a guess as to the figures."

The Dodgers began accepting world series applications last Monday, with a limit to two tickets a game to each customer.

Contractor Begins Removal Of Seven Trees On Main Street In Frostburg

Work Provoked By Damage To Sewers

By RUDOLPH NICKEL

FROSTBURG — Urner Wigfield, Cumberland, who was recently given a contract by the city to remove the seven large North Carolina poplar trees on East Main Street in front of the residence of David W. Morehouse, Dr. W. O. McLane and Miss Elizabeth Donahue began the job yesterday morning with three men in his employ assisting.

The trees, between 35 and 40 years old, range between 30 and 40 inches in diameter at the trunks, and are among the highest in the city. Their total removal requires considerable care and skill to avoid damage to property and to passing traffic.

As the tops of the trees were sawed off and pulled down with ropes yesterday, trucks in charge of city employes hauled the huge branches and other debris to the city dump near Midlothian.

The tree trunks will be given to Henry Ford, a saw mill operator of Corriganville, who will haul them away.

The trees, according to Wigfield, who was with the State Forestry Department for 15 years, have fully developed and are on their decline. He says the wood is soft and a few of the trees are beginning to rot. Due to the fact that the roots are extending into city sewers and damaging sidewalks, the city assumed the responsibility of having them removed. City traffic moving east over East Main Street was detoured over other streets yesterday while the larger branches were being pulled down. The work attracted the interest of many spectators.

The men assisting Mr. Winfield include Dock Thomas, of the Nelson Tree Trimming Company, Dayton, Ohio, who does much of the tree trimming for the Potomac Edison Company.

After the East Main trees are removed, Wigfield will remove another large tree at the corner of Pine Street and Frost Avenue and one in front of the proyerty at 17 Frost Avenue.

First Contributor For New Moorefield Hospital Opens Unofficial Fund Drive

Campaign Will Begin In 30 Days

By KATHERINE FISHER

MOOREFIELD, W. Va.—Dr. A. E. Krause, Bergton, Va., became Donor Number 1 for the South Branch Valley's proposed new hospital. The campaign for funds for the Valley View Hospital, Inc., a non-profit organization, opened unofficially this week with the regular campaign by the finance committee to open within the next 30 days. In the meantime, contributions for the new institution will be accepted by Dr. G. E. Hartle or the Moorefield Examiner office.

The first meeting of the board of directors of the corporation was held in Parkersburg last week and Dr. G. E. Hartle was named chairman of the executive board. Judge H. M. Calhoun accompanied Dr. Hartle to Parkersburg for the meeting.

The deed to the property for the proposed hospital was delivered to the hospital committee last week. The site will be on a 15 acre tract overlooking the entire South Branch Valley and located just across the road and south of the Toll Gate School.

At the meeting of the board of directors last week the by-laws for the organization were adopted and officers named. Final plans for the hospital are not completed but construction is expected to start in the spring. The corporation will apply for state and federal aid under the Hill-Burton Bill for general hospital service in the state.

The committees on fund raising, finance and construction will meet this month and all plans will be made public as soon as they are completed.

Officers of the United Furniture Workers, C.I.O., at the Thompson Mahogany Company plant indicated that they would support the proposed new hospital.

Firemen's Carnival Planned

Final plans for the Capon Valley Volunteer Fire Company's Carnival and Parade in Wardensville Friday and Saturday, September 26 and 27, were announced this week by officials of the company.

The parade of the firemen from neighboring communities will be held on Friday night at 6:30. At least 10 volunteer companies have indicated that they will participate in the parade. Business firms and organizations in the Capon Valley section will enter floats in the parade with prizes to be awarded.

The two day celebration will feature food and drink stands, concessions and bingo stands, pony rides and airplane rides on Saturday afternoon.

Proceeds of the celebration will be for the benefit of the firemen and the funds will be used for equipment and for the new Memorial Building.

John Evans had carved his initials in 1853; Peter Evans, his son, had carved his in 1877; in 1900, his son, Grover, left hi initials, and in 1924, Paul and Eugene Evans, sons of Grover, carved theirs.

REMOVING TREES—Workmen are shown as they begin preliminary trimming work on three of the seven large poplar trees to be removed on East Main Street in Frostburg in front of the residences of Dr. W. O. McLane, David W. Morehouse and Miss Elizabeth Donahue. The 40-year-old trees were ordered cut down after their roots penetrated sewers and uprotted the sidewalks.

Contractor Begins Removal Of Seven Trees On Main Street In Frostburg

By RUDOLPH NICKEL

FROSTBURG — Urner Wigfield, Cumberland, who was recently given a contract by the city to remove the seven large North Carolina poplar trees on East Main Street in front of the residence of David W. Morehouse, Dr. W. O. McLane and Miss Elizabeth Donahue began the job yesterday morning with three men in his employ assisting.

The trees, between 35 and 40 years old, range between 30 and 40 inches in diameter at the trunks, and are among the highest in the city. Their total removal requires considerable care and skill to avoid damage to property and to passing traffic.

As the tops of the trees were sawed off and pulled down with ropes yesterday, trucks in charge of city employes hauled the huge branches and other debris to the city dump near Midlothian.

The tree trunks will be given to Henry Ford, a saw mill operator of Corriganville, who will haul them away.

The trees, according to Wigfield, who was with the State Forestry Department for 15 years, have fully developed and are on their decline. He says the wood is soft and a few of the trees are beginning to rot. Due to the fact that the roots are extending into city sewers and damaging sidewalks, the city assumed the responsibility of having them removed. City traffic moving east over East Main Street was detoured over other streets yesterday while the larger branches were being pulled down. The work attracted the interest of many spectators.

The men assisting Mr. Winfield include Dock Thomas, of the Nelson Tree Trimming Company, Dayton, Ohio, who does much of the tree trimming for the Potomac Edison Company.

After the East Main trees are removed, Wigfield will remove another large tree at the corner of Pine Street and Frost Avenue and one in front of the proyerty at 17 Frost Avenue.

Dr. Cremeans, for many years the pastor of First Presbyterian Church, Springfield, Ill., resigned several years ago to accept a call to Baltimore to serve in a supervisory capacity.

Rev. John Cameron Taylor, the pastor, will introduce the speaker and conduct the remainder of the service.

First Contributor For New Moorefield Hospital Opens Unofficial Fund Drive

Campaign Will Begin In 30 Days

By KATHERINE FISHER

MOOREFIELD, W. Va.—Dr. A. E. Krause, Bergton, Va., became Donor Number 1 for the South Branch Valley's proposed new hospital. The campaign for funds for the Valley View Hospital, Inc., a non-profit organization, opened unofficially this week with the regular campaign by the finance committee to open within the next 30 days. In the meantime, contributions for the new institution will be accepted by Dr. G. E. Hartle or the Moorefield Examiner office.

The first meeting of the board of directors of the corporation was held in Parkersburg last week and Dr. G. E. Hartle was named chairman of the executive board. Judge H. M. Calhoun accompanied Dr. Hartle to Parkersburg for the meeting.

The deed to the property for the proposed hospital was delivered to the hospital committee last week. The site will be on a 15 acre tract overlooking the entire South Branch Valley and located just across the road and south of the Toll Gate School.

At the meeting of the board of directors last week the by-laws for the organization were adopted and officers named. Final plans for the hospital are not completed but construction is expected to start in the spring. The corporation will apply for state and federal aid under the Hill-Burton Bill for general hospital service in the state.

The committees on fund raising, finance and construction will meet this month and all plans will be made public as soon as they are completed.

Officers of the United Furniture Workers, C.I.O., at the Thompson Mahogany Company plant indicated that they would support the proposed new hospital.

Firemen's Carnival Planned

Final plans for the Capon Valley Volunteer Fire Company's Carnival and Parade in Wardensville Friday and Saturday, September 26 and 27, were announced this week by officials of the company.

Business firms and organizations in the Capon Valley section will enter floats in the parade with prizes to be awarded.

The two day celebration will feature food and drink stands, concessions and bingo stands, pony rides and airplane rides on Saturday afternoon.

Proceeds of the celebration will be for the benefit of the firemen and the funds will be used for equipment and for the new Memorial Building.

John Evans had carved his initials in 1853; Peter Evans, his son, had carved his in 1877; in 1900, his son, Grover, left his initials, and in 1924, Paul and Eugene Evans, sons of Grover, carved theirs.

RADIO IN REVIEW

By JOHN CROSBY

"I WANT WHAT I WANT"

CHICAGO — One of the favorite songs of Colonel Robert Rutherford McCormick, lord and master of "The Chicago Tribune" and its subsidiary station WGN, is "I Want What I Want When I Want It." The title sums up a good deal of the Colonel's philosophy and also goes a long way toward explaining WGN's frequent difficulties with radio networks.

John Crosby

WGN is one of the few radio stations in the country that has been affiliated to three different networks — N.B.C., C.B.S. and Mutual. It has never been entirely happy with any of them and has been a problem to all of them.

WGN was the first N.B.C. outlet in Chicago. Trouble started almost immediately. The network and the Colonel wanted what they wanted when they wanted it and naturally somebody had to give in. If a big Chicago parade came along, the network program instantly went overboard so that WGN could beat the drum for this great civic event. On the other hand, McCormick found his network obligations a constant irritant. Frequently word came down from the top of the Tribune Tower that the Colonel was to make a speech to the Kiwanis or some similar organization. This, of course, meant that a WGN announcer and a microphone were to be on hand so that this important oratory wouldn't be lost to WGN listeners. On many of these occasions, it was the task of the station manager to inform the Colonel that the time was irrevocably sold to, say, Proctor and Gamble for a network show.

Besides making demands on WGN's time, the networks also irritated the Colonel by producing programs of which he didn't approve. One of these was a program which combined Guy Lombardo's music with the New York gossip of a syndicated columnist. McCormick has little use for New York and saw no reason why Chicagoans should be permitted to hear any gossip about New Yorkers. Consequently, WGN broadcast the portion of the program occupied by Lombardo's music but switched on its own studio orchestra when the columnist went on the air.

First N.B.C. and then C.B.S. found this sort of editing too much for them and both parted company with WGN. N.B.C. affiliated with WMAQ which is operated in a less autocratic manner and C.B.S. bought WBBM where it could run its own show. In 1933, after his break with C.B.S., McCormick was rumbling angrily that the networks were monopolies controlled by eastern bankers, one of his favorite scapegoats. He began to take an interest in a network of his own.

Partly at the instigation of McCormick, the Mutuel Broadcasting System was formed around four stations—WGN in Chicago; WOR in New York; WLW, the Crosley station in Cincinnati; and WXYZ in Detroit (which was brought in chiefly because it owned the hugely successful "Lone Ranger" program). McCormick owns twenty-five of the one-hundred-twenty-nine-and-a-half shares of M. B. S. stock and has a large though not always dominant voice in its management. However WGN still goes its own way most of the time. About 60 per cent of its programs are local as opposed to about 40 per cent network.

McCormick has always felt that the air lanes should be as much his own property as "The Chicago Tribune" presses. He abominates the Federal Communications Commission and his newspaper frequently advocates abolishing the F. C. C.'s licensing powers. Despite this, WGN leans over backward to avoid violating any F. C. C. regulations, particularly as regards the expression of partisan opinion.

The Tribune's isolationism, anti-New Dealism, Anglophobia and its other blind prejudices and crazy enthusiasms are not heard very often over WGN. The Colonel's sympathies are expressed in a negative rather than a positive way over his station. WGN carries Gabriel Heatter and Fulton Lewis, Jr., who are Mutual rather than WGN commentators. Both are likely to see eye to eye with the Colonel on most issues. WGN, on the other hand, does not carry Mutual's "Meet The Press." A great many sentiments are expressed on that program which would send the Colonel's blood pressure sky high.

The only one hundred per cent "Chicago Tribune" ideas on WGN are those of Arthur Sears Henning, the ancient and extraordinarily biased chief of the Tribune's Washington Bureau. This hatchetman is sponsored once a week by the Tribune, which is careful to pay its subsidiary WGN for the time to avoid the accusation that WGN is advocating any ideas of its own.

(This is the third of a series of articles on WGN and Colonel McCormick.)

SALLY'S SALLIES

RADIO IN REVIEW

"I WANT WHAT I WANT"

CHICAGO — One of the favorite songs of Colonel Robert Rutherford McCormick, lord and master of "The Chicago Tribune" and its subsidiary station WGN, is "I Want What I Want When I Want It." The title sums up a good deal of the Colonel's philosophy and also goes a long way toward explaining WGN's frequent difficulties with radio networks.

John Crosby

WGN is one of the few radio stations in the country that has been affiliated to three different networks — N.B.C., C.B.S. and Mutual. It has never been entirely happy with any of them and has been a problem to all of them.

WGN was the first N.B.C. outlet in Chicago. Trouble started almost immediately. The network and the Colonel wanted what they wanted when they wanted it and naturally somebody had to give in. If a big Chicago parade came along, the network program instantly went overboard so that WGN could beat the drum for this great civic event. On the other hand, McCormick found his network obligations a constant irritant. Frequently word came down from the top of the Tribune Tower that the Colonel was to make a speech to the Kiwanis or some similar organization. This, of course, meant that a WGN announcer and a microphone were to be on hand so that this important oratory wouldn't be lost to WGN listeners. On many of these occasions, it was the task of the station manager to inform the Colonel that the time was irrevocably sold to, say, Proctor and Gamble for a network show.

Besides making demands on WGN's time, the networks also irritated the Colonel by producing programs of which he didn't approve. One of these was a program which combined Guy Lombardo's music with the New York gossip of a syndicated columnist. McCormick has little use for New York and saw no reason why Chicagoans should be permitted to hear any gossip about New Yorkers. Consequently, WGN broadcast the portion of the program occupied by Lombardo's music but switched on its own studio orchestra when the columnist went on the air.

First N.B.C. and then C.B.S. found this sort of editing too much for them and both parted company with WGN. N.B.C. affiliated with WMAQ which is operated in a less autocratic manner and C.B.S. bought WBBM where it could run its own show. In 1933, after his break with C.B.S., McCormick was rumbling angrily that the networks were monopolies controlled by eastern bankers, one of his favorite scapegoats. He began to take an interest in a network of his own.

Partly at the instigation of McCormick, the Mutuel Broadcasting System was formed around four stations—WGN in Chicago; WOR in New York; WLW, the Crosley station in Cincinnati; and WXYZ in Detroit (which was brought in chiefly because it owned the hugely successful "Lone Ranger" program). McCormick owns twenty-five of the one-hundred-twenty-nine-and-a-half shares of M. B. S. stock and has a large though not always dominant voice in its management. However WGN still goes its own way most of the time. About 60 per cent of its programs are local as opposed to about 40 per cent network.

McCormick has always felt that the air lanes should be as much his own property as "The Chicago Tribune" presses. He abominates the Federal Communications Commission and his newspaper frequently advocates abolishing the F. C. C.'s licensing powers. Despite this, WGN leans over backward to avoid violating any F. C. C. regulations, particularly as regards the expression of partisan opinion.

The Tribune's isolationism, anti-New Dealism, Anglophobia and its other blind prejudices and crazy enthusiasms are not heard very often over WGN. The Colonel's sympathies are expressed in a negative rather than a positive way over his station. WGN carries Gabriel Heatter and Fulton Lewis, Jr., who are Mutual rather than WGN commentators. Both are likely to see eye to eye with the Colonel on most issues. WGN, on the other hand, does not carry Mutual's "Meet The Press." A great many sentiments are expressed on that program which would send the Colonel's blood pressure sky high.

The only one hundred per cent "Chicago Tribune" ideas on WGN are those of Arthur Sears Henning, the ancient and extraordinarily biased chief of the Tribune's Washington Bureau. This hatchetman is sponsored once a week by the Tribune, which is careful to pay its subsidiary WGN for the time to avoid the accusation that WGN is advocating any ideas of its own.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our sincere thanks to our friends and neighbors who were so kind to us in our bereavement, the death of our beloved wife and mother, Mrs. Florence Turnbull. We also wish to thank those who sent floral tributes and those who donated the use of their automobiles.

ROBERT TURNBULL, SR., & FAMILY.

We wish to thank all of our friends and neighbors for their acts of kindness following the death of our husband and brother, John T. Clark. We especially wish to thank his fellow workmen who so loyally came to his aid, and those who sent floral tributes and those, who donated their cars for the funeral.

MRS. JOHN T. CLARK, HIS BROTHERS and SISTERS.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of our dear daughter and sister, Zorka Krnaya, who passed away September 18, 1944.

We watched her breathing thru the night,
As in her breast the wave of life
Kept heaving to and fro,
Our very hopes belied our fears;
Our fears our hopes belied;
We thought her dying when she slept
And sleeping when she died.

Sadly missed by her FATHER, MOTHER, BROTHER & SISTER.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our sincere thanks to our friends and neighbors who were so kind to us in our bereavement, the death of our beloved wife and mother, Mrs. Florence Turnbull. We also wish to thank those who sent floral tributes and those who donated the use of their automobiles.

ROBERT TURNBULL, SR., & FAMILY.

We wish to thank all of our friends and neighbors for their acts of kindness following the death of our husband and brother, John T. Clark. We especially wish to thank his fellow workmen who so loyally came to his aid, and those who sent floral tributes and those, who donated their cars for the funeral.

MRS. JOHN T. CLARK, HIS BROTHERS and SISTERS.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of our dear daughter and sister, Zorka Krnaya, who passed away September 18, 1944.

We watched her breathing thru the night,
Her breathing soft and low,
As in her breast the wave of life
Kept heaving to and fro,
Our very hopes belied our fears;
Our fears our hopes belied;
We thought her dying when she slept
And sleeping when she died.

BE IT ORDAINED BY THE MAYOR AND CITY COUNCIL OF CUMBERLAND, MARYLAND, AS FOLLOWS:

SECTION 3. Standards For Liquefied Petroleum Gas Equipment And Its Installation. All installation of liquefied petroleum gas equipment shall be in comformity with the provisions of this ordinance, with the statutes of the State of Maryland and with any orders, rules or regulation issued by authority thereof and with generally recognized standards for safety to persons and property. Where no specific standards are prescribed by this ordinance or by the statutes of the State of Maryland or by any orders, rules or regulations issued by authority thereof, conformity with the Standards of the National Board of Fire Underwriters for the Design, Installation and Construction of Containers and Pertinent Equipment for the Storage and Handling of Liquefied Petroleum Gases as recommended by the National Fire Protection Association (Pamphlet No. 58) shall be prima facie evidence of conformity with generally recognized standards for safety to persons and property.

SECTION 4. Record of Installations. Every person, firm or corporation installing liquefied petroleum gas equipment, other than gas-burning appliances and replacing of portable cylinders in Cumberland shall keep a record of each installation, showing the name and address of the customer at whose place the liquefied petroleum gas equipment has been installed and the date of the installation, and shall disclose such record to the Fire Inspector at any time, upon his request, during regular business hours.

(b) Artificial lighting shall be restricted to electricity. SECTION 8. Penalties. Any person, firm or corporation who shall violate any of the provisions of this ordinance and who, after notice from the Fire Inspector shall fail to correct any incorrect installations within twenty (20) days after receiving such notice, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not less than Twenty-five Dollars ($25.00) nor more than One Hundred Dollars ($100.00) for each offense, and in default thereof by imprisonment for not less than five (5) days nor more than thirty (30) days.

ORDER OF PUBLICATION

Michael D. Perry vs. Juanita W. Perry, No. 20,147, Equity in the Circuit Court for Allegany County, Maryland.

The object of this suit is to secure the passage of a decree divorcing the Plaintiff A VINCULO MATRMONII from the defendant.

The Bill of Complaint states that the couple were married at San Bernadino, California, on the nineteenth day of April, 1945, and lived together three days at which time the Defendant abandoned and deserted the Complainant, and that the abandonment and desertion has been continuous and unbroken since that date, that there is no reasonable expectation of a reconciliation, and that no children were born of the marriage. The bill further states that the Complainant has been a resident of the state of Maryland, for more than two years next before the bringing of this suit, but that the Defendant is a non-resident of the state of Maryland, and when last heard from, was a resident of the state of California.

It is thereupon this 26th day of August, 1947, ORDERED by the Circuit Court, for Allegany County, Maryland, sitting in Equity, that the Plaintiff cause a copy of this order to be inserted in one of the daily newspapers published in Allegany County, Maryland, once each week for four successive weeks before the 27th day of September, 1947, giving notification to the absentee Defendant of the object and substance of this suit, and warning her to be or appear in this Court either in person, or by solicitor, on or before the 13th day of October, 1947, to show cause, if any she may have, why a decree ought not be passed as prayed.

Clerk.

The object of this suit is to secure the passage of a decree divorcing the Plaintiff A VINCULO MATRMONII from the defendant.

The Bill of Complaint states that the couple were married at San Bernadino, California, on the nineteenth day of April, 1945, and lived together three days at which time the Defendant abandoned and deserted the Complainant, and that the abandonment and desertion has been continuous and unbroken since that date, that there is no reasonable expectation of a reconciliation, and that no children were born of the marriage. The bill further states that the Complainant has been a resident of the state of Maryland, for more than two years next before the bringing of this suit, but that the Defendant is a non-resident of the state of Maryland, and when last heard from, was a resident of the state of California.

It is thereupon this 26th day of August, 1947, ORDERED by the Circuit Court, for Allegany County, Maryland, sitting in Equity, that the Plaintiff cause a copy of this order to be inserted in one of the daily newspapers published in Allegany County, Maryland, once each week for four successive weeks before the 27th day of September, 1947, giving notification to the absentee Defendant of the object and substance of this suit, and warning her to be or appear in this Court either in person, or by solicitor, on or before the 13th day of October, 1947, to show cause, if any she may have, why a decree ought not be passed as prayed.

Graham To Make Proposal On City Airport Lease

Terms Are Due For Renewal December 31

A definite proposal regarding renegotiation of the Cumberland Airways, Inc., lease of the Cumberland Municipal Airport will be furnished within the next week or so, William J. Graham, Pittsburgh, president, said last night.

Graham made his statement at a three-hour meeting of the Municipal Airport Commission in the office of Mayor Thomas S. Post. Terms of the lease, which became effective January 1, 1946, are due for renewal December 31.

Stating that the city "should test other offers" for airport operation before deciding to continue the present lease, Graham suggested November 1 as a possible termination date if the city decides on that action.

Reluctant To Withdraw

He explained that the earlier date would give a new operator an opportunity to make arrangements for taking over the management without interupting operations, and would also enable Cumberland Airways to wind up its operation.

Graham stated, however, that he would be reluctant to have Cumberland Airways withdraw because of "the two years of hard work we have put in here," adding that his firm's operation of the port has been in the best interests of Cumberland citizens.

Edmund S. Burke, commission chairman, requested City Auditor Arthur B. Gibson to prepare estimates of the probable cost to the city of operating the airport, as a yardstick for future proposals.

Burke stated the commission will welcome proposals from persons interested in operating the airport.

T. Donald Shires, commission secretary, Mayor Post and Thomas Lohr Richards suggested that arrangements be made for commission members to visit other airports to study their methods of operation.

Burke asked Graham to furnish the commission with a definite proposal for continuing operations at the airport, pointing out that a fixed rental basis should be set to avoid confusion regarding city income. No fixed rental was stated for the first two years of operation, with the agreement that the city would receive all profits over $2,000.

Considerable discussion was devoted to three disputed items in Cumberland Airway's 1946 financial report. The expense items included interest totaling $1,383.57; a $500 item for promotion and advertising; and depreciation of a seven-year-old Beachcraft plane which Graham said he brought here for charter service.

Graham offered to wipe the interest item off his books, but he made no compromise offer regarding the $500 promotion item, pointing out that money used for promotion purposes is a legitimate cost item of operation.

Compromise Authorized

In regard to the Beachcraft depreciation, which amounted to $416.66 in the 1946 report, Graham offered to take the depreciation item off his books as of last July 1 and to split the difference of the depreciation charge between November 1, 1946, and July 1, 1947. In addition, he offered to split the charge of $600 for overhauding the plane last spring. Depreciation was figured at $208 monthly.

The commission authorized Gibson to work out a suitable compromise on the items with Graham, and to submit the result to the group.

In discussing the question of continuing or terminating the lease, Graham pointed out that Cumberland Airways has over $40,000 worth of shop, office and plane equipment at the port, with a total investment of nearly $80,000.

He estimated $25,000 as the minimum cost to a new operator, exclusive of buildings, to secure equipment. John A. Chapman, airport manager for Graham, pointed out that it took several months for Cumberland Airways to secure certification from Maryland and West Virginia authorities for its operations at the port, and that such certification must be obtained by a new operator.

In the event final settlement is considered if the city decides to terminate the lease, Graham said, he has a contract for delivery of $[illegible],000 worth of materials for a new 15-unit hanger which he cannot cancel.

In addition, he said, provision should be made for a reserve fund to cover the cost of periodic overhaul of planes, which would ordinarily be charged in regular operating costs if the lease were continued.

Asked about the probable salary which the city would need to pay a first-class airport manager, Graham said the figure would run anywhere from $5,000 to $10,000.

He stated that Cumberland Airways' fees for sub-leasing facilities are not prohibitive, but that A. Derr Golladay, local aircraft designer, was the only person who approached the firm with regard to sub-leasing. Several weeks ago Golladay expressed interest in establishing a small plant at the airport to manufacture a new type of plastic aircraft which he is designing.

Bicycle Stolen At Dingle Circle

The bicycle belonging to Fred Dixon, 696 Fayette Street, was reported stolen from the Dingle Circle last night shortly before 9 o'clock, according to City Police.

They also have been asked to investigate the theft of two bicycles Monday night from the Embassy Theater. One was owned by Richard Landenberger, 549 North Mechanic Street, and the other by William Cline, 447 Race Street.

Temperature Reading

The mercury got up as high as 77 degrees yesterday but slid back to 64 at 9:30 p. m. The maximum was five degrees higher than Tuesday's and the official weather observer thought it unlikely that the overnight low today would be as cold as yesterday's minimum of 44 degrees. Warmer weather is predicted for today.

Public Meeting On Airport Contract Sought By Group

Aviation Enthusiasts Want To Express Views

Representatives of the Mexico Farms Airport and the Cumberland Exchange Club said last night they will ask the Municipal Airport Commission to hold a public meeting before making any decision regarding future plans for operation of the Cumberland Municipal Airport.

The group said local citizens and aviation enthusiasts should be given an opportunity to express their views to the commission on the matter.

William J. Graham, Pittsburgh, president of Cumberland Airways, Inc., which operates the Cumberland Municipal Airport on a lease from the city, invited the group to attend a Municipal Airport commission meeting last night in the office of Mayor Thomas S. Post to discuss what he termed a charge that discrimination is being practiced against the Mexico Farms operation.

Asked For Specific Charges

Last week George Bernard Miltenberger, a local aviator, received a $300 penalty in Federal Court, Baltimore, on a charge of flying a plane for the purpose of having it inspected without first obtaining a permit required by Civil Aeronautics Administration regulations.

Throughout the testimony in the case, Miltenberger declared through his attorney, Earl Edmund Manges, that the complaint against him stemmed largely from a "rivalry" between officials of the Cumberland Municipal Airport and the Mexico Farms port.

At the outset of last night's conference, held prior to the regular commission session, Graham explained that he wanted to be informed regarding the "specific charges" which the Mexico Farms representatives had to bring against the Cumberland Airways opration.

He said that specific complaints should be referred to John A. Chapman, airport manager for Cumberland Airways, and to the airport commission.

Chapman Explains Position

Chapman stated that he did not file a complaint in the Miltenberger case, and that the reason he kept a record of Miltenberger's alleged flights in the unlicensed plane was because it was the only unlicensed ship on the field.

Manges said that telephone calls have been received at the Mexico Farms Airport from a man identifying himself as connected with the Municipal Airport, warning Mexico Farms pilots not to fly over the municipal field.

A. Derr Golladay, partner of the Allegany Aeronautical Corporation, which operates the Mexico Farms field, said Chapman called to ask that planes refrain from flying over the municipal port, but that he received no written statement from Chapman to that effect, which he, Golladay, had offered to post at the Mexico Farms field.

Graham said he would discuss the entire matter with Chapman.

Others attending the meeting were Louis Ort and Daniel D'Amicol, representing the Exchange Club, which recently endorsed Mayor Post's statement that the city itself should operate the airport; Thomas F. Shannon, partner in the Allegany Aeronautical Corporation; Miltenberger, Harold A. Clayton and Jack Delagrange, pilots at Mexico Farms.

Bus Line Grants Voluntary Increase

L. R. Emery, Martinsburg, W. Va., announced last night that a voluntary five per cent wage increase will be granted this week to employes of the West Virginia division of the line in order to compensate for the rising cost of living in the Martinsburg area.

Some 22 drivers and mechanical employes of the line will benefit from the increase which will become effective this week.

Mr. Emery said the rate of pay for the Martinsburg division is lower than in the local area and that the increase will bring wages up there and will help to compensate for the recent increase in the cost of living in that area.

Transportation experts, he said, reported after a recent survey of the industry that salaries earned by employes of the Emery lines are about two per cent better than in the highest brackets for the industry in metropolitan areas.

Coastal Planes Seek Refuge At Inland Ports

A group of 50 planes, commercial and privately owned, seeking refuge from coastal storms were quartered last night at the Martinsburg, W. Va. Airport, and officials said the planes had been flown from Annapolis, and the Atlantic City, N. J. areas.

John Chapman, manager of the Cumberland Municipal Airport said he has received no inquiries about quartering planes here, but in the event a haven is sought here by any coastal pilots or owners, the local Airport is equipped to handle about 65 ships.

NEW YORK, Sept. 17 — (AP) — President Roy B. White, of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, said the Board of Directors today authorized installation of heavier poundage rails on heavy traffic and high speed service lines.

White said the weight of rail will be increased from 131 to 140 pounds per yard. He added that the B. and O. probably will be able to use all the rail that producers can deliver this year.

Paw Paw Woman Hurt In Accident On Oldtown Road

Mt. Savage Boy Struck By Car

A Paw Paw, W. Va., woman was admitted to Memorial Hospital yesterday afternoon for treatment of injuries suffered when the automobile in which she was riding crashed against the rear of another machine about six miles south of Cumberland on Oldtown Road at 1:25 p. m., State Police reported.

The woman, Mrs. Pauline Clem, was said to be in good condition. She was being treated for lacerations of the face and right knee.

Cpl. Harry Holsinger, who investigated, said Mrs. Clem was riding with Leo Roberson, also of Paw Paw, and that Roberson crashed against the rear of the automobile driven by Mrs. Helen W. Wellington, 303 Washington Street.

Witnesses said the accident happened on a straight stretch of road and that both cars were headed toward Oldtown, according to Cpl. Holsinger.

He added that Roberson was treated by a Paw Paw physician and that Mrs. Wellington was uninjured.

Charges in the case are pending, the officer said. Trooper Harry Bosley assisted in the investigation.

A Mt. Savage boy, Wilbert Lavin, 13, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wilbert Lavin, was admitted to Miners Hospital, Frostburg, last night for treatment of injuries suffered when he was hit by an automobile in Mt. Savage.

Frostburg police said the driver of the car was Earl Wilson, Frostburg, and quoted him as saying the boy ran in front of the machine. The youngster was taken to the hospital in the Mt. Savage ambulance.

The boy will be X-rayed this morning for a possible fracture of the hip.

Dorothy Robertson, 14, Center Street, Frostburg, was treated in Miners Hospital yesterday for a deep laceration of the right arm after she fell at a playground.

Patricia Croft, 1½-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Croft, 227 Emily Street, was treated in Memorial Hospital last night after she got sand in both of her eyes while playing.

Jaycees Want Air Show Report Investigated

Directors Discuss Various Activities

Directors of the Junior Association of Commerce went on record last night, requesting an investigation of the financial statement on the Air Show, in which they were co-sponsors, and Jack Robb, president, named a committee to proceed.

Members of the Board want additional information on costs of the show, and an analysis of their share in the profits, Robb explained.

The Jaycee Board also approved plans to co-operate with the Cumberland Chamber of Commerce and local insurance men, in a plan to sponsor fire prevention week here October 5 to 11.

Clifton Van Roby said plans are under way to organize Jaycees bowling teams for the season.

Jack Moore made a brief report on the "Miss America" pageant at Atlantic City, and also announced the first presentation of Barter Theatre, sponsired by the Jaycees will be on October 4. The show will be "The Twelfth Night."

William New urged the local Jaycees to endorse the Universal Military Training program, and to actively support the plan. David Kauffman, past president, said the United States Jaycees are on record endorsing the proposal.

A letter from the Pittsburgh Jaycees asking the local group to help sponsor a "Junior Miss America Pageant," was tabled, as was also a report on a "Care of Europeans" project presented by Robb.

It was announced by Moore, that he invited John Ben Shepherd, Jaycee national president to visit here, when he met Shepherd at Atlantic city. David Kauffman and C. William Gilchrist were named to serve as a reception committee to meet the organization's president when he arrives here October 29.

A group of local Jaycees plan to attend a state board meeting at Hagerstown September 27-28, and to go on to Baltimore for the football game between the Baltimore Colts and New York Yankees.

Ridgeley Police Get New Cruiser Car

Chief of Police Jesse Elkins reported last night that a new police cruiser car obtained for the use of the Ridgeley Department was placed in service yesterday.

He said the vehicle will be equipped with a siren in the near future and that a radio will be installed in the car when the equipment is available.

Alva L. Diehl, 49, 96 Knobley Street, Ridgeley, has been named a patrolman of the police department, Chief Elkins said. Officer Diehl, who began his duties August 19 retired as a first sergeant recently after 28 years service in the army. During that time, he served in several branches of the service, including the infantry, cavalry and engineers.

Matthews Gets Permit

John E. Matthews, 1405 Oldtown Road, secured a permit in the city engineer's office yesterday to build a five-room house on Lot 362, Turner Street, at an estimated cost of $5,000.

The one-story 24 by 32-foot structure will have a concrete block foundation, asbestos shingle walls and a composition shingle roof.

GOING TO ITALY—Mrs. Maria McGuire, Frostburg, will return to Italy this month for a visit to show her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Oreste Della Rocca, of Caserta, their first grandchild, Emma, eight months. Mrs. McGuire and James McGuire, Frostburg, were married March 30, 1946, while he was stationed at Caserta with an ordnance outfit. She came to America a year ago aboard the Thomas Barry, a ship for war brides.

Italian War Bride To Return Home To Show Parents First Grandchild

Mrs. Maria McGuire To Leave Sept. 25

A war bride when she came to America a year ago, Mrs. Maria McGuire, 164 West Main Street, Frostburg, is going back to Italy this month to show her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Oreste Della Rocca, of Caserta, near Naples, their first grandchild.

Mrs. McGuire, wife of James McGuire, a Celanese employe, and the baby, Emma Maria, eight months, are scheduled to sail from New York September 25 aboard the steamship Vulcania, of the American Export Lines. They expect to be gone for three to six months.

Until her marriage March 30, 1946, after a courtship that started in the first part of 1945, Mrs. McGuire hardly had been away from home for more than a day.

Now she says she is anxious to go back to see her parents but expects to be even more anxious to return to America.

The one thing she likes most about America and what she believes she will miss most in Italy is freedom, Mrs. McGuire says without hesitation.

What does she think of America? "I like it. I love America," Mrs. McGuire said.

While she still has some Italian accent, Mrs. McGuire speaks English fluently after a year in this country and enjoys reading local newspapers and magazines.

She fears, however, that her brother, who learned to speak English in school, will laugh when he hears her talk the language when she returns to Italy. "He speaks it very correctly," she explained.

McGuire was stationed at Caserta with an ordnance outfit when he met Mrs. McGuire and remained there for about a month after their marriage, he recalled.

Mrs. McGuire came to America on the Thomas Barry, a ship for war brides, and visited McGuire's brother, Patrick, in Baltimore, for the month until her husband arrived in the states and received his honorable discharge at Fort George G. Meade. Since then they have been living in Frostburg and Mrs. McGuire says she feels "grateful to everybody around Frostburg for the wonderful way they've treated me."

Two Men Released From County Jail

Paul O. Carter, Frostburg, who was committed to the County Jail Tuesday in default of payment of a $50 fine, levied when he had been found guilty by Magistrate Frank A. Perdew for obtaining unemployment compensation fraudulently, was released upon payment of the fine.

A Martinsburg, Pa., driver, Edward P. Gartland, who was sentenced Tuesday to 50 days in the County Jail after he defaulted payment of fines on two motor counts totaling $112.90, was also released yesterday upon payment of the fine.

Jewish Relief Workers Plan Fund Campaign

Drive Will Open Here October 2

Committee members and workers of the Jewish Welfare Fund met last night at Ali Ghan Country Club, to make preliminary plans for the Jewish Relief drive which opens officially here October 2. Sumner Hirsch, general chairman presided, and introduced two guest speakers.

Moses Speert, of Baltimore, recently returned from Europe and Palestine, described conditions in Displaced Person Camps, and declared if this winter is as severe as last winter, suffering of these displaced persons, mostly Jewish refugees will be far beyond imagination of people here and elsewhere.

Speert declared that the Arabs and Jews can adjust their differences and could live together peaceably in Palestine, if it were not for British interference. He said 150,000 refugees could be absorbed there quickly, and ultimately as many as a million could live there.

Praising the American government, for work done among the DPs, Speert said the end of UNRRA placed a tremendous relief load on private agencies, such as the Jewish Relief, and they are doing a good job with funds and personnel available.

Lee Bodkin, of Baltimore, director of the Unemployment Compensation Advisory Commission of Maryland, also spoke on the need of funds to aid war refugees, particularly orphaned children. Millions are still homeless, in need of food, clothing and medical care, despite the war's end, he said.

Members of the budget committee will meet within the next few days, and accept a quota for this area, Hirsch announced. When the quota is set, and the drive opens, a complete campaign organization will begin the task of raising funds to exceed last year's effort.

Mrs. Clarence Lippel is chairman of the women's group and she appealed last night for hard work, sacrifice and co-operation of all Jewish and interested non-Jewish people of this area, to raise the needed relief fund. The local drive is part of a nation-wide campaign for $170,000,000.

Skilled Labor Shortage Slows Home Building

Demand Here Seen At Record High

There is still a heavy demand for the construction of new homes in and around Cumberland, and rental housing units including single and multiple family dwellings and apartments are scarce according to real estate dealers, contractors, trades council representatives and building supply dealers.

With the summer building period near its end, representatives of building crafts said yesterday they see little hope of catching up with the demand for new home construction here this winter, despite the fact that cold weather discourages some people from home building. A shortage of skilled labor is seen as the principle botlenecks.

In an interview with several local home building contractors yesterday, it was indicated that all of them are doing more home construction now, and have more requests for bids and prices on homes than they have ever experienced. One contractor last night said, "I have four houses under construction now, and could start that many more if I could get help and material."

Another declared, "We have five units underway, and I've been building here for 35 years. The demand is greater for new homes than at anytime in our experience. I wish we could build all we have been asked about."

These are typical statements from contractors, and every home builder interviewed said the demand for new units is increasing, because there are many families still doubled-up and many who want houses.

Acute Labor Shortage

F. Patrick Allender, business agent for Carpenters Local Union No. 1024, A. F. L. said last evening, "I have just placed calls to Hagerstown, Bedford, and Elkins, W. Va., in an effort to get more carpenters and building craftsmen to come here. We have about 300 carpenters and could easily use 50 more. The demand for new homes, as well as commercial and institutional work is increasing."

Members of the building crafts and contractors agree there is a large volume of building going on here now, but all of them discuss freely various problems.

For example, there are only 12 or 15 plasterers in the immediate area, who can do a first class plastering job inside a house. These men ahre booked ahead, some for as much as two months. In the meantime, contractors say, there are 12 or 15 houses, partially completed here, waiting to be plastered.

Some home builders have attempted to use a dry finish, such as plaster board, panel board, or some similar product, but find this too difficult to obtain and too expensive for low cost dwellings. Wall board has been a scarce item, suppliers say, since before the war.

Some Materials Scarce

Building supply dealers have been pressed to keep pace with the demand for numerous products used in building a dwelling. It is impossible to go to one supplier and buy everything needed on a single job. Consequently, contractors spend much time shopping about to find doors, windows, certain grades of lumber, various items of hardware, sheet metal, rock lathe, plumbing equipment and other items. Glass was short for awhile, but is more easily obtainable.

Hardwood flooring of a good grade is next to impossible to find unless ordered in advance. Last week, there was a shortage of white sand in the city, and several plasterers, already behind other workmen, lost several days.

Some grades of floor covering, such as is used in kitchens and bathrooms are difficult if not impossible to find. There is no wide choice of color. Asphalt tile, used for flooring in many homes, and increasing in popularity, was unob-

Local Nurse Leaves For Polio Duty

Miss Alice Hartline, R. N., 55 Greene Street, left last night for Springfield, O., where she will aid the nursing staff at Springfield City Hospital in caring for polio cases, according to Mrs. Lee W. Witherup, executive secretary of Allegany County Chapter, American Red Cross.

Mrs. Witherup said that the chapter secured Miss Hartline after an appeal was sent here from the Eastern Area Nursing Service of the American Red Cross in Alexandria, Va., to recruit nurses for duty in cities where there have been outbreaks of polio.

Miss Hartline, a member of the nursing staff at Allegany Hospital, has had experience in polio nursing in Florida.

Mrs. Witherup asked all registered nurses interested in temporary duty in polio-stricken cities to contact the local Red Cross office in the event a future appeal for nurses is made.

Court Hears Suit Over Remodeling Room For Buses

Decision Deferred Until September 29

A lengthy hearing was held in Circuit Court yesterday before Chief Judge William A. Huster, on a civil case involving the payment of a claim of $4,500 due the George F. Hazlewood Company, for repairs and remodeling work on a section of the old Footer building, now known as Merchandise Mart.

Suit was instituted by the Hazelwood Company against Robert L. Emery, Jr., trading as Emery's Motor Coach Lines, and the Merchandise Mart, Inc., but was later changed to sue only Emery and the Motor Coach Lines.

George M. Beltzhoover, attorney, of Charles Town, W. Va., and W. Carl Richards, of this city represented Emery, while William M. Somerville, represented the Hazelwood Company.

Testimony indicated that Emery rented a part of the Merchandise Mart late in 1945 as a storage place and repair garage for some of his buses. In order to use the building for this purpose, extensive remodeling was necessary.

The dispute was not over the claim nor the amount charged for the work, but was to determine if it was the obligation of the tenant, Emery, or the landlord, Merchandise Mart, Inc.

No decision was reached, and Judge Huster urged that the attorneys and the three concerns make an effort to reach some settlement in the case. He declared, "this whole thing could have been avoided if some understanding had been reached and an agreement reduced to writing. There are attorneys and business men involved here, who seem to have conducted the proposition of renting or leasing the building in a careless manner from a standpoint of good business. The Court does not want to decide one way or the other, unless the parties concerned cannot reach a decision."

Hazelwood's attorney offered to waive any profit on the job, if the other two parties could reach an agreement.

The Court deferred further action or decision until September 29.

Commercials Are Necessary Evil, Radio Man Says

The elimination of commercials from radio programs in the United States would be Utopia—and just as unattainable, E. F. Hinkle, program director of WTBO, told members of the Lions Club of Cumberland yesterday.

Without the nasty little monster known as commercials, radio as we know it would not exist, he explained, since it's the commercials that pay the station's expenses . . . and make possible the presentation of radio's varied program.

After poking fun at the commercials which offer a panacea for all ills he pointed out that neither government subsidy nor outright ownership offers a solution to the problem of the menace of commercials.

Hinkle also pointed out that 85 per cent of international communication is handled by radio facilities and cited the importance of the radio in police work, air transportation and the armed services. More than 800,000 persons are employed in the industry, he added, which provides the amusement to 93 per cent of American families.

Dr. B. H. Hooke, past president of the Salisbury, Pa., Lions Club, was a guest of the club.

Catonsville Vet Buys Sterling Shoe Store

Louis V. Shinnamon, 35, a veteran of the U. S. Navy with two years service in World War II, has purchased the Sterling Shoe Store, 61 Baltimore Street, from Bernard B. Gross, who operated the business the past 14 years.

Shinnamon, a native of Maryland and resident of Catonsville much of his lifetime, is a son of Louis L. Shinnamon of the Internal Revenue Department, who is well known here. The young man has been employed by Cannon Shoe Company, Baltimore for 14 years, and was sales director there when he resigned to enter the retail field here. He is married and has two children.

Gross said last night he sold the business to the young Catonsville man yesterday, and Shinnamon will assume the operation today. Gross said he has been in ill health and plans to rest before attempting any business activity.

County Prisoner Dies At Hospital From Head Injury

Autopsy Performed On Lawrence Harvey

An investigation is being conducted into the death of Lawrence Harvey, 29, son of Harry H. Harvey, 135 Bedford Street, who died yesterday at 5:20 p. m. in Memorial Hospital from a fractured skull, after being admitted from Allegany County Jail.

Sheriff Edward R. Muir was out of the city, having gone to Kentucky to assist in escorting a prisoner there, but deputies at the jail said Harvey jumped or fell down a flight of metal stairs, his head striking a brick wall.

Skull Was Fractured

The incident, according to the officers, occurred about 2:30 p. m., shortly after Deputy William Chappel had talked with Harvey and other prisoners. Chappel said Harvey had not been feeling well since he was admitted to the jail on Monday. Chappel asked him if he felt any better and Harvey replied that he did. Then the deputy said "did you eat anything?" and Harvey said, "yes, I managed to eat a little."

A few minutes later, Chappel said he heard a noise and other prisoners raised an alarm. Investigation showed Harvey lying at the bottom of the steps leading to the basement level of the jail. An ambulance was called immediately and Harvey was taken to Memorial Hospital, where he was attended by a physician. He was admitted to the hospital at about 2:50 p. m.

Dr. B. Skitarelic, acting county deputy medical examiner, in the absence of Dr. H. V. Fleming, who is out of the city, performed an autopsy on Harvey's body last night, but said his report and investigation is not yet complete. Dr. Skitarelic said, however, "the man's skull was fractured."

Authorities said two warrants had been issued for Harvey, and when he learned officers were looking for him, gave himself up at the State's Attorney's office Monday. He was being held in jail pending trial on one or both of the charges against him. He had not been arraigned. One of the warrants involved a state charge and the other was said to be a warrant from Juvenile Court.

Native Of England

A prisoner at the jail, who was in the basement section of the cell rooms at the time, said he saw Harvey coming down the steps, and expressed the opinion "he jumped, or fell." Officials said it was learned the young man had been in ill health and had been unemployed for sometime.

Harvey was a former railroad worker, and resided with his father at 135 Bedford Street. He was a native of Derby, England. Besides his father, he is survived by his widow, Selina T. Harvey, one daughter, Patricia Frances Harvey, and a brother, Pvt. George Harvey, with the Army Air Forces at Greenville, N. C.

Harvey was the second county prisoner to die of a fractured skull in the past 10 weeks. On July 4, Robert Eston Baughman, 40, Parsons, W. Va., was taken to Allegany Hospital from the jail, and died the following day with a fractured skull.

Investigation at that time revealed the man "fell over backwards, and struck his head on the concrete floor." Prisoners said Baughman was "frothing at the mouth and shaking just before he fell." He had been arrested on a charge of false pretense in connection with passing a worthless check.

Gov. Lane To Speak To State Tomorrow

Governor William Preston Lane, Jr., will make a half hour broadcast over Baltimore Radio Station WBAL from 8:30 to 9 p. m. (EDT) tomorrow on the fiscal condition of the state.

The governor's talk will deal with the financial picture which confronted him when he took office on January 1, what became of the "surplus" funds in the State Treasury and the needs he found for additional revenue.

He will speak specifically on the state's public school system and the new program of his administration for putting it in the forefront of the national educational picture. Governor Lane will also explain the need of and his plans for a reconstruction of the Maryland highway system and his administration's program for raising the standards of treatment in the state's hospital and mental institutions.

The governor plans, in his 30-minute discussion of fiscal matters, to present to the people a balance sheet on the state's resources as he found them, the need of and results produced by additional revenues and the purposes for which they have been appropriated.

Graham To Make Proposal On City Airport Lease

Terms Are Due For Renewal December 31

A definite proposal regarding renegotiation of the Cumberland Airways, Inc., lease of the Cumberland Municipal Airport will be furnished within the next week or so, William J. Graham, Pittsburgh, president, said last night.

Graham made his statement at a three-hour meeting of the Municipal Airport Commission in the office of Mayor Thomas S. Post. Terms of the lease, which became effective January 1, 1946, are due for renewal December 31.

Stating that the city "should test other offers" for airport operation before deciding to continue the present lease, Graham suggested November 1 as a possible termination date if the city decides on that action.

Reluctant To Withdraw

He explained that the earlier date would give a new operator an opportunity to make arrangements for taking over the management without interupting operations, and would also enable Cumberland Airways to wind up its operation.

Graham stated, however, that he would be reluctant to have Cumberland Airways withdraw because of "the two years of hard work we have put in here," adding that his firm's operation of the port has been in the best interests of Cumberland citizens.

Edmund S. Burke, commission chairman, requested City Auditor Arthur B. Gibson to prepare estimates of the probable cost to the city of operating the airport, as a yardstick for future proposals.

Burke stated the commission will welcome proposals from persons interested in operating the airport.

T. Donald Shires, commission secretary, Mayor Post and Thomas Lohr Richards suggested that arrangements be made for commission members to visit other airports to study their methods of operation.

Burke asked Graham to furnish the commission with a definite proposal for continuing operations at the airport, pointing out that a fixed rental basis should be set to avoid confusion regarding city income. No fixed rental was stated for the first two years of operation, with the agreement that the city would receive all profits over $2,000.

Considerable discussion was devoted to three disputed items in Cumberland Airway's 1946 financial report. The expense items included interest totaling $1,383.57; a $500 item for promotion and advertising; and depreciation of a seven-year-old Beechcraft plane which Graham said he brought here for charter service.

Graham offered to wipe the interest item off his books, but he made no compromise offer regarding the $500 promotion item, pointing out that money used for promotion purposes is a legitimate cost item of operation.

Compromise Authorized

In regard to the Beechcraft depreciation, which amounted to $416.66 in the 1946 report, Graham offered to take the depreciation item off his books as of last July 1 and to split the difference of the depreciation charge between November 1, 1946, and July 1, 1947. In addition, he offered to split the charge of $600 for overhauding the plane last spring. Depreciation was figured at $208 monthly.

The commission authorized Gibson to work out a suitable compromise on the items with Graham, and to submit the result to the group.

In discussing the question of continuing or terminating the lease, Graham pointed out that Cumberland Airways has over $40,000 worth of shop, office and plane equipment at the port, with a total investment of nearly $80,000.

He estimated $25,000 as the minimum cost to a new operator, exclusive of buildings, to secure equipment. John A. Chapman, airport manager for Graham, pointed out that it took several months for Cumberland Airways to secure certification from Maryland and West Virginia authorities for its operations at the port, and that such certification must be obtained by a new operator.

In the event final settlement is considered if the city decides to terminate the lease, Graham said, he has a contract for delivery of $*,000 worth of materials for a new 15-unit hanger which he cannot cancel.

In addition, he said, provision should be made for a reserve fund to cover the cost of periodic overhaul of planes, which would ordinarily be charged in regular operating costs if the lease were continued.

Asked about the probable salary which the city would need to pay a first-class airport manager, Graham said the figure would run anywhere from $5,000 to $10,000.

He stated that Cumberland Airways' fees for sub-leasing facilities are not prohibitive, but that A. Derr Golladay, local aircraft designer, was the only person who approached the firm with regard to sub-leasing. Several weeks ago Golladay expressed interest in establishing a small plant at the airport to manufacture a new type of plastic aircraft which he is designing.

Bicycle Stolen At Dingle Circle

Temperature Reading

The mercury got up as high as 77 degrees yesterday but slid back to 64 at 9:30 p. m. The maximum was five degrees higher than Tuesday's and the official weather observer thought it unlikely that the overnight low today would be as cold as yesterday's minimum of 44 degrees. Warmer weather is predicted for today.

Public Meeting On Airport Contract Sought By Group

Aviation Enthusiasts Want To Express Views

Representatives of the Mexico Farms Airport and the Cumberland Exchange Club said last night they will ask the Municipal Airport Commission to hold a public meeting before making any decision regarding future plans for operation of the Cumberland Municipal Airport.

The group said local citizens and aviation enthusiasts should be given an opportunity to express their views to the commission on the matter.

William J. Graham, Pittsburgh, president of Cumberland Airways, Inc., which operates the Cumberland Municipal Airport on a lease from the city, invited the group to attend a Municipal Airport commission meeting last night in the office of Mayor Thomas S. Post to discuss what he termed a charge that discrimination is being practiced against the Mexico Farms operation.

Asked For Specific Charges

Last week George Bernard Miltenberger, a local aviator, received a $300 penalty in Federal Court, Baltimore, on a charge of flying a plane for the purpose of having it inspected without first obtaining a permit required by Civil Aeronautics Administration regulations.

Throughout the testimony in the case, Miltenberger declared through his attorney, Earl Edmund Manges, that the complaint against him stemmed largely from a "rivalry" between officials of the Cumberland Municipal Airport and the Mexico Farms port.

At the outset of last night's conference, held prior to the regular commission session, Graham explained that he wanted to be informed regarding the "specific charges" which the Mexico Farms representatives had to bring against the Cumberland Airways opration.

He said that specific complaints should be referred to John A. Chapman, airport manager for Cumberland Airways, and to the airport commission.

Chapman Explains Position

Chapman stated that he did not file a complaint in the Miltenberger case, and that the reason he kept a record of Miltenberger's alleged flights in the unlicensed plane was because it was the only unlicensed ship on the field.

Manges said that telephone calls have been received at the Mexico Farms Airport from a man identifying himself as connected with the Municipal Airport, warning Mexico Farms pilots not to fly over the municipal field.

A. Derr Golladay, partner of the Allegany Aeronautical Corporation, which operates the Mexico Farms field, said Chapman called to ask that planes refrain from flying over the municipal port, but that he received no written statement from Chapman to that effect, which he, Golladay, had offered to post at the Mexico Farms field.

Graham said he would discuss the entire matter with Chapman.

Others attending the meeting were Louis Ort and Daniel D'Amicol, representing the Exchange Club, which recently endorsed Mayor Post's statement that the city itself should operate the airport; Thomas F. Shannon, partner in the Allegany Aeronautical Corporation; Miltenberger, Harold A. Clayton and Jack Delagrange, pilots at Mexico Farms.

Bus Line Grants Voluntary Increase

L. R. Emery, Martinsburg, W. Va., announced last night that a voluntary five per cent wage increase will be granted this week to employes of the West Virginia division of the line in order to compensate for the rising cost of living in the Martinsburg area.

Some 22 drivers and mechanical employes of the line will benefit from the increase which will become effective this week.

Mr. Emery said the rate of pay for the Martinsburg division is lower than in the local area and that the increase will bring wages up there and will help to compensate for the recent increase in the cost of living in that area.

Transportation experts, he said, reported after a recent survey of the industry that salaries earned by employes of the Emery lines are about two per cent better than in the highest brackets for the industry in metropolitan areas.

Coastal Planes Seek Refuge At Inland Ports

A group of 50 planes, commercial and privately owned, seeking refuge from coastal storms were quartered last night at the Martinsburg, W. Va. Airport, and officials said the planes had been flown from Annapolis, and the Atlantic City, N. J. areas.

John Chapman, manager of the Cumberland Municipal Airport said he has received no inquiries about quartering planes here, but in the event a haven is sought here by any coastal pilots or owners, the local Airport is equipped to handle about 65 ships.

White said the weight of rail will be increased from 131 to 140 pounds per yard. He added that the B. and O. probably will be able to use all the rail that producers can deliver this year.

Paw Paw Woman Hurt In Accident On Oldtown Road

Mt. Savage Boy Struck By Car

A Paw Paw, W. Va., woman was admitted to Memorial Hospital yesterday afternoon for treatment of injuries suffered when the automobile in which she was riding crashed against the rear of another machine about six miles south of Cumberland on Oldtown Road at 1:25 p. m., State Police reported.

The woman, Mrs. Pauline Clem, was said to be in good condition. She was being treated for lacerations of the face and right knee.

Cpl. Harry Holsinger, who investigated, said Mrs. Clem was riding with Leo Roberson, also of Paw Paw, and that Roberson crashed against the rear of the automobile driven by Mrs. Helen W. Wellington, 303 Washington Street.

Witnesses said the accident happened on a straight stretch of road and that both cars were headed toward Oldtown, according to Cpl. Holsinger.

He added that Roberson was treated by a Paw Paw physician and that Mrs. Wellington was uninjured.

Charges in the case are pending, the officer said. Trooper Harry Bosley assisted in the investigation.

A Mt. Savage boy, Wilbert Lavin, 13, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wilbert Lavin, was admitted to Miners Hospital, Frostburg, last night for treatment of injuries suffered when he was hit by an automobile in Mt. Savage.

Frostburg police said the driver of the car was Earl Wilson, Frostburg, and quoted him as saying the boy ran in front of the machine. The youngster was taken to the hospital in the Mt. Savage ambulance.

The boy will be X-rayed this morning for a possible fracture of the hip.

Dorothy Robertson, 14, Center Street, Frostburg, was treated in Miners Hospital yesterday for a deep laceration of the right arm after she fell at a playground.

Patricia Croft, 1½-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Croft, 227 Emily Street, was treated in Memorial Hospital last night after she got sand in both of her eyes while playing.

Jaycees Want Air Show Report Investigated

Directors Discuss Various Activities

Directors of the Junior Association of Commerce went on record last night, requesting an investigation of the financial statement on the Air Show, in which they were co-sponsors, and Jack Robb, president, named a committee to proceed.

Members of the Board want additional information on costs of the show, and an analysis of their share in the profits, Robb explained.

The Jaycee Board also approved plans to co-operate with the Cumberland Chamber of Commerce and local insurance men, in a plan to sponsor fire prevention week here October 5 to 11.

Clifton Van Roby said plans are under way to organize Jaycees bowling teams for the season.

Jack Moore made a brief report on the "Miss America" pageant at Atlantic City, and also announced the first presentation of Barter Theatre, sponsired by the Jaycees will be on October 4. The show will be "The Twelfth Night."

William New urged the local Jaycees to endorse the Universal Military Training program, and to actively support the plan. David Kauffman, past president, said the United States Jaycees are on record endorsing the proposal.

A letter from the Pittsburgh Jaycees asking the local group to help sponsor a "Junior Miss America Pageant," was tabled, as was also a report on a "Care of Europeans" project presented by Robb.

It was announced by Moore, that he invited John Ben Shepherd, Jaycee national president to visit here, when he met Shepherd at Atlantic city. David Kauffman and C. William Gilchrist were named to serve as a reception committee to meet the organization's president when he arrives here October 29.

A group of local Jaycees plan to attend a state board meeting at Hagerstown September 27-28, and to go on to Baltimore for the football game between the Baltimore Colts and New York Yankees.

Alva L. Diehl, 49, 96 Knobley Street, Ridgeley, has been named a patrolman of the police department, Chief Elkins said. Officer Diehl, who began his duties August 19 retired as a first sergeant recently after 28 years service in the army During that time, he served in several branches of the service, including the infantry, cavalry and engineers.

John E. Matthews, 1405 Oldtown Road, secured a permit in the city engineer's office yesterday to build a five-room house on Lot 362, Turner Street, at an estimated cost of $5,000.

The one-story 24 by 32-foot structure will have a concrete block foundation, asbestos shingle walls and a composition shingle roof.

GOING TO ITALY—Mrs. Maria McGuire, Frostburg, will return to Italy this month for a visit to show her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Oreste Della Rocca, of Caserta, their first grandchild, Emma, eight months. Mrs. McGuire and James McGuire, Frostburg, were married March 30, 1946, while he was stationed at Caserta with an ordnance outfit. She came to America a year ago aboard the Thomas Barry, a ship for war brides.

Italian War Bride To Return Home To Show Parents First Grandchild

Mrs. Maria McGuire To Leave Sept. 25

A war bride when she came to America a year ago, Mrs. Maria McGuire, 164 West Main Street, Frostburg, is going back to Italy this month to show her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Oreste Della Rocca, of Caserta, near Naples, their first grandchild.

Mrs. McGuire, wife of James McGuire, a Celanese employe, and the baby, Emma Maria, eight months, are scheduled to sail from New York September 25 aboard the steamship Vulcania, of the American Export Lines. They expect to be gone for three to six months.

Until her marriage March 30, 1946, after a courtship that started in the first part of 1945, Mrs. McGuire hardly had been away from home for more than a day.

Now she says she is anxious to go back to see her parents but expects to be even more anxious to return to America.

The one thing she likes most about America and what she believes she will miss most in Italy is freedom, Mrs. McGuire says without hesitation.

What does she think of America? "I like it. I love America," Mrs. McGuire said.

While she still has some Italian accent, Mrs. McGuire speaks English fluently after a year in this country and enjoys reading local newspapers and magazines.

She fears, however, that her brother, who learned to speak English in school, will laugh when he hears her talk the language when she returns to Italy. "He speaks it very correctly," she explained.

McGuire was stationed at Caserta with an ordnance outfit when he met Mrs. McGuire and remained there for about a month after their marriage, he recalled.

Mrs. McGuire came to America on the Thomas Barry, a ship for war brides, and visited McGuire's brother, Patrick, in Baltimore, for the month until her husband arrived in the states and received his honorable discharge at Fort George G. Meade. Since then they have been living in Frostburg and Mrs. McGuire says she feels "grateful to everybody around Frostburg for the wonderful way they've treated me."

A Martinsburg, Pa., driver, Edward P. Gartland, who was sentenced Tuesday to 50 days in the County Jail after he defaulted payment of fines on two motor counts totaling $112.90, was also released yesterday upon payment of the fine.

Jewish Relief Workers Plan Fund Campaign

Drive Will Open Here October 2

Committee members and workers of the Jewish Welfare Fund met last night at Ali Ghan Country Club, to make preliminary plans for the Jewish Relief drive which opens officially here October 2. Sumner Hirsch, general chairman presided, and introduced two guest speakers.

Moses Speert, of Baltimore, recently returned from Europe and Palestine, described conditions in Displaced Person Camps, and declared if this winter is as severe as last winter, suffering of these displaced persons, mostly Jewish refugees will be far beyond imagination of people here and elsewhere.

Speert declared that the Arabs and Jews can adjust their differences and could live together peaceably in Palestine, if it were not for British interference. He said 150,000 refugees could be absorbed there quickly, and ultimately as many as a million could live there.

Praising the American government, for work done among the DPs, Speert said the end of UNRRA placed a tremendous relief load on private agencies, such as the Jewish Relief, and they are doing a good job with funds and personnel available.

Lee Bodkin, of Baltimore, director of the Unemployment Compensation Advisory Commission of Maryland, also spoke on the need of funds to aid war refugees, particularly orphaned children. Millions are still homeless, in need of food, clothing and medical care, despite the war's end, he said.

Members of the budget committee will meet within the next few days, and accept a quota for this area, Hirsch announced. When the quota is set, and the drive opens, a complete campaign organization will begin the task of raising funds to exceed last year's effort.

Mrs. Clarence Lippel is chairman of the women's group and she appealed last night for hard work, sacrifice and co-operation of all Jewish and interested non-Jewish people of this area, to raise the needed relief fund. The local drive is part of a nation-wide campaign for $170,000,000.

Local Nurse Leaves For Polio Duty

Miss Alice Hartline, R. N., 55 Greene Street, left last night for Springfield, O., where she will aid the nursing staff at Springfield City Hospital in caring for polio cases, according to Mrs. Lee W. Witherup, executive secretary of Allegany County Chapter, American Red Cross.

Mrs. Witherup said that the chapter secured Miss Hartline after an appeal was sent here from the Eastern Area Nursing Service of the American Red Cross in Alexandria, Va., to recruit nurses for duty in cities where there have been outbreaks of polio.

Miss Hartline, a member of the nursing staff at Allegany Hospital, has had experience in polio nursing in Florida.

Mrs. Witherup asked all registered nurses interested in temporary duty in polio-stricken cities to contact the local Red Cross office in the event a future appeal for nurses is made.

Skilled Labor Shortage Slows Home Building

Demand Here Seen At Record High

There is still a heavy demand for the construction of new homes in and around Cumberland, and rental housing units including single and multiple family dwellings and apartments are scarce according to real estate dealers, contractors, trades council representatives and building supply dealers.

With the summer building period near its end, representatives of building crafts said yesterday they see little hope of catching up with the demand for new home construction here this winter, despite the fact that cold weather discourages some people from home building. A shortage of skilled labor is seen as the principle botlenecks.

In an interview with several local home building contractors yesterday, it was indicated that all of them are doing more home construction now, and have more requests for bids and prices on homes than they have ever experienced. One contractor last night said, "I have four houses under construction now, and could start that many more if I could get help and material."

Another declared, "We have five units underway, and I've been building here for 35 years. The demand is greater for new homes than at anytime in our experience. I wish we could build all we have been asked about."

These are typical statements from contractors, and every home builder interviewed said the demand for new units is increasing, because there are many families still doubled-up and many who want houses.

Acute Labor Shortage

F. Patrick Allender, business agent for Carpenters Local Union No. 1024, A. F. L. said last evening, "I have just placed calls to Hagerstown, Bedford, and Elkins, W. Va., in an effort to get more carpenters and building craftsmen to come here. We have about 300 carpenters and could easily use 50 more. The demand for new homes, as well as commercial and institutional work is increasing."

Members of the building crafts and contractors agree there is a large volume of building going on here now, but all of them discuss freely various problems.

For example, there are only 12 or 15 plasterers in the immediate area, who can do a first class plastering job inside a house. These men ahre booked ahead, some for as much as two months. In the meantime, contractors say, there are 12 or 15 houses, partially completed here, waiting to be plastered.

Some home builders have attempted to use a dry finish, such as plaster board, panel board, or some similar product, but find this too difficult to obtain and too expensive for low cost dwellings. Wall board has been a scarce item, suppliers say, since before the war.

Some Materials Scarce

Building supply dealers have been pressed to keep pace with the demand for numercus products used in building a dwelling. It is impossible to go to one supplier and buy everything needed on a single job. Consequently, contractors spend much time shopping about to find doors, windows, certain grades of lumber, various items of hardware, sheet metal, rock lathe, plumbing equipment and other items. Glass was short for awhile, but is more easily obtainable.

Hardwood flooring of a good grade is next to impossible to find unless ordered in advance. Last week, there was a shortage of white sand in the city, and several plasterers, already behind other workmen, lost several days.

Some grades of floor covering, such as is used in kitchens and bathrooms are difficult if not impossible to find. There is no wide choice of color. Asphalt tile, used for flooring in many homes, and increasing in popularity, was unob-

Court Hears Suit Over Remodeling Room For Buses

Decision Deferred Until September 29

A lengthy hearing was held in Circuit Court yesterday before Chief Judge William A. Huster, on a civil case involving the payment of a claim of $4,500 due the George F. Hazlewood Company, for repairs and remodeling work on a section of the old Footer building, now known as Merchandise Mart.

Suit was instituted by the Hazelwood Company against Robert L. Emery, Jr., trading as Emery's Motor Coach Lines, and the Merchandise Mart, Inc., but was later changed to sue only Emery and the Motor Coach Lines.

George M. Beltzhoover, attorney, of Charles Town, W. Va., and W. Carl Richards, of this city represented Emery, while William M. Somerville, represented the Hazelwood Company.

Testimony indicated that Emery rented a part of the Merchandise Mart late in 1945 as a storage place and repair garage for some of his buses. In order to use the building for this purpose, extensive remodeling was necessary.

The dispute was not over the claim nor the amount charged for the work, but was to determine if it was the obligation of the tenant, Emery, or the landlord, Merchandise Mart, Inc.

No decision was reached, and Judge Huster urged that the attorneys and the three concerns make an effort to reach some settlement in the case. He declared, "this whole thing could have been avoided if some understanding had been reached and an agreement reduced to writing. There are attorneys and business men involved here, who seem to have conducted the proposition of renting or leasing the building in a careless manner from a standpoint of good business. The Court does not want to decide one way or the other, unless the parties concerned cannot reach a decision."

Hazelwood's attorney offered to waive any profit on the job, if the other two parties could reach an agreement.

The Court deferred further action or decision until September 29.

Commercials Are Necessary Evil, Radio Man Says

The elimination of commercials from radio programs in the United States would be Utopia—and just as unattainable, E. F. Hinkle, program director of WTBO, told members of the Lions Club of Cumberland yesterday.

Without the nasty little monster known as commercials, radio as we know it would not exist, he explained, since it's the commercials that pay the station's expenses . . . and make possible the presentation of radio's varied program.

After poking fun at the commercials which offer a panacea for all ills he pointed out that neither government subsidy nor outright ownership offers a solution to the problem of the menace of commercials.

Hinkle also pointed out that 85 per cent of international communication is handled by radio facilities and cited the importance of the radio in police work, air transportation and the armed services. More than 800,000 persons are employed in the industry, he added, which provides the amusement to 93 per cent of American families.

Dr. B. H. Hooke, past president of the Salisbury, Pa., Lions Club, was a guest of the club.

The Lions Club Bowling League will begin practice Monday at 9 p. m. in the Roxy bowling alleys.

Louis V. Shinnamon, 35, a veteran of the U. S. Navy with two years service in World War II, has purchased the Sterling Shoe Store, 61 Baltimore Street, from Bernard B. Gross, who operated the business the past 14 years.

Shinnamon, a native of Maryland and resident of Catonsville much of his lifetime, is a son of Louis L. Shinnamon of the Internal Revenue Department, who is well known here. The young man has been employed by Cannon Shoe Company, Baltimore for 14 years, and was sales director there when he resigned to enter the retail field here. He is married and has two children.

Gross said last night he sold the business to the young Catonsville man yesterday, and Shinnamon will assume the operation today. Gross said he has been in ill health and plans to rest before attempting any business activity.

County Prisoner Dies At Hospital From Head Injury

Autopsy Performed On Lawrence Harvey

An investigation is being conducted into the death of Lawrence Harvey, 29, son of Harry H. Harvey, 135 Bedford Street, who died yesterday at 5:20 p. m. in Memorial Hospital from a fractured skull, after being admitted from Allegany County Jail.

Sheriff Edward R. Muir was out of the city, having gone to Kentucky to assist in escorting a prisoner there, but deputies at the jail said Harvey jumped or fell down a flight of metal stairs, his head striking a brick wall.

Skull Was Fractured

The incident, according to the officers, occurred about 2:30 p. m., shortly after Deputy William Chappel had talked with Harvey and other prisoners. Chappel said Harvey had not been feeling well since he was admitted to the jail on Monday. Chappel asked him if he felt any better and Harvey replied that he did. Then the deputy said "did you eat anything?" and Harvey said, "yes, I managed to eat a little."

A few minutes later, Chappel said he heard a noise and other prisoners raised an alarm. Investigation showed Harvey lying at the bottom of the steps leading to the basement level of the jail. An ambulance was called immediately and Harvey was taken to Memorial Hospital, where he was attended by a physician. He was admitted to the hospital at about 2:50 p. m.

Dr. B. Skitarelic, acting county deputy medical examiner, in the absence of Dr. H. V. Fleming, who is out of the city, performed an autopsy on Harvey's body last night, but said his report and investigation is not yet complete. Dr. Skitarelic said, however, "the man's skull was fractured."

Authorities said two warrants had been issued for Harvey, and when he learned officers were looking for him, gave himself up at the State's Attorney's office Monday. He was being held in jail pending trial on one or both of the charges against him. He had not been arraigned. One of the warrants involved a state charge and the other was said to be a warrant from Juvenile Court.

Native Of England

A prisoner at the jail, who was in the basement section of the cell rooms at the time, said he saw Harvey coming down the steps, and expressed the opinion "he jumped, or fell." Officials said it was learned the young man had been in ill health and had been unemployed for sometime.

Harvey was a former railroad worker, and resided with his father at 135 Bedford Street. He was a native of Derby, England. Besides his father, he is survived by his widow, Selina T. Harvey, one daughter, Patricia Frances Harvey, and a brother, Pvt. George Harvey, with the Army Air Forces at Greenville, N. C.

Harvey was the second county prisoner to die of a fractured skull in the past 10 weeks. On July 4, Robert Eston Baughman, 40, Parsons, W. Va., was taken to Allegany Hospital from the jail, and died the following day with a fractured skull.

Investigation at that time revealed the man "fell over backwards, and struck his head on the concrete floor." Prisoners said Baughman was "frothing at the mouth and shaking just before he fell." He had been arrested on a charge of false pretense in connection with passing a worthless check.

Gov. Lane To Speak To State Tomorrow

Governor William Preston Lane, Jr., will make a half hour broadcast over Baltimore Radio Station WBAL from 8:30 to 9 p. m. (EDT) tomorrow on the fiscal condition of the state.

The governor's talk will deal with the financial picture which confronted him when he took office on January 1, what became of the "surplus" funds in the State Treasury and the needs he found for additional revenue.

He will speak specifically on the state's public school system and the new program of his administration for putting it in the forefront of the national educational picture. Governor Lane will also explain the need of and his plans for a reconstruction of the Maryland highway system and his administration's program for raising the standards of treatment in the state's hospital and mental institutions.

The governor plans, in his 30-minute discussion of fiscal matters, to present to the people a balance sheet on the state's resources as he found them, the need of and results produced by additional revenues and the purposes for which they have been appropriated.
